GOVERNMENT estimates the present population of the United States right here at home at 118,628,000. The country has gained 12,917,880 in the last six years, one million and a half in the last year.

All this is encouraging, although it is too slow. We need fifty million more people now to eat surplus products of farms, buy new automobiles and "used car" bargains.

People are the real wealth of the world.

WRITE down 5, then add 18 zeroes and you have five quintillions the distance in miles to our earth from one of the nearby universes floating in space around us. We thought our universe, the milky way, with our sun a bright speck in it, was all that the Lord created. But that universe is only one little speck in a mass of universes, each an island on its own account.

Within five hundred quintillion of miles of this spot in space there are innumerable universes.

It is easy to say "five quintillions;" utterly impossible for the human mind to conceive what it means Light traveling 186,000 miles a second would travel five quintillion of miles in 1,000,000 years.

LEGISLATIVE MESSAGE CALLS FOR AMENDMENT PROVIDING REFERENDUM

Executive, Advising Yellow Creek Narrows Improvement, Declares Federal Government Should be Asked to Give More Aid.

SUGGESTS CURB ON WEAPON SALE

Expresses Willingness to Co-operate With Assembly in Retrenchment Program and Answers Query on Balance of State Funds.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 2.—Gov. Vic Donahey today recommended the adoption of an amendment to the Ohio constitution providing for referendums on laws authorizing state tax levies.

The governor's recommendation featured his third legislative message, sent today to the present session of the Ohio legislature.

Urges More and Safer Highways.

In his latest message, the governor, also, endorsed legislation increasing corporation franchise, or excise, taxes; providing for more extensive and safer highways; revising the election laws; restricting the indiscriminate sale of revolvers and like weapons of violence; providing varying degrees of robbery and grades of punishment to fit the crime; authorizing the state director of education to supervise educational activities in all state institutions, and recommended statutory enactments dealing with various other subjects.

Governor Donahey expressed his willingness to cooperate with the legislators in a retrenchment program—no matter how drastic it might be—and promised to sign any bill, designed to accomplish that result, as soon as it reached him.

The governor, in his message, also replied to the joint communication recently sent him by legislative leaders asking Donahey to tell them how much of the state funds appropriated by the legislature two years ago remained unexpended.

$30,000,000 Available.

Donahey stated that about $30,000,000 of the approximately $66,000,000 appropriated by the last legislature for departments under his control has not yet been spent. He declared, however, that such balances as will be available at the end of the present fiscal year—June 30, next—will not aid in relieving the state's financial distress nor help avert the threatened huge deficit in the state treasury.

Asserting that "the first duty of government is to help those least able to help themselves," the governor announced that about $18,000,000 of the approximately $30,000,000 was set aside for the department of public welfare and that none of the expenditures for which the money was appropriated would be curtailed at his direction.

Governor Donahey recommended that fees, required by state laws, paid by public utilities, insurance companies and other business and industrial concerns, be paid into the state's general revenue fund and that expenses incurred by various state departments, instead of being defrayed direct by these fees, be met through legislative appropriations from the general revenue fund.

"These departments," the governor

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 2.—By an almost unanimous vote the 30th constitutional convention of the United Mine Workers of America at noon today approved the report of the wage scale committee which asked for a free hand for the committee in negotiating a new two-year agreement with the coal operators at Miami, Fla., February 14, for the central competitive field.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 2.—A free hand to negotiate a two-year wage scale agreement with the coal operators at Miami, Fla., February 14, for the central competitive field at no wage reduction was asked of the 30th constitutional convention of the United Mine Workers of America by the wage scale committee here today.

The committee recommended that "for the purpose of meeting any unforeseen emergency that might arise" a policy committee be created and be empowered to take such action for the protection of the interests of the union as might be necessary

Recommendation was also made that all outlying districts be authorized to enter into wage scale negotiations with their respective operators as soon as the Miami agreement for the central competitive field was completed.

The new wage scale is to supplant the present Jacksonville agreement expiring on March 31.

60 PATIENTS, ON WHEEL COTS, FLEE IN FIRE AT ANN ARBOR

NO ONE INJURED

Second Blaze Occurs in Building Housing Persons Rescued.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Feb. 2.—A "firebug" today was believed responsible for the fires which destroyed the convalescent ward of the University General hospital and damaged the Jennings House, nearby, last night. The loss is $150,000.

Between 50 and 60 patients, many of them on wheel cots which were slid to safety on chutes, were removed from the flaming structure just before the roof collapsed. No one was injured.

In the midst of the fight against the hospital fire, firemen were compelled to divert their attention to the Jennings House across the street, which had been filled with patients removed from the burning ward.

University Officials Investigate.

Billows of smoke were seen pouring out of the basement of the Jennings House. This fire was soon put under control.

The origin of both fires is shrouded in mystery. University and local officials were planning an investigation.

Harley Haynes, director of the hospital, today advanced the theory that these and other blazes at various university hospital units may have been the work of a "firebug."

There were fires at the natural science building two weeks ago and at the interne's house five weeks ago. There have been several other fires with no great damage in recent years in the building housing the hospital convalescent ward.

George Chrest Gets Verdict of $4,500 In Damage Suit

A verdict of $4,500 in favor of the plaintiff was returned by a jury in common pleas court at Lisbon yesterday afternoon in the $10,000 damage action brought by George Chrest, East Liverpool restaurant worker, against Robert McHenry, motor car dealer, as the result of an automobile accident at the corner of Fifth street and Broadway about two years ago.

Judge W. F. Lones overruled a motion for a new trial.

Hill and Davidson represented the plaintiff, while Attorney Ben L. Bennett, of this city, and Billingsley & Moore, Lisbon, were counsel for the defendant.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon in the Talbert home, Green lane, in charge of Rev. B. R. Johnson, pastor of the First Church of Christ. Burial will be made in Spring Grove cemetery.

Public Pays Higher Taxi Fares Under New Ordinance

Licensing Measure Permits Boost From 25 to 35 Cents for First One-third of Mile.

East Liverpool taxicab patrons today are paying higher fares, as a result of a recently enacted councilmanic ordinance which was approved by Mayor Ralph C. Benedum.

The minimum rate has been boosted from 25 to 35 cents for the first one-third of a mile under the licensing regulations.

The new tariff increases the cost for the first mile to 55 cents. There is no change in the charge of 10 cents for each one-third of a mile after the first. The increase, operators point out, is 10 cents a trip.

The ordinance requires operators to post a $10,000 liability bond and a $1,000 personal property bond and to pay a $10 license for each car. This insurance, one operator said, costs $200 per year.

The McLain-Yellow Cab company paid the license fee of five taxicabs yesterday, the insurance and licenses costing $1,500. The Green Cab company has taken out two licenses, which at the same rate, cost $420, including insurance.

Operators assert that the rate fixed

KELLOGG SAYS U. S. WILL NOT RECOGNIZE SACASA IF HE WINS

State Department, However, Will Stand by Any Nicaraguan Who Gains Position by 'Constitutional Means.'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The American government will not recognize Dr. Juan B. Sacasa, claimant to the presidency of Nicaragua, even should he be completely successful in his revolution against the Diaz government, Secretary of State Kellogg said today.

The state department, he said, would recognize any president of Nicaragua, however, who gained the position by "constitutional means." Sacasa is considered a revolutionist.

Kellogg denied that American marines in Nicaragua had unjustly treated the Liberal revolutionists. On the other hand, he said, they had given medical aid to Liberals wounded in clashes with the federalists.

PRETTY COLLEGE CO-ED KILLS SELF WHEN SHE FAILS TO PASS EXAM

Decatur, Ill., Girl Takes Poison After She "Flunks" in Mid-term Tests.

DECATUR, Ill., Feb. 2.—Heartbroken students today paid final tribute to Bernice Richardson, pretty Milliken college co-ed who killed herself in the girls' dormitory yesterday after she had been notified of her failure to pass mid-term examinations.

Special significance is attached to the girl's death in view of the current "suicide wave" sweeping over universities of the United States. Miss Richardson was the second co-ed to kill herself in as many days, and the ninth student victim of self-destruction since the first of the year.

Miss Richardson was the daughter of Dr. E. E. Richardson, a physician at Mattoon, Ill. Her mother was a social leader of the central Illinois town. The girl went to Milliken college with excellent prospects and at once became a favorite with her classmates.

But she soon began to worry over her studies. Last week mid-term examinations were held. She told her roommate, Miss Marion Schabitz, she was afraid she had "flunked." Monday evening the names of successful students were posted in the dormi-

Vandals Destroy Traffic Signs, is Report to Police

Police today were searching for vandals, believed to be boys, who are charged with destroying or stealing enameled traffic signs recently given the city by the chamber of commerce.

Many of the signs, some of which are mounted on a metal standard, have been bent or twisted off. Others have been stolen.

"Charges of malicious destruction of property or larceny will be filed against persons who are found to be molesting these signs," Chief McDermott said.

Trolley Conductor In Interurban Wreck Sues for $75,000

Suit for $75,000 damages was filed in the federal court at Cleveland today by Carl E. Emery, East Liverpool street car conductor, against The Steubenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction company, for injuries alleged to have been sustained in a collision between a passenger car and a work car at King's crossing, east of Steubenville, on September 8, 1926.

Emery was conductor on the passenger car which collided with the rear end of the work car. Several passengers on the street car were hurt, one of them dying. Emery was confined in a Steubenville hospital for several weeks as a result of the crash.

Fire Sweeps Three Stores in Agosta; Loss is $25,000

MARION, Feb. 2.—Fire of undetermined origin, believed to have started in a pool room, destroyed the three principal stores in Agosta, near here, early today and threatened the entire village of 350. The loss is placed at $25,000, less than half of which is covered by insurance.

Among the buildings destroyed, were those occupied by the Schultz general store, Tom Hoffman poolroom, and Chapman auto supply company.

Formation of bucket brigades and the timely arrival of Marion firemen with equipment saved the village from destruction.

Fordham Reports Earthquake Noted On Seismograph

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—An earth quake of moderate intensity early today about 6,800 miles southwest of New York, was recorded on the Fordham university seismograph. The tremor began at 1:16 a. m., reached its maximum intensity at 1:57 and continued until 2:10.

WIFE AND GIRL SLAY HUSBAND AND FATHER IN CLEVELAND BED

Woman Confesses They Wielded Axe and Hatchet.

HEAD BASHED IN

Murder Follows Man's Alleged Beating of Family.

CLEVELAND, Feb. 2—Alternately wielding an axe and a hatchet, Mrs. Anna Lista, 36, and her daughter, Elizabeth, 13, early today bashed in the head of Anthony Lista, husband and father, as he lay sleeping in bed here, according to the woman's alleged statement made to Police Sergeant John Kosier.

Threatened to Kill.

"I struck him first with the axe and then Elizabeth hit him with the hatchet," Mrs. Lista admitted, according to Kosier.

"We were afraid for our lives; he had threatened to kill us," she said.

Mrs. Lista told the officers that she and her three children had been beaten severely by Lista before he retired last night. She said she awakened during the night with a thirst and went for a drink of water. On the way she stumbled against an axe. This, she is alleged to have said, crystalized her intention of attacking her husband.

"I'm sorry the way I did it but my heart is lighter," her statement declared, according to Kosier. "Now I feel that my children are safe."

MRS. GOTSCHALL AWARDED $2,000

Mrs. Lillian Gotschall, Lisbon street, was awarded $2,000 damages against Miss Lulu Thompson, who resides along the East Liverpool-Calcutta road, in her suit for $40,000 which was heard by a jury before Judge T. D. Price, New Lexington, in common pleas court No. 2, Lisbon, yesterday.

The suit was the aftermath of an automobile collision between the Gotschall and Thompson machines in Maplewood on July 3, 1925, Mrs. Gotschall alleging she suffered injuries in the crash.

An action for $20,000 brought by Clarence Gotschall, her husband, has not been heard.

Mrs. Warren Wigle, Hookstown, Dies In Detroit, Mich.

Funeral services for Mrs. Warren A. Wigle, 29, former resident of Hookstown, Pa., who died Monday in Detroit, Mich., after four days' illness of pneumonia, will be held at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the home of her uncle, C. V. Wilson, of Hookstown. Rev. W. T. McKee, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Chester, will be in charge. Burial will be made in Mill Creek cemetery.

She is survived by her husband; parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Floyd, and one brother, Harry Floyd, all of Alliance.

ASK O. K. OF SENATE ACTION WHICH COMPELS SHERIFFS TO FEED PRISONERS AT COST AND AUTHORIZES PENSIONS FOR SCHOOL JANITORS

By C. H. Haddox.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 2.—The Ohio house of representatives today was to be asked to concur in the action of the senate which passed, by a vote of 34 to 0, the Bender bill compelling sheriffs to feed prisoners at cost, and the Collister bill, 24 to 7, authorizing pensions for city school custodians.

The senate, at the same time, will be requested to approve the action of the house which passed the following bills: By Abele, Cuyahoga county, making Eastern standard time the legal time throughout Ohio; By Summers, Lorain, adding newspaper men, dentists and pharmacists to the list of persons exempted from jury service; by Hadden, Cuyahoga, providing for a chief justice of the court of common pleas in all counties having more than two common pleas judges.

Measures pending today in the legislature include:

In the senate:

By Marshall, Greene, providing a schedule of fees to be charged by justices of the peace; by Ackerman, Cuyahoga, authorizing parole of prisoners, convicted of criminally mistreating girls under 12 years of age, or of burglarizing inhabited dwellings, after being imprisoned 10 years; by Mrs. Waitt, Cuyahoga, providing pensions for state welfare department employes who have served 25 years, or more; by Lewis, Belmont, permitting tenants in real estate to pay their proportionate amount of taxes and assessments levied against land; by Ackerman, providing for increased salaries for chief probation officers.

In the house:

By Goodwin, Butler county, empowering county commissioners to parole indigent prisoners; by Fitton, Butler county, disinheriting persons convicted of murder; by Norton, Cuyahoga, appropriating $150,000 from the residue of the Sesqui-centennial appropriation and the general revenue fund of the state for erection of monuments in France commemorating activities of the 37th division there during the World war; by Abele, Cuyahoga, authorizing school boards to employ dentists, dental hygienists and assistants; by Mrs. Ott, Mahoning, reducing the time unclaimed motor vehicles must be held by police before sale from one year to three months, by Williams, Mercer, increasing pay of grand and petit jurors from $3 to $4 per day; by Williams, requiring non-residents of Ohio to pay $2 for an angler's license; by Miss Penny, Montgomery, providing fines of from $25 to $100 where persons fail to obey auto traffic signals on streets and highways outside municipalities; by Emmons, Columbiana, instructing state institutions to use Ohio-made pottery; by Kreuger, Cuyahoga, providing for a joint legislative committee to investigate agricultural laws of Ohio and other states and to recommend proposed legislation designed to provide agricultural relief; by Sullivan, Union, clarifying and making more definite the law regarding labeling and marking of contents of food and prescribing duties of inspectors; by Weaver, Summit, making more definite the procedure followed in obtaining and filing complaints urging removal of public officers; by Carpenter, Seneca, providing that public school ventilating systems shall be capable of supplying not less than three complete changes of air per hour in each room. Present law requires not less than six changes.

KELLOGG SAYS U. S. WILL NOT RECOGNIZE SACASA IF HE WINS

State Department, However, Will Stand by Any Nicaraguan Who Gains Position by 'Constitutional Means.'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The American government will not recognize Dr. Juan B. Sacasa, claimant to the presidency of Nicaragua, even should he be completely successful in his revolution against the Diaz government, Secretary of State Kellogg said today.

The state department, he said, would recognize any president of Nicaragua, however, who gained the position by "constitutional means." Sacasa is considered a revolutionist.

Kellogg denied that American marines in Nicaragua had unjustly treated the Liberal revolutionists. On the other hand, he said, they had given medical aid to Liberals wounded in clashes with the federalists.

PRETTY COLLEGE CO-ED KILLS SELF WHEN SHE FAILS TO PASS EXAM

Decatur, Ill., Girl Takes Poison After She "Flunks" in Mid-term Tests.

DECATUR, Ill., Feb. 2.—Heartbroken students today paid final tribute to Bernice Richardson, pretty Milliken college co-ed who killed herself in the girls' dormitory yesterday after she had been notified of her failure to pass mid-term examinations.

Special significance is attached to the girl's death in view of the current "suicide wave" sweeping over universities of the United States. Miss Richardson was the second co-ed to kill herself in as many days, and the ninth student victim of self-destruction since the first of the year.

Miss Richardson was the daughter of Dr. E. E. Richardson, a physician at Mattoon, Ill. Her mother was a social leader of the central Illinois town. The girl went to Milliken college with excellent prospects and at once became a favorite with her classmates.

But she soon began to worry over her studies. Last week mid-term examinations were held. She told her roommate, Miss Marion Schabitz, she was afraid she had "flunked." Monday evening the names of successful students were posted in the dormi-

Vandals Destroy Traffic Signs, is Report to Police

Police today were searching for vandals, believed to be boys, who are charged with destroying or stealing enameled traffic signs recently given the city by the chamber of commerce.

Many of the signs, some of which are mounted on a metal standard, have been bent or twisted off. Others have been stolen.

"Charges of malicious destruction of property or larceny will be filed against persons who are found to be molesting these signs," Chief McDermott said.

Trolley Conductor In Interurban Wreck Sues for $75,000

Suit for $75,000 damages was filed in the federal court at Cleveland today by Carl E. Emery, East Liverpool street car conductor, against The Steubenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction company, for injuries alleged to have been sustained in a collision between a passenger car and a work car at King's crossing, east of Steubenville, on September 8, 1926.

Emery was conductor on the passenger car which collided with the rear end of the work car. Several passengers on the street car were hurt, one of them dying. Emery was confined in a Steubenville hospital for several weeks as a result of the crash.

Fire Sweeps Three Stores in Agosta; Loss is $25,000

MARION, Feb. 2.—Fire of undetermined origin, believed to have started in a pool room, destroyed the three principal stores in Agosta, near here, early today and threatened the entire village of 350. The loss is placed at $25,000, less than half of which is covered by insurance.

Among the buildings destroyed, were those occupied by the Schultz general store, Tom Hoffman poolroom, and Chapman auto supply company.

Fordham Reports Earthquake Noted On Seismograph

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—An earth quake of moderate intensity early today about 6,800 miles southwest of New York, was recorded on the Fordham university seismograph. The tremor began at 1:16 a. m., reached its maximum intensity at 1:57 and continued until 2:10.

WIFE AND GIRL SLAY HUSBAND AND FATHER IN CLEVELAND BED

Woman Confesses They Wielded Axe and Hatchet.

HEAD BASHED IN

Murder Follows Man's Alleged Beating of Family.

CLEVELAND, Feb. 2—Alternately wielding an axe and a hatchet, Mrs. Anna Lista, 36, and her daughter, Elizabeth, 13, early today bashed in the head of Anthony Lista, husband and father, as he lay sleeping in bed here, according to the woman's alleged statement made to Police Sergeant John Kosier.

Threatened to Kill.

"I struck him first with the axe and then Elizabeth hit him with the hatchet," Mrs. Lista admitted, according to Kosier.

"We were afraid for our lives; he had threatened to kill us," she said.

Mrs. Lista told the officers that she and her three children had been beaten severely by Lista before he retired last night. She said she awakened during the night with a thirst and went for a drink of water. On the way she stumbled against an axe. This, she is alleged to have said, crystalized her intention of attacking her husband.

"I'm sorry the way I did it but my heart is lighter," her statement declared, according to Kosier. "Now I feel that my children are safe."

MRS. GOTSCHALL AWARDED $2,000

Mrs. Lillian Gotschall, Lisbon street, was awarded $2,000 damages against Miss Lulu Thompson, who resides along the East Liverpool-Calcutta road, in her suit for $40,000 which was heard by a jury before Judge T. D. Price, New Lexington, in common pleas court No. 2, Lisbon, yesterday.

The suit was the aftermath of an automobile collision between the Gotschall and Thompson machines in Maplewood on July 3, 1925, Mrs. Gotschall alleging she suffered injuries in the crash.

An action for $20,000 brought by Clarence Gotschall, her husband, has not been heard.

Brookes and Thompson represented the plaintiff, while Hill and Davidson and G. S. Thompson appeared for the defendant.

ASK O. K. OF SENATE ACTION WHICH COMPELS SHERIFFS TO FEED PRISONERS AT COST AND AUTHORIZES PENSIONS FOR SCHOOL JANITORS

By C. H. Haddox.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 2.—The Ohio house of representatives today was to be asked to concur in the action of the senate which passed, by a vote of 34 to 0, the Bender bill compelling sheriffs to feed prisoners at cost, and the Collister bill, 24 to 7, authorizing pensions for city school custodians.

The senate, at the same time, will be requested to approve the action of the house which passed the following bills: By Abele, Cuyahoga county, making Eastern standard time the legal time throughout Ohio; By Summers, Lorain, adding newspaper men, dentists and pharmacists to the list of persons exempted from jury service; by Hadden, Cuyahoga, providing for a chief justice of the court of common pleas in all counties having more than two common pleas judges.

Measures pending today in the legislature include:

In the senate:

By Marshall, Greene, providing a schedule of fees to be charged by justices of the peace; by Ackerman, Cuyahoga, authorizing parole of prisoners, convicted of criminally mistreating girls under 12 years of age, or of burglarizing inhabited dwellings, after being imprisoned 10 years; by Mrs. Waitt, Cuyahoga, providing pensions for state welfare department employes who have served 25 years, or more; by Lewis, Belmont, permitting tenants in real estate to pay their proportionate amount of taxes and assessments levied against land; by Ackerman, providing for increased salaries for chief probation officers.

In the house:

By Goodwin, Butler county, empowering county commissioners to parole indigent prisoners; by Fitton, Butler county, disinheriting persons convicted of murder; by Norton, Cuyahoga, appropriating $150,000 from the residue of the Sesqui-centennial appropriation and the general revenue fund of the state for erection of monuments in France commemorating activities of the 37th division there during the World war; by Abele, Cuyahoga, authorizing school boards to employ dentists, dental hygienists and assistants; by Mrs. Ott, Mahoning, reducing the time unclaimed motor vehicles must be held by police before sale from one year to three months, by Williams, Mercer, increasing pay of grand and petit jurors from $3 to $4 per day; by Williams, requiring non-residents of Ohio to pay $2 for an angler's license; by Miss Penny, Montgomery, providing fines of from $25 to $100 where persons fail to obey auto traffic signals on streets and highways outside municipalities; by Emmons, Columbiana, instructing state institutions to use Ohio-made pottery; by Kreuger, Cuyahoga, providing for a joint legislative committee to investigate agricultural laws of Ohio and other states and to recommend proposed legislation designed to provide agricultural relief; by Sullivan, Union, clarifying and making more definite the law regarding labeling and marking of contents of food and prescribing duties of inspectors; by Weaver, Summit, making more definite the procedure followed in obtaining and filing complaints urging removal of public officers; by Carpenter, Seneca, providing that public school ventilating systems shall be capable of supplying not less than three complete changes of air per hour in each room. Present law requires not less than six changes.

NEWS FROM TOWNS IN TRI-STATE DISTRICT

LISBON

REPORT FILED BY COPELAND

Weather Statistics for January Made Public by Observer.

January was a month that was featured by "only" five days of clear sunshine. The coldest day of that month was the 16th when it was officially but three degrees below zero. These facts are revealed in the report just issued by L. H. Copeland of Millport, official cooperative weather observer for this district.

The greatest daily range of the temperature was on the 27th when there was a change of 33 degrees within 21 hours. The mean maximum temperature for the last month was 32.5 and the mean minimum was 17.5 with the mean at 25 and the maximum at 53, the latter being registered on the 30th.

Total percipitation for January in this county was 4.37 inches, and the greatest fall in any 24-hour period was 1.02 inches on the 19th.

Snow fall in January totaled 5.5 inches and there was three inches on the ground on Jan. 15th and none at the close of the month. There were 15 partly cloudy days last month and 11 cloudy and but five clear days.

At the close of January last year there as seven inches of snow on the ground and many roads were badly drifted, resulting in hard and tedious traveling.

"Last month was about normal as to temperature, and above normal as to rainfall," Mr. Copeland declared. "There was no extreme cold spells or windy weather. The snowfall was also below normal and ice prevailed the most of the month. Wheat prospects are poor. Just twice last month did the temperature go below zero."

POULTRYMEN TO ATTEND DINNER

Poultrymen from this county will attend a dinner at Ravenna next Saturday evening that is sponsored by the Ravenna Poultry association. Among those who will attend are James A. McIntosh, president of the East Liverpool association; Will Hall, Samuel Jones and William Landfried. Dates for 1927 fall and winter poultry shows will be assigned at this meeting.

A meeting of the Ohio-Pennsylvania Federation of poultrymen will be held in Lisbon the evening of April 30th, for the purpose of arranging exhibits for the next shows.

Judgment Rendered.

M. E. Biery, trading as the M. E. Biery Motor company, has obtained a judgment in common pleas court for $310 on a cognovit note given by C. E. Burnett to the plaintiff Aug. 3, last, bearing eight percent interest. A precipe in aid of execution has been issued, and certain motor vehicles in the possession of the defendant have been levied on through the office of Sheriff George Wright.

Many Divorce Cases.

Of the 73 cases filed in common pleas court during January, one-third were petitions in divorce and for alimony.

Of the seven new cases filed in court Tuesday, five of these were actions in divorce.

At the present rate of filing new court cases, there is sufficient court business available to keep the two branches of common pleas court busy for months to come.

SUBMIT REPORT ON SEAL SALES

A report received by Attorney George L. Lafferty, secretary of the Columbiana County Public Health league from Mrs. I. H. Cook of Salem, chairman of the organization shows there has been received from the different townships $2,556.61 from the sale of Christmas seals. There is an exception to nine townships, however, where seals valued at $678 are to be heard from.

There are also outstanding 2,288 mail sale letters, and reports are to be heard from those who received them.

"People who have received these mail sale letters and who have not responded are urged to do so at once," Secretary Lafferty urged today. "It is the desire of the officers of the league to close the reports of sales, but until these outstanding letters have been heard from, no final reports can be issued."

DIVORCE RULING IS SET ASIDE

A motion to set aside a decree of divorce granted Blanche L. Mangus Dec. 9th last against her husband Frank Mangus has been sustained by Judge W. F. Lones, and the court has granted the plaintiff leave to file a supplimental petition at once. A temporary restraining order has been allowed in this case as prayed for without bond.

This action was filed Aug. 31st last and was for divorce and alimony. There was a trial to the court last month, and a decree was awarded the plaintiff after a lengthy trial to the court. The motion to set aside the decree was filed by the defendant.

Woman Seeks Divorce.

A petition in divorce has been filed in common pleas court by W. H. Spence as counsel for Florence H. Pittman against her husband, Everett J. Pittman, whose whereabouts at this time are unknown to the plaintiff.

The couple were married March 29th, 1926. The defendant, it is alleged, left the plaintiff Aug. 16th last and she has been compelled to support herself since. Constructive service through notice of summons by publication will be made an order of court in this case.

Divorce Suit Filed.

J. LeRoy Estell, residing at the McFadden rooming house 147½ West Sixth street, East Liverpool, and employed at the plant of the Patterson Foundry & Machine Co., at East Liverpool has been sued for divorce by his wife Rose E. Estell, whom he married Oct. 9th last. The petition was filed by Hill & Davidson of East Liverpool.

Marriage Licenses.

A marriage license has been issued to Dillen Webber, of East Liverpool and Mary Whitney, also of East Liverpool, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Whitney. The couple were married in the office of the probate court by Justice M. K. Zimerman.

Will Contest Dropped.

The will contest petition filed in common pleas court May 1, 1925, by William Ferrell and others against Raymond Fitzpatrick has been dismissed from the record at the costs of the plaintiff.

Sale Confirmed.

A sale has been confirmed and a deed and distribution ordered in the case of Elsie Chapman against Grant E. Pike, filed on the appearance docket, Dec. 17, 1925, in this cause the plaintiff sought to recover $2,135.01 from the defendant.

REPORT FILED BY COPELAND

Weather Statistics for January Made Public by Observer.

January was a month that was featured by "only" five days of clear sunshine. The coldest day of that month was the 16th when it was officially but three degrees below zero. These facts are revealed in the report just issued by L. H. Copeland of Millport, official cooperative weather observer for this district.

The greatest daily range of the temperature was on the 27th when there was a change of 33 degrees within 24 hours. The mean maximum temperature for the last month was 32.5 and the mean minimum was 17.5 with the mean at 25 and the maximum at 53, the latter being registered on the 30th.

Total percipitation for January in this county was 4.37 inches, and the greatest fall in any 24-hour period was 1.02 inches on the 19th.

Snow fall in January totaled 5.5 inches and there was three inches on the ground on Jan. 15th and none at the close of the month. There were 15 partly cloudy days last month and 11 cloudy and but five clear days.

At the close of January last year there as seven inches of snow on the ground and many roads were badly drifted, resulting in hard and tedious traveling.

"Last month was about normal as to temperature, and above normal as to rainfall," Mr. Copeland declared. "There was no extreme cold spells or windy weather. The snowfall was also below normal and ice prevailed the most of the month. Wheat prospects are poor. Just twice last month did the temperature go below zero."

POULTRYMEN TO ATTEND DINNER

Poultrymen from this county will attend a dinner at Ravenna next Saturday evening that is sponsored by the Ravenna Poultry association. Among those who will attend are James A. McIntosh, president of the East Liverpool association; Will Hall, Samuel Jones and William Landfried. Dates for 1927 fall and winter poultry shows will be assigned at this meeting.

A meeting of the Ohio-Pennsylvania Federation of poultrymen will be held in Lisbon the evening of April 30th, for the purpose of arranging exhibits for the next shows.

Judgment Rendered.

M. E. Biery, trading as the M. E. Biery Motor company, has obtained a judgment in common pleas court for $310 on a cognovit note given by C. E. Burnett to the plaintiff Aug. 3, last, bearing eight percent interest. A precipe in aid of execution has been issued, and certain motor vehicles in the possession of the defendant have been levied on through the office of Sheriff George Wright.

Many Divorce Cases.

Of the 73 cases filed in common pleas court during January, one-third were petitions in divorce and for alimony.

Of the seven new cases filed in court Tuesday, five of these were actions in divorce.

At the present rate of filing new court cases, there is sufficient court business available to keep the two branches of common pleas court busy for months to come.

SUBMIT REPORT ON SEAL SALES

A report received by Attorney George L. Lafferty, secretary of the Columbiana County Public Health league from Mrs. I. H. Cook of Salem, chairman of the organization shows there has been received from the different townships $2,556.61 from the sale of Christmas seals. There is an exception to nine townships, however, where seals valued at $678 are to be heard from.

There are also outstanding 2,288 mail sale letters, and reports are to be heard from those who received them.

"People who have received these mail sale letters and who have not responded a urged to do so at once," Secretary Lafferty urged today. "It is the desire of the officers of the league to close the reports of sales, but until these outstanding letters have been heard from, no final reports can be issued."

DIVORCE RULING IS SET ASIDE

A motion to set aside a decree of divorce granted Blanche L. Mangus Dec. 9th last against her husband Frank Mangus has been sustained by Judge W. F. Lones, and the court has granted the plaintiff leave to file a supplimental petition at once. A temporary restraining order has been allowed in this case as prayed for without bond.

This action was filed Aug. 31st last and was for divorce and alimony. There was a trial to the court last month, and a decree was awarded the plaintiff after a lengthy trial to the court. The motion to set aside the decree was filed by the defendant.

Woman Seeks Divorce.

A petition in divorce has been filed in common pleas court by W. H. Spence as counsel for Florence H. Pittman against her husband, Everett J. Pittman, whose whereabouts at this time are unknown to the plaintiff.

The couple were married March 29th, 1926. The defendant, it is alleged, left the plaintiff Aug. 16th last and she has been compelled to support herself since. Constructive service through notice of summons by publication will be made an order of court in this case.

Divorce Suit Filed.

J. LeRoy Estell, residing at the McFadden rooming house 147½ West Sixth street, East Liverpool, and employed at the plant of the Patterson Foundry & Machine Co., at East Liverpool has been sued for divorce by his wife Rose E. Estell, whom he married Oct. 9th last. The petition was filed by Hill & Davidson of East Liverpool.

Marriage Licenses.

A marriage license has been issued to Dillen Webber, of East Liverpool and Mary Whitney, also of East Liverpool, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Whitney. The couple were married in the office of the probate court by Justice M. K. Zimerman.

Will Contest Dropped.

The will contest petition filed in common pleas court May 1, 1925, by William Ferrell and others against Raymond Fitzpatrick has been dismissed from the record at the costs of the plaintiff.

Sale Confirmed.

A sale has been confirmed and a deed and distribution ordered in the case of Elsie Chapman against Grant E. Pike, filed on the appearance docket, Dec. 17, 1925, in this cause the plaintiff sought to recover $2,135.04 from the defendant.

What's What in Washington

BY CHARLES R STEWART

LAW DESIRED TO FREE MONEY FOR LOANS TO WAR VETERANS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Just before the first big batch of adjusted service certificates became available to ex-soldiers as security for loans they might want to raise, a few weeks ago, the Veterans' Bureau issued a statement hoping mighty few of the certificates' holders would use them that way.

GEN. F. T. HINES

Today General Frank T. Hines, director of that same Veterans' Bureau, is pushing a bill in congress to enable the bureau itself to make loans on the certificates to ex-soldiers.

The bureau's original idea was all right. The certificates are equivalent to life insurance policies which will automatically pay themselves up in 20 years. General Hines thought it would be better for the veterans to get a sizable lump of money apiece at the end of 20 years, with protection for their families in the meantime, than to fritter their messes of pottage away as they went along by continual borrowing, as fast as their loan value increased.

But it didn't occur to him that the veteran who really needs money right now wouldn't be able to raise it on his certificate.

This is exactly the case, however.

THE national legislators who thought up the adjusted service certificate idea had this thought also:

"If veterans can borrow on these certificates on any terms that speculators offer to them, they'll be gobbled up by sharks to the tune of millions of dollars' worth, and the vets will get precious little out of them."

So it was provided that only regularly organized banks and trust companies could make loans and even these only on strictly regulated conditions.

THE purpose of these precautions was to protect the veterans, but they involved so much red tape that they made an adjusted service certificate rather a difficult, complicated security to advance money on.

Another thing, a certificate's present loan value is comparatively small. The certificate, backed by the government, is the safest collateral imaginable, but it's a chicken feed transaction, which it isn't worth the average bank's while to bother with.

The borrower on a certificate must be identified to a dead certainty, too. He must convince the bank that it really is his certificate. Otherwise, in case he doesn't pay, the bank can't get its money from the government on it.

THE result is that most banks consider a loan on an adjusted service certificate more bother than the few dollars' interest on it pays them for.

It's a class of business that few of them care to engage in, except as a favor to regular customers. The veteran who's a regular customer of a bank isn't apt to be the one who's in urgent need of a small loan. Rather, the would-be borrower usually is hard up and without any banking connection.

So the certificate holder who can get a loan doesn't want one and the one who wants one can't get it.

THUS far only about one bank or trust company in 20, which is authorized to make loans on the certificates, has made any.

The government's precautions not only work. They work too well.

Some veterans need money now. It's admitted at the Veterans' Bureau that it's small consolation to an ex-service man to know that he'll have a comfortable bank roll coming to him in the future if he starves to death in the present.

There'll be no relaxation of restrictions on the banks and trust companies but it's likely things will be fixed so the bureau can make loans to veterans who can't get them elsewhere.

Safety Through Courtesy

Courtesy is the best policy in driving. Cleveland has just observed a motor courtesy week during which prizes were offered for conspicuously courteous acts on the part of automobile drivers. The result is worth thinking about.

During the week of courtesy there were only 18 motor accidents of any sort, but three of which were serious and none fatal. During the corresponding week in 1926 that city suffered 74 accidents, three of them fatal.

One can't held considering what wonders of safety would be achieved if the same effort toward courtesy were practiced on a national scale next summer during the height of the touring season—safety from minor accidents and safety from the costly ones that take human life as well as property.

Those Oil Properties

It appears that the extent of American oil interests involved in the controversy with Mexico is less than has been supposed.

Two New York newspapers, the Evening Post and the World, have printed the first definite set of figures on this matter. The figures given have been gathered by George Barr Baker, who is well known as a trained investigator and who was Herbert Hoover's associate in European relief work during the war. They are said to be supported by independent inquiries of the papers publishing them, and are as follows:

"There are approximately 28,500,000 acres of oil lands on which rights were acquired before May 1, 1917. This is the total acreage about which there is any dispute. The rights to the acreage are held by 666 foreign oil companies.

Of these 666 foreign oil companies, all but 22 have obeyed the law by applying for a 'confirmatory concession.' The 22 companies which have thus far refused to obey the law claim rights on about 1,600,000 acres, less than 6 per cent of the total.

"Of these 1,600,000 acres, 750,000 acres, or over 46 per cent, are owned by a company in which Edward L. Doheny has a large interest."

If this is all the row is about, there seems little reason to get excited about it, or to apply anything but peaceful and normal procedure.

Perjury

Perjury in the courts has become as common as lying in the streets and just about as safe, according to the New York World. It speaks particularly of New York courts, but citizens in all parts of the country will realize that it applies in greater or less degree everywhere. It is one of the shames not only of present-day court procedure but also of the public attitude toward justice.

It is said by jurists of long experience that the juror and the man in the street regard very leniently anyone who lies, under oath, to help out a friend or a cause he is interested in. Occasionally when New York judges have felt that perjury was particularly flagrant in a given case and have turned the facts over to the district attorney, nothing has been done about it because it is commonly realized that no jury would convict the perjurer. It would prefer to regard him as rather chivalrous and a good sport for his deliberate misstatements.

It is obvious that attainment of true justice becomes exceedingly difficult in such a state of affairs. Something should be done about the situation both in increased effort to enforce punishment for perjury, and also in education toward a feeling of greater responsibility on the part of witnesses and disgust at perjury on the part of the whole public.

Well Distributed Weather

"If the total rainfall for the past 34 years," announces a Rhode Island weather fan, "had come all at once, the depth of the water would be 120 feet".

That certainly would be quite a flood and, as a bit of the kind of statistics some people crave, the computation was probably worth while.

On the whole, however, the information doesn't do much good except to suggest to grumblers that the weather, though frequently annoying, is distributed with considerable moderation. Not all days bring rain or frost or extreme heat or unbearable humidity. When suffering from any temporary unpleasant sort of weather it might be well to remember these things. The man that has kept track of the rainfall in his state for 34 years and has had the fun of adding up the total and telling his neighbors about it probably gets a lot of kick out of the weather. Instead of trying to reform it or being depressed by it, he just studies it.

What is needed on a lot of American highways is a caterpillar tractor with the lightness and speed of an automobile.

As we understand the Chinese situation, soon 400,000,000 Chinamen will be looking for a place to park.

"Asia, grim stepmother of mankind," is doing some stepmothering now.

"Americans," says a more or less observing writer, "prefer to like things rather than dislike them." Not in politics.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Feb. 2. — There are any number of women in New York's high flying set who are known as "bathroom drinkers." They lift the supercilious eyebrow at a proffered cocktail or table wine and otherwise give appearance of being rigidly abstemious.

They are usually chronic alcoholics and are sensitive about the weakness. It is their idea to deceive casual guests and slip off to the bathroom or pantry now and then to swig heavy jolts from flasks. The difficulty is obvious.

Before those who are dallying in a leisurely fashion over the aperitifs are even slightly stimulated, the "bathroom drinkers" are hilariously jagged or stupidly befuddled. In a way it is amusing were it shorn of its tragic side.

One sees a prim lady whose conduct is a model of decorum suddenly grow brightly loquacious over nothing in particular—and to all appearances she has not tasted liquor. And probably before the evening is over she is accompanied, sagging to her automobile.

This often gives impetus to rumors this person or that is addicted to drugs. It is the "bathroom drinkers" who fill the isolated sanitariums in the Jersey hills, for they drink deep and steady and try to hide their derelictions.

In an automobile crash recently a mangled woman in evening dress was removed from the debris and rushed to a hospital. Secreted away in various parts of her clothing were ten receptacles for holding a single but heavy drink of whisky.

She was merely out for the evening. There are many stories where these cheap single drink flasks are sold. It is said they are mostly purchased by the bathroom drinkers and by those who wish to fortify themselves against thirst between acts at the theatre.

At lunch the other day I noticed Mary Garden as vibrant with girlish freshness as a girl of 20. Although she is slightly past 50, she seems perennially happy, and that I believe is worth a dozen beauty parlors.

And speaking of beauty salons, those in Manhattan have a smirking dash and overtone of sex that furnish a metropolitan glamour. They are pungent with exotic incense and perfumes of Araby. Satin walls, pink budded lights and glittering mirrors heighten the razzle-dazzle. Here languid ladies of all casts are de-wrinkled, creamed, frizzed, thumped, perfumed, carmined and powdered.

All are fighting the ceaseless bugaboo of Time. Great scandals of the town and heavy secrets of the heart are aired. The beauty parlor is the feminine barber shop forum of gossip that swings lightly from booth to booth.

The Madames in charge are usually French with violatile accented talk full of "dearies" and much dense cupidity. They are apparently unmindful of their own handiwork, for they are as a rule fat, double-chinned and sprout a few facial moles. In the windows are framed photographs of cabaret hostesses or stage ladies inscribed "To dear Madame Susette with Affectionate Regards."

There are many beauty parlors that have twice daily customers and the busiest hours are in the late afternoon when ladies of the evening prime their pulchritude for the night to come. Beauty parlors' heaviest revenue comes from the patented creams and lotions in fancy bottles—costing a few pennies but selling for high figures.

Chinatown is to have an "All-American restaurant." It is said most of the patronage will be among Chinese. While on Broadway most of the cafes for Americans these days are those offering a chop suey fare.

A TEMPTATION TO HIS MAJESTY

The steamer was calling at the principal port of one of those remote South Sea islands regarding which so much romance has been written these last few years by gifted fictionists and imaginative travelers. In canoes the natives paddled out to welcome the strangers from other climes. At the head of the volunteer reception committee came the ruling monarch, King Something-or-Other, a huge brown man with an air of heavy dignity and a battered high hat upon his head. He was accompanied by the imperial staff and also by his household retinue, the party including all of his wives, many of his children and his prime minister. The latter was a Cockney beach-comber who had been stranded here years before and who, having been adopted into the tribe, had risen to a place of high favor in the eyes of the copper-colored potentate.

The king, his premier and his bodyguard were welcomed aboard ship. His subjects remained alongside, in broken English begging the passengers to throw pennies down to them. Whenever a coin struck the water half a dozen islanders at once dived for it.

One of the visitors was generously inclined. When he had emptied his pockets of coppers he began flinging out small bits of silver and correspondingly the excitement among the amphibious natives increased. In the hope of moving them to even more spirited exhibitions of their powers, the white benefactor fished about until he found a silver dollar. He was in the act of hurling it over the side when the prime minister caught his arm.

"Please, sir," begged the Cockney, "don't do that, sir. Hi ask you to retrain yourself, sir. You'll be 'aving 'Is Royal 'Ighness overboard next!"

HASKIN'S LETTER

Chinese Dates—Jububes.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Feb. 2—Whatever else we may get from China—trouble and danger for our nationals who are residents in that hectic land, strenous activity for our Navy and the Marines, and headaches for officials of the Department of State—we have had one thing that can not be taken away from us and that may prove of constantly increasing benefit. That is the jujube.

That sounds like it might be a game or an athletic stunt such as jiu jitsu. Some people may find that it recalls a kind of hard candy, bad for the teeth, but favored by careless children. In fact, however the jujube is a fruit comparatively new to the United States which has varied uses, among them its serving as a confection after it has been candied.

The jujube has been grown in the United States as an ornamental plant for more than half a century, but as such it was a seedling tree that bore small fruit of very indifferent flavor. In 1908, however, the division of foreign seed and plant introduction of the United States Department of Agriculture undertook the introduction of improved varieties of jujubes from China. Finding where the tree would grow best and getting people interested in growing it was a rather slow process, but within the last few years a fair measure of success has attended the efforts of the Government horticultural experts.

Jujubes are now being grown in Texas, California, New Mexico, and Arizona, more extensively in the two States first named. As yet they are to found only in small home orchards and at the Department of Agriculture. No prediction is made as whether ultimately they will be grown on a commercial scale. It is said, however, that there is no reason why they should not be, for it is quite possible. The essential thing is to get more people interested in growing them and to develop a wider market for the fruit. The State of Texas, through its agriculture experiment station, is making a drive in this direction.

What the Jujube Is Like.

The jujube pronounced "joo-joob" with accent on the first syllable is technically described as a spiny and deciduous shrub, a native of Syria, whence it was introduced into Europe. But it is in China that it has reached its highest development. The fruit is blood red or saffron-colored, with a sweet grandular pulp. When correctly prepared it tastes like dates, and in fact jujubes are commonly known in the Orient as Chinese dates.

There are numerous species of the genus and of several the fruit is edible and wholesome. It is eaten fresh, dried, and preserved. In southern Europe it is used at table in desserts as a dry sweetmeat.

It is interesting to note, by the way, that one of the species of the tree is known as "Spina-Christi," or Christ's thorn, and there is a tradition that it furnished the branches from which Christ's crown of thorns was made.

One great value of the jujube is that it grows and produces well in semi-arid regions where little or no other fruit grows. It blooms late and over a period of several days. Last spring at the Texas Experimental station pujubes first bloomed May 10, and still had blooms on June 1. Peaches and plums bloomed there the early for both fruits. The same relative difference, however, is maintained yearly. Blooming late and over a long period jujubes are never injured by frost.

Jujubes do not appear to be particularly exacting in their soil requirements, says W. B. Lanham, chief of the divsion of Horticulture. They are growing in Texas on a wide variety of soils. In the coastal section they are making a luxuriant growth on soil slightly acid. In the western part of the State they apparently do equally as well, if not better, on soil slightly alkaline, but die on extremely alkaline soil. They require fairly good drainage. They are more particular as to climate than soil. They do their best, apparently, with long hot summers and not too much moisture, but they stand both drouth and excess moisture better than other fruit that has been grown in the Texas Experimental Station.

Most jujubes in Texas have been grown without irrigation, although they respond readily to irrigation where there is a deficiency of moisture, and while they will stand neglect they show that they appreciate good care and should receive shallow cultivation throughout the growing season.

Two Crops In One Year.

In the southern part of Texas jujubes ripen first, in a normal season, about the middle of July. There is a difference in ripening dates of different varieties, but no careful record of this has been kept. Jujubes will ripen over a period of at least two months, and occesionally there are two distinct crops in one year.

From a commercial standpoint the long period of ripening is a disadvantage, as it necessitates many harvestings, but from the home-orchard standpoint this is a decided advantage, as it gives fruit for home use over a long period of time.

Four varieties of jujubes are recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture, although a nursery at Austin, Texas, reports that it has ninteen varieties fruiting in its orchard.

The first of the varieties which have the approval of the Federal experts is the Mu Shing Hong, of which it is said that its fruit is of good size and shape, and processes well. It comes from Tsingtze, Province of Shinsi, China, and scions were secured for importation into this country by Frank N. Meyer in March, 1908. At the same time and from the same source Mr. Meyer secured scions of the Lang, said to be one of the very best varieties, producing an abundance of fruit and being one of the most readily propagated of all.

Six years later, in February 1914, Mr. Meyer secured scions of the Sui-Men near Paihsiengchen, Shansi Province, China. It is recommended as a good variety for all purposes. The largest jujube of all is the Li which this agent secured at the same time at Fuma, Shansi Province. Of all the varieties introduced into the United States the Li not only has the largest fruit, but is one of the best to eat as it comes from the tree, and ripens the latest by one or two weeks. Its flesh is crisp, it processes well, and it has the smallest pit in proportion to flesh.

Among the uses to which this new fruit may be put are the making of jujube graham bread, jujube cake filling, jujube batter pudding, jujube with oatmeal, jujube sweet pickles, and jujube butter. Also they may be preserved as plums, peaches, figs and similar fruits are preserved, and they may be candied.

And aside from being a fruit tree, the jujube makes a good ornamental or street tree.

In 1908, however, the division of foreign seed and plant introduction of the United States Department of Agriculture undertook the introduction of improved varieties of jujubes from China. Finding where the tree would grow best and getting people interested in growing it was a rather slow process, but within the last few years a fair measure of success has attended the efforts of the Government horticultural experts.

Jujubes are now being grown in Texas, California, New Mexico, and Arizona, more extensively in the two States first named. As yet they are to found only in small home orchards and at the Department of Agriculture. No prediction is made as whether ultimately they will be grown on a commercial scale. It is said, however, that there is no reason why they should not be, for it is quite possible. The essential thing is to get more people interested in growing them and to develop a wider market for the fruit. The State of Texas, through its agriculture experiment station, is making a drive in this direction.

What the Jujube Is Like.

The jujube pronounced "joo-joob" with accent on the first syllable is technically described as a spiny and deciduous shrub, a native of Syria, whence it was introduced into Europe. But it is in China that it has reached its highest development. The fruit is blood red or saffron-colored, with a sweet grandular pulp. When correctly prepared it tastes like dates, and in fact jujubes are commonly known in the Orient as Chinese dates.

There are numerous species of the genus and of several the fruit is edible and wholesome. It is eaten fresh, dried, and preserved. In southern Europe it is used at table in desserts as a dry sweetmeat.

It is interesting to note, by the way, that one of the species of the tree is known as "Spina-Christi," or Christ's thorn, and there is a tradition that it furnished the branches from which Christ's crown of thorns was made.

One great value of the jujube is that it grows and produces well in semi-arid regions where little or no other fruit grows. It blooms late and over a period of several days. Last spring at the Texas Experimental station pujubes first bloomed May 10, and still had blooms on June 1. Peaches and plums bloomed there the early for both fruits. The same relative difference, however, is maintained yearly. Blooming late and over a long period jujubes are never injured by frost.

Jujubes do not appear to be particularly exacting in their soil requirements, says W. B. Lanham, chief of the divsion of Horticulture. They are growing in Texas on a wide variety of soils. In the coastal section they are making a luxuriant growth on soil slightly acid. In the western part of the State they apparently do equally as well, if not better, on soil slightly alkaline, but die on extremely alkaline soil. They require fairly good drainage. They are more particular as to climate than soil. They do their best, apparently, with long hot summers and not too much moisture, but they stand both drouth and excess moisture better than other fruit that has been grown in the Texas Experimental Station.

Most jujubes in Texas have been grown without irrigation, although they respond readily to irrigation where there is a deficiency of moisture, and while they will stand neglect they show that they appreciate good care and should receive shallow cultivation throughout the growing season.

Two Crops In One Year.

In the southern part of Texas jujubes ripen first, in a normal season, about the middle of July. There is a difference in ripening dates of different varieties, but no careful record of this has been kept. Jujubes will ripen over a period of at least two months, and occesionally there are two distinct crops in one year.

From a commercial standpoint the long period of ripening is a disadvantage, as it necessitates many harvestings, but from the home-orchard standpoint this is a decided advantage, as it gives fruit for home use over a long period of time.

Four varieties of jujubes are recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture, although a nursery at Austin, Texas, reports that it has ninteen varieties fruiting in its orchard.

The first of the varieties which have the approval of the Federal experts is the Mu Shing Hong, of which it is said that its fruit is of good size and shape, and processes well. It comes from Tsingtze, Province of Shinsi, China, and scions were secured for importation into this country by Frank N. Meyer in March, 1908. At the same time and from the same source Mr. Meyer secured scions of the Lang, said to be one of the very best varieties, producing an abundance of fruit and being one of the most readily propagated of all.

Six years later, in February 1914, Mr. Meyer secured scions of the Sui-Men near Paihsiengchen, Shansi Province, China. It is recommended as a good variety for all purposes. The largest jujube of all is the Li which this agent secured at the same time at Fuma, Shansi Province. Of all the varieties introduced into the United States the Li not only has the largest fruit, but is one of the best to eat as it comes from the tree, and ripens the latest by one or two weeks. Its flesh is crisp, it processes well, and it has the smallest pit in proportion to flesh.

Among the uses to which this new fruit may be put are the making of jujube graham bread, jujube cake filling, jujube batter pudding, jujube with oatmeal, jujube sweet pickles, and jujube butter. Also they may be preserved as plums, peaches, figs and similar fruits are preserved, and they may be candied.

And aside from being a fruit tree, the jujube makes a good ornamental or street tree.

Home-made, but Ends Coughs In a Hurry

A family supply of dependable cough medicine. Easily made and saves about $2.

If you have a severe cough or chest cold, with soreness, throat tickle, hoarseness or difficult breathing, or if your child wakes up at night with a hoarse cough, and you want quick help, try this reliable old home-made cough remedy. Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. This makes a pint of really remarkable cough remedy. It tastes good, and in spite of its low cost, can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens and raises the phlegm, stops throat-tickle and soothes and heals the irritated membranes of the throat and bronchial tubes with an ease and promptness that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, which is probably the best known means of overcoming severe coughs, throat and chest colds.

There are many worthless imitations of this mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

If you have a severe cough or chest cold, with soreness, throat tickle, hoarseness or difficult breathing, or if your child wakes up at night with a hoarse cough, and you want quick help, try this reliable old home-made cough remedy. Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. This makes a pint of really remarkable cough remedy. It tastes good, and in spite of its low cost, can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens and raises the phlegm, stops throat-tickle and soothes and heals the irritated membranes of the throat and bronchial tubes with an ease and promptness that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, which is probably the best known means of overcoming severe coughs, throat and chest colds.

There are many worthless imitations of this mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

SMITH'S BATTLE FOR SENATE SEAT REACHES CLIMAX

ILLINOIS MAN SEEKS PLACE PENDING PROBE

Committee May Urge That he be Given Oath of Office.

THEN SLUSH QUIZ

Reed Committee to Consider Plan to Cite for Contempt.

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Although favoring the seating of Colonel Frank L. Smith, of Illinois, the senate elections committee discussed his case for two hours today without reaching a decision on his appeal for permission to take the oath of office at once.

The committee will meet again tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The battle of Col. Frank L. Smith, of Illinois, for a seat in the United States senate reached a climax today when the senate elections committee met to pass upon his appeal for immediate admission, pending a final decision on the slush fund charges raised in his primary campaign.

According to an International News Service poll, the committee will draft a preliminary report, recommending that the senate permit Smith to take his oath of office at once. With Smith an actual member of the senate, the committee then would proceed to an investigation of the slush fund charges. This procedure by the committee, however, does not insure Smith's admisssion as every indication points to the senate rejecting the committee's recommendation and again barring the doors to Smith.

The probability that the Reed committee will ask the senate in the near future to impose jail sentences upon three of Smith's supporters in the recent Illinois election will not enter into the question of seating him. The Reed committee however will meet next Monday to decide what course to take in citing for contempt those friends of Smith who refused to answer questions at the Chicago inquiry last year.

May Ask Jail Sentences.

Those threatened with jail sentences are Samuel Insull, multi-millionaire utility head of Chicago, who gave $158,735 to Smith's campaign; Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney of Chicago, and possibly Daniel F. Schuyler, an Insull attorney, who contributed $3,600 to Smith.

Thomas V. Cunningham, of Philadelphia, who refused to tell where he got $50,000 which he contributed to the campaign of William S. Vare in Pennsylvania, faces the same treatment.

The Reed committee is deadly serious in its plan to ask jail sentences for the recalcitrant witnesses, if they fail to purge themselves before the bar of the senate. To purge themselves, it was explained, the witnesses will have to answer the questions they refused to answer at the Chicago hearings.

Two Methods of Punishment.

As two methods of punishment were suggested, the committee will decide its course next Monday. The two courses were: 1, a summoning before the bar of the senate for questioning and if the refusals are persisted in, the senate would be asked to send the witnesses directly to jail; and 2, citation of the witnesses to the federal district attorney here for indictment and prosecution for contempt.

The first method has been pursued scores of times by both house and senate. The latter method was followed in the contempt proceedings against Mal S. Daugherty, brother of the former attorney general, and Harry F. Sinclair, the oil king. Both methods were recommended to the committee by Senators Goff (R) of West Virginia, and King (D) of Utah, in separate reports, thus removing all party lines.

BRITISH-CHEN PARLEY IS ON

London Denies Break in Negotiations in China.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—The British foreign office today denied that negotiations between Eugene Chen, Nationalist leader in China, and the British charge O'Malley have broken down.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 2.—The situation in the Shanghai area was intensified today, with the Cantonese forces commandeering foreign vessels for the transportation of Nationalist troops.

French, Swedish and Japanese steamers at various points have been forcibly taken over by the Nationalists for carrying their troops to Hankow where the Nationalists are being concentrated for a counter move against the southward advance of the Manchurian forces of Marshal Chang Tso-Lin.

A report from Murden, Chang's headquarters, said Chang's officers have declared that if a single Chinese is killed at Shanghai as a result of the influx of foreign troops, his officers will force Chang Tso-Lin to join the Cantonese forces against the British.

MR. GROUNDHOG SEES SHADOW

Winter will not end for at least six weeks longer, Br'er Groundhog learned today—Groundhog Day.

BRADLEY BURNS OUTRUNS COPS

East End Man Abandons Car and Liquor in His Flight.

Bradley Burns, Erie street, is a fugitive from justice today following his escape from police yesterday afternoon when he fled through a culvert crossing Mulberry street. Police have filed a charge of transporting intoxicating liquor against Burns.

Chief of Police McDermott and Desk Sergeant Toland were in the motor patrol, traveling south on Mulberry street, at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon when Burns, driving a Ford coupe, emerged from Locust street and endeavored to make a right turn on Mulberry street.

Sighting Chief McDermott, Burns, police said, stopped his car and ran. Chief of Police McDermott, believing the man to have taken refuge in a nearby house, searched the place but no trace of the fugitive could be found. Police learned later that he fled through the yard and into the run which flows under Mulberry street.

In his hurry to get away, Burns, police said, left his overcoat and two gallon jugs of liquor in the machine. The car is being held in a garage, while the overcoat and liquor were taken to city hall.

Burns was arrested on New Year's Day, charged with having made a liquor sale to one "Mike Davis." After spending several days in jail he was released upon bond and later the charge was dismissed by Judge Hanley after the prosecuting witness failed to appear.

Roy Green, who was fined $100 upon a liquor possession charge nearly a month ago, is not Ray Green of 1160 Pennsylvania avenue, who recently came to this city from Shippingport, Pa., police said today.

Pretty Co-ed Suicide

tory. Miss Richardson's was not among them.

All of Monday night, according to Miss Schabitz, Bernice lay on her bed and sobbed. During a brief interval the girl affected an indifferent attitude and began to joke about her plight. Then she queried Miss Schabitz about the relative potency of various drugs.

Yesterday noon Miss Richardson was summoned to the principal's office. She knew what it meant. Instead of answering the summons she went to her room and swallowed poison.

"Suicide while despondent," read the coroner's report.

Educators Study Courses.

CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—With the death of Bernice Richardson, 20 year old Milliken college co-ed, enrollment in the "suicide class of '27" today stood at nine.

That number of students — seven boys and two girls—have taken their own lives in American universities in the past thirty days, an appalling average of one every 78 hours, or approximately one every three days.

For the first time, it was learned today, educators, ministers and alienists, thoroughly aroused, have joined forces in a concerted effort to fathom causes underlying this weird epidemic and to adopt measures to stamp it out.

Officials and faculty members of Chicago and Northwestern universities were known to be studying the situation. While officials refused any definite announcement concerning their plans they admitted the subject was being given serious study.

CRUCIFIXION SERMON TOPIC OF EVANGELIST

Vivid Picture of Calvary Presented by Dr. Knapp.

REVIVAL MEET

Crowd Attends Services at Methodist Protestant Church.

In an outstanding service emphasizing in sermon, song and testimony the part of the Cross in the salvation of human souls, several men and women accepted Christianity at the Methodist Protestant revival at the Jackson street church last evening.

Presenting a vivid picture of the Crucifixion occurrences, before and after, Dr. W. A. Knapp, the evangelist directing the meeting, held in rapt attention an audience that filled the congregation's auditorium. His text were the words: "They Came to a Place Called Calvary, There They Crucified Him."

"To have suffered such indignities Jesus Christ must have been a physical giant," he said. "He was no molly-coddle or sissy. Compared to his passing that by electric chair or the gallows pales into insignificance."

Despite the large attendance the fact was disclosed by the uplifted hands that practically 300 of the church's 500 members were not present, the gathering being augmented by those from other memberships or by them without affiliation. "I fear too many of you are not taking your religion seriously," commented the evangelist. "A revival is a patriotic, moral and social proposition even though it be nothing else for by it the entire community is benefited. If you subtract all revival efforts from a community it becomes skin-dead. Revivals are had in business, in politics and by social clubs. Benefits derived from them are noticeable. Even so are those in religion. Assuredly the entire membership of this church should now co-operate in this revival, for an uplift while bringing about the salvation of others without—the dominant purpose of every church."

An illuminated cross hung from the organ pipes back of the pulpit. Lights were dimmed as G. E. Vinaroff sang "Crucified." They were turned off again following the discourse as the appeal for a change of life was made.

"The Way of the Cross Leads Home" was sung fervently during the preliminary service when Mr. Vinaroff contributed also a medley of hymns on the miramba. The invocation was by Rev. A. H. O'Brien, pastor of the Baptist church.

"Friendship Night," when members are to bring one or more of their friends to the meeting was announced for this evening.

During the testimony period four persons were disclosed present who had been Christians for 50 years. A larger number admitted a forty, thirty, twenty and periods graduating to six months' tenure in religious activities.

Dr. Knapp declared the Cross to be the world's supreme tragedy, the place of its greatest blessing where hell boiled over and where the wrath and justice of God were exhibited in superlative degree.

At the conclusion of the service cards were passed out on which were spaces for signing "forward tendencies" of those receiving them.

Meetings will be held during the remaining nights of the week.

OHIO SALESMAN SHOT TO DEATH

Three Men are Held for Quiz at Newport, Ky.

NEWPORT, Ky., Feb. 2.—County officers today were holding three men for questioning in connection with the mysterious murder late last night of Louis C. Riley, 37, Cincinnati salesman.

Riley's body riddled with bullets, was found on the Licking road, six miles south of here.

Cincinnati police have been asked to check on the report that three men yesterday asked Riley to demonstrate an automobile to them, and that he kept the appointment last night.

The theory that robbery was a possible motive for the crime was discarded today when it was learned that the murdered man had but a small amount of money with him.

Several Persons Reported Injured In Studio Blast

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—A number of persons were reported injured today in an explosion which wrecked the two-story laboratory building on the Cello Film company's studio plot in West Fort Lee, N. J.

Early reports were to the effect that several persons are believed to be trapped in the burning wreckage. Ambulances were called from nearby towns.

PARIS, Feb. 2.—Prince Carol has been confined to his Neuilly house for the past two days, suffering from an attack of la grippe. His condition was improved today and his physician said he probably would be able to take his usual outing.

Dry Legislation Thrown Overboard By House Members

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2. — All dry legislation for this session was thrown overboard today by the house ways and means committee.

The committee voted not to report the medicinal whisky bill sponsored by L. C. Andrews, dry chief, and then shelved other dry measures by appointing a sub-committee to study legislation to strengthen prohibition enforcement.

The committee's action may hasten the retirement of Andrews, who has said he wanted to remain in office only long enough to see his dry program enacted.

Donahey's Mesage

told the solons, "are for the protection of the public, hence the public should pay the bill, through general revenue fund appropriations. Payment of fees places these industries in the position of being employers of the department that regulate and supervise them."

Election Law Revision.

Touching on the subject of election law revision, the governor endorsed permanent registration of voters, easier recount of ballots, urged that voters be permitted to vote at primaries without disclosing their party affiliations, and recommended that the right of women voters to serve on political party committees be given statutory recognition, "so they may officially exercise the same authority as the male members of such committees."

Another recommendation by the governor was that the inter-county system of roads in Ohio be increased from 11,000 to 12,000 miles and that the limit on construction cost be raised from $3,000 per mile to $5,000.

The governor advocated legislation permitting revocation of conditional pardons and the return of violators to penal and correctional institutions in a manner similar to the present system of revoking paroles and returning parole violators.

Battle Against Crime.

"A crying need in society's battle against crime," said the governor, "is a more vigorous enforcement of the laws against carrying concealed weapons." Asserting that there should be "a way to gauge the penalty to fit the crime," he favored legislation defining degrees of robbery and fixing varying penalties to fit the grades. The governor endorsed the suggestion that "repeaters," guilty of major robberies, including looting banks, stealing payrolls, and committing robberies with revolvers, or other deadly weapons, be given life sentences.

Recommendation was made by Governor Donahey that the state director of education be authorized to supervise educational activities in all state institutions, to standardize courses and to elevate them to as high a plane as possible.

The governor endorsed abolition of road assessments against abutting property owners, except in cases where property owners petition for an assessment for a road which, otherwise, could not be financed.

Yellow Creek Narrows Plan.

Declaration was made by the governor that the federal government should be petitioned to assist the state and the counties, "to an extent greater than permitted by the present federal rules," in defraying the cost of constructing a grade and roadbed over the Shadyside-Powhatan narrows, Belmont county, and the Yellow Creek narrows, Jefferson county, as part of the Ohio river road.

The governor pointed out that this route, from Cincinnati to East Liverpool, nearly half of which is a section of the Atlantic and Pacific highway, is practically completed except for the above mentioned narrows, which were designated by Governor Donahey as "two difficult spots" where long detours through the hills are necessary.

Legislation requiring railroads to share in the cost of eliminating grade crossings by a change in alignment of the highway was favored by Donahey.

The solons were urged by the governor to accord friendly consideration to recommendations soon to be made by the governor's special committee of Spanish war and World war veterans who recently made a survey of conditions and needs at the Ohio soldiers' and sailors' home, Sandusky, and of the Ohio soldiers' and sailors' orphans' home, Xenia.

The governor, also, solicited the aid of the legislators in bringing about improvements at Ohio penitentiary recommended by a committee of eight Columbus physicians, chosen by the governor, which, some weeks ago, probed sanitary conditions at the big state prison.

Donahey stated that the importance of safeguarding the health of penitentiary prisoners "is equally applicable to all the penal, correctional and benevolent institutions of the state."

The legislators were urged by Governor Donahey to appoint a joint committee to cooperate with the state board of uniform state laws between legislative sessions, "with a view to the preparation and introduction of measures making uniform the laws of Ohio with the laws of other states, so far as practicable on similar subjects."

Donahey, also, declared the board was handicapped because existing law limits its expenditures to $5.000 annually. He urged that this limitation be removed, or raised to $10,000.

Recodification of Laws Urged.

"Scientific" recodification of the laws of the Buckeye state by a commission of competent attorneys was strongly urged by Governor Donahey. He called attention to the fact that there has been no recodification of these statutes since 1910. Since that time, he pointed out, voluminous legislation followed adoption of the Ohio constitutional amendments in 1912, each succeeding legislature grinding out its grist of hundreds of laws on all manner of subjects.

"Our present code is encumbered with many obsolete and archaic laws," declared the governor. "There are numerous conflicting statutes which should be reconciled and other complicated ones simplified.

"Every time a new municipal court is created, a voluminous special act is passed until now hundreds of pages of the code are devoted to detailed legislation governing the procedure of each of these local courts." Governor Donahey told the legislators.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Important developments in the proposed railroad mergers were foreshadowed by the spectacular advances in railroad shares in unusually heavy trading today. Meetings of the boards and special committees of Erie and Pere Marquette roads take place today, while resumption of the conferences between the Van Sweringens and the minority stockholders of Chesapeake and Ohio was also on the schedule.

With the opening gong on the stock exchange the excited buying of Wheeling and Lake Erie, Western Maryland, Erie, New Haven, Peoria and Eastern, Rock Island and other of the "merger rails" was promptly resumed. Wheeling and Lake Erie preferred, on which about 70 per cent in unpaid dividends has accumulated, raced up to 78¾ for a new gain of 4 points, while both of the Western Maryland issues gained 2 points.

Erie common and first preferred gained a point and New Haven 12 1-2 on buying attributed to railroad interests close to the managements of Pennsylvania railroad and Delaware and Hudson. Shorts in various railroad stocks were badly punished as the closely held and newly sensational issues forged ahead to unprecedented price levels as mystification about their real status increased. Meanwhile President Loree of Delaware and Hudson officially denied that he was purchasing Wheeling and Lake Erie stock.

shorten human life and wouldn't it be a good idea to be ready for it, and how can we be ready for it if we simply watch others getting ready.

IN PHILADELPHIA, police, to convict men of driving automobiles recklessly while drunk, will get evidence by blood tests. The blood shows how much alcohol a man has in him.

Those that drink whisky, the bootleg variety now flooding the country, would be interested in the effect of whisky on the blood. Among other things it discourages the leucocytes, destroys the power of the blood to heal wounds. The bootleg drinker would do well to insure his life. If anything happens to him necessitating an operation he is apt to go from the operating table to the undertaker.

SYBIL BAUER, swimming champion, died Monday, only 23 years old. She set a world's record for world's records in all, and her specialty was short races from 100 meters to one quarter of a mile.

The early death of this brilliant young woman is a warning against too violent exercise. Straining the heart means shortening life.

A SWISS inventor has made a clock alleged to solve the problem of perpetual motion, which of course it doesn't solve. The thing is wound up by variations in temperature. It has run for a year without being touched. That, however, isn't perpetual motion. This earth will get cold, our atmosphere will vanish and at the ether's temperature, "absolute zero," that clock won't run. Nothing is "perpetual" except divine justice.

ate referendum vote of the membership to authorize it to bargain terms with the operators in an endeavor to obtain an agreement for not less than $7.50 a day.

No mention was made of the six-hour day and five-day week.

Another recommendation was that all contracts in the bituminous districts run concurrently and expire on the same date.

John Brophy, of Clearfield, Pa., recognized as head of the radical element in the miners' union, took the platform to address the convention just before noon.

Brophy mentioned the possibility of a general strike developing as the result of the probable rejection by the operators of the wage scale committee's demands.

"The committee's report should be altered so as to appeal more to non-union men to join the organization," Brophy urged. "It is a sad fact but a fact nevertheless that 65 per cent of the bituminous coal is mined by non-union men. We should do something to strengthen the union membership for the coming clash."

AKRON REVIVES WHIPPING POST

Judge Administers 20 Lashes to Alleged Wife Beater.

AKRON, Feb. 2.—The whipping post has been revived in Ohio—if not officially, at least effectively.

Irked by the repeated appearances in police court here of John Caves, 40, alleged wife beater, Municipal Judge E. E. Zesiger late yesterday personally administered 20 lashes, after passing sentence on the prisoner.

The whipping was conducted in a cell at police headquarters. Judge Zesiger used an 18-inch section of garden hose.

"I guess I smacked him at least 20 times across the seat of his breeches with the flexible hose," the judge declared after carrying out his own sentence. "Caves blubbered like a school boy and promised to behave himself in the future. Then I released him."

Judge Zesiger is a firm advocate of a law providing the lash for wife beaters.

GROUNDHOG DAY DANCE AT PARK

A capacity crowd is expected to attend the Groundhog Day dance, which will be given by employes of the Homer Laughlin pottery, members of their families and friends at Virginia Gardens, at Rock Springs park, tonight.

Dan Gregory's Victor Recording band, which is playing a three-day engagement at the park, pleased a fair sized crowd last evening. This band will also play for the Laughlin dance tonight and for another public dance, which will be held Thursday night. The Demar Miller band, of this city, made up of 10 musicians will have charge of the music for the Saturday night dance.

Five dances will be held at the park next week, the only open night being Monday. Pete Sullivan's Palace Royal Orchestra, formerly of South Bend, Ind., will play Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. Employes of the Knowles, Taylor & Knowles pottery have leased the pavilion for Wednesday evening, having engaged Ray Sapiro's Knights of Rythm, of Beaver Falls, to render the music.

Manager C. C. Macdonald, of the park, announced today that Oliver Naylor's Victor Recording band, another noted musical organization, would appear there on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, February 15, 16 and 17.

"The 10-cent additional fee on the minimum charge will not more than meet the cost of a license and insurance which we are obliged to carry on each of our machines," said Albert McLean, head of the McLean Yellow Cab company today. "The increase amounts to 10 cents per ride no matter whether the charge of 35 cents or $10."

The new measure makes no changes in the flat charge of 20 cents for each additional person when more than one passenger is carried in the car. The extra person charge does not apply to children 12 years of age or under.

SMITH'S BATTLE FOR SENATE SEAT REACHES CLIMAX

ILLINOIS MAN SEEKS PLACE PENDING PROBE

Committee May Urge That he be Given Oath of Office.

THEN SLUSH QUIZ

Reed Committee to Consider Plan to Cite for Contempt.

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Although favoring the seating of Colonel Frank L. Smith, of Illinois, the senate elections committee discussed his case for two hours today without reaching a decision on his appeal for permission to take the oath of office at once.

The committee will meet again tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2—The battle of Col. Frank L. Smith, of Illinois, for a seat in the United States senate reached a climax today when the senate elections committee met to pass upon his appeal for immediate admission, pending a final decision on the slush fund charges raised in his primary campaign.

According to an International News Service poll, the committee will draft a preliminary report, recommending that the senate permit Smith to take his oath of office at once. With Smith an actual member of the senate, the committee then would proceed to an investigation of the slush fund charges. This procedure by the committee, however, does not insure Smith's admisssion as every indication points to the senate rejecting the committee's recommendation and again barring the doors to Smith.

The probability that the Reed committee will ask the senate in the near future to impose jail sentences upon three of Smith's supporters in the recent Illinois election will not enter into the question of seating him. The Reed committee however will meet next Monday to decide what course to take in citing for contempt those friends of Smith who refused to answer questions at the Chicago inquiry last year.

May Ask Jail Sentences.

Those threatened with jail sentences are Samuel Insull, multi-millionaire utility head of Chicago, who gave $158,735 to Smith's campaign; Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney of Chicago, and possibly Daniel F. Schuyler, an Insull attorney, who contributed $3,600 to Smith.

Thomas V. Cunningham, of Philadelphia, who refused to tell where he got $50,000 which he contributed to the campaign of William S. Vare in Pennsylvania, faces the same treatment.

The Reed committee is deadly serious in its plan to ask jail sentences for the recalcitrant witnesses, if they fail to purge themselves before the bar of the senate. To purge themselves, it was explained, the witnesses will have to answer the questions they refused to answer at the Chicago hearings.

Two Methods of Punishment.

As two methods of punishment were suggested, the committee will decide its course next Monday. The two courses were: 1, a summoning before the bar of the senate for questioning and if the refusals are persisted in, the senate would be asked to send the witnesses directly to jail; and 2, citation of the witnesses to the federal district attorney here for indictment and prosecution for contempt.

The first method has been pursued scores of times by both house and senate. The latter method was followed in the contempt proceedings against Mal S. Daugherty, brother of the former attorney general, and Harry F. Sinclair, the oil king. Both methods were recommended to the committee by Senators Goff (R) of West Virginia, and King (D) of Utah, in separate reports, thus removing all party lines.

BRITISH-CHEN PARLEY IS ON

London Denies Break in Negotiations in China.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—The British foreign office today denied that negotiations between Eugene Chen, Nationalist leader in China, and the British charge O'Malley have broken down.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 2.—The situation in the Shanghai area was intensified today, with the Cantonese forces commandeering foreign vessels for the transportation of Nationalist troops.

French, Swedish and Japanese steamers at various points have been forcibly taken over by the Nationalists for carrying their troops to Hankow where the Nationalists are being concentrated for a counter move against the southward advance of the Manchurian forces of Marshal Chang Tso-Lin.

A report from Murden, Chang's headquarters, said Chang's officers have declared that if a single Chinese is killed at Shanghai as a result of the influx of foreign troops, his officers will force Chang Tso-Lin to join the Cantonese forces against the British.

MR. GROUNDHOG SEES SHADOW

Winter will not end for at least six weeks longer, Br'er Groundhog learned today—Groundhog Day.

The woodchuck, as he is sometimes called, emerged from his home early this morning but had not been out long before he spied his shadow. He returned to his hole where he will sleep for another six weeks.

BRADLEY BURNS OUTRUNS COPS

East End Man Abandons Car and Liquor in His Flight.

Bradley Burns, Erie street, is a fugitive from justice today following his escape from police yesterday afternoon when he fled through a culvert crossing Mulberry street. Police have filed a charge of transporting intoxicating liquor against Burns.

Chief of Police McDermott and Desk Sergeant Toland were in the motor patrol, traveling south on Mulberry street, at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon when Burns, driving a Ford coupe, emerged from Locust street and endeavored to make a right turn on Mulberry street.

Sighting Chief McDermott, Burns, police, said, stopped his car and ran. Chief of Police McDermott, believing the man to have taken refuge in a nearby house, searched the place but no trace of the fugitive could be found. Police learned later that he fled through the yard and into the run which flows under Mulberry street.

In his hurry to get away, Burns, police said, left his overcoat and two gallon jugs of liquor in the machine. The car is being held in a garage, while the overcoat and liquor were taken to city hall.

Burns was arrested on New Year's Day, charged with having made a liquor sale to one "Mike Davis." After spending several days in jail he was released upon bond and later the charge was dismissed by Judge Hanley after the prosecuting witness failed to appear.

Roy Green, who was fined $100 upon a liquor possession charge nearly a month ago, is not Ray Green of 1160 Pennsylvania avenue, who recently came to this city from Shippingport, Pa., police said today.

tory. Miss Richardson's was not among them.

All of Monday night, according to Miss Schabitz, Bernice lay on her bed and sobbed. During a brief interval the girl affected an indifferent attitude and began to joke about her plight. Then she queried Miss Schabitz about the relative potency of various drugs.

Yesterday noon Miss Richardson was summoned to the principal's office. She knew what it meant. Instead of answering the summons she went to her room and swallowed poison.

"Suicide while despondent," read the coroner's report.

Educators Study Courses.

CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—With the death of Bernice Richardson, 20 year old Milliken college co-ed, enrollment in the "suicide class of '27" today stood at nine.

That number of students — seven boys and two girls—have taken their own lives in American universities in the past thirty days, an appalling average of one every 78 hours, or approximately one every three days.

For the first time, it was learned today, educators, ministers and alienists, thoroughly aroused, have joined forces in a concerted effort to fathom causes underlying this weird epidemic and to adopt measures to stamp it out.

Officials and faculty members of Chicago and Northwestern universities were known to be studying the situation. While officials refused any definite announcement concerning their plans they admitted the subject was being given serious study.

CRUCIFIXION SERMON TOPIC OF EVANGELIST

Vivid Picture of Calvary Presented by Dr. Knapp.

Crowd Attends Services at Methodist Protestant Church.

In an outstanding service emphasizing in sermon, song and testimony the part of the Cross in the salvation of human souls, several men and women accepted Christianity at the Methodist Protestant revival at the Jackson street church last evening.

Presenting a vivid picture of the Crucifixion occurrences, before and after, Dr. W. A. Knapp, the evangelist directing the meeting, held in rapt attention an audience that filled the congregation's auditorium. His text were the words: "They Came to a Place Called Calvary, There They Crucified Him."

"To have suffered such indignities Jesus Christ must have been a physical giant," he said. "He was no mollycoddle or sissy. Compared to his passing that by electric chair or the gallows pales into insignificance."

Despite the large attendance the fact was disclosed by the uplifted hands that practically 500 of the church's 500 members were not present, the gathering being augmented by those from other memberships or by them without affiliation. "I fear too many of you are not taking your religion seriously," commented the evangelist. "A revival is a patriotic, moral and social proposition even though it be nothing else for by it the entire community is benefited. If you subtract all revival efforts from a community it becomes skin-dead. Revivals are had in business, in politics and by social clubs. Benefits derived from them are noticeable. Even so are those in religion. Assuredly the entire membership of this church should now co-operate in this revival, for an uplift while bringing about the salvation of others without—the dominant purpose of every church."

An illuminated cross hung from the organ pipes back of the pulpit. Lights were dimmed as G. E. Vinaroff sang "Crucified." They were turned off again following the discourse as the appeal for a change of life was made.

"The Way of the Cross Leads Home" was sung fervently during the preliminary service when Mr. Vinaroff contributed also a medley of hymns on the miramba. The invocation was by Rev. A. H. O'Brien, pastor of the Baptist church.

"Friendship Night," when members are to bring one or more of their friends to the meeting was announced for this evening.

During the testimony period four persons were disclosed present who had been Christians for 50 years. A larger number admitted a forty, thirty, twenty and periods graduating to six months' tenure in religious activities.

Dr. Knapp declared the Cross to be the world's supreme tragedy, the place of its greatest blessing where hell boiled over and where the wrath and justice of God were exhibited in superlative degree.

At the conclusion of the service cards were passed out on which were spaces for signing "forward tendencies" of those receiving them.

Meetings will be held during the remaining nights of the week.

OHIO SALESMAN SHOT TO DEATH

Three Men are Held for Quiz at Newport, Ky.

NEWPORT, Ky., Feb. 2.—County officers today were holding three men for questioning in connection with the mysterious murder late last night of Louis C. Riley, 37, Cincinnati salesman.

Riley's body riddled with bullets, was found on the Licking road, six miles south of here.

Cincinnati police have been asked to check on the report that three men yesterday asked Riley to demonstrate an automobile to them, and that he kept the appointment last night.

The theory that robbery was a possible motive for the crime was discarded today when it was learned that the murdered man had but a small amount of money with him.

Several Persons Reported Injured In Studio Blast

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—A number of persons were reported injured today in an explosion which wrecked the two-story laboratory building on the Cello Film company's studio plot in West Fort Lee, N. J.

Early reports were to the effect that several persons are believed to be trapped in the burning wreckage. Ambulances were called from nearby towns.

Dry Legislation Thrown Overboard By House Members

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2. — All dry legislation for this session was thrown overboard today by the house ways and means committee.

The committee voted not to report the medicinal whisky bill sponsored by L. C. Andrews, dry chief, and then shelved other dry measures by appointing a sub-committee to study legislation to strengthen prohibition enforcement.

The committee's action may hasten the retirement of Andrews, who has said he wanted to remain in office only long enough to see his dry program enacted.

Donahey's Mesage

told the solons, "are for the protection of the public, hence the public should pay the bill, through general revenue fund appropriations. Payment of fees places these industries in the position of being employers of the department that regulate and supervise them."

Election Law Revision.

Touching on the subject of election law revision, the governor endorsed permanent registration of voters, easier recount of ballots, urged that voters be permitted to vote at primaries without disclosing their party affiliations, and recommended that the right of women voters to serve on political party committees be given statutory recognition, "so they may officially exercise the same authority as the male members of such committees."

Another recommendation by the governor was that the inter-county system of roads in Ohio be increased from 11,000 to 12,000 miles and that the limit on construction cost be raised from $3,000 per mile to $5,000.

The governor advocated legislation permitting revocation of conditional pardons and the return of violators to penal and correctional institutions in a manner similar to the present system of revoking paroles and returning parole violators.

Battle Against Crime.

"A crying need in society's battle against crime," said the governor, "is a more vigorous enforcement of the laws against carrying concealed weapons." Asserting that there should be "a way to gauge the penalty to fit the crime," he favored legislation defining degrees of robbery and fixing varying penalties to fit the grades. The governor endorsed the suggestion that "repeaters," guilty of major robberies, including looting banks, stealing payrolls, and committing robberies with revolvers, or other deadly weapons, be given life sentences.

Recommendation was made by Governor Donahey that the state director of education be authorized to supervise educational activities in all state institutions, to standardize courses and to elevate them to as high a plane as possible.

The governor endorsed abolition of road assessments against abutting property owners, except in cases where property owners petition for an assessment for a road which, otherwise, could not be financed.

Yellow Creek Narrows Plan.

Declaration was made by the governor that the federal government should be petitioned to assist the state and the counties, "to an extent greater than permitted by the present federal rules," in defraying the cost of constructing a grade and roadbed over the Shadyside-Powhatan narrows, Belmont county, and the Yellow Creek narrows, Jefferson county, as part of the Ohio river road.

The governor pointed out that this route, from Cincinnati to East Liverpool, nearly half of which is a section of the Atlantic and Pacific highway, is practically completed except for the above mentioned narrows, which were designated by Governor Donahey as "two difficult spots" where long detours through the hills are necessary.

Legislation requiring railroads to share in the cost of eliminating grade crossings by a change in alignment of the highway was favored by Donahey.

The solons were urged by the governor to accord friendly consideration to recommendations soon to be made by the governor's special committee of Spanish war and World war veterans who recently made a survey of conditions and needs at the Ohio soldiers' and sailors' home, Sandusky, and of the Ohio soldiers' and sailors' orphans' home, Xenia.

The governor, also, solicited the aid of the legislators in bringing about improvements at Ohio penitentiary recommended by a committee of eight Columbus physicians, chosen by the governor, which, some weeks ago, probed sanitary conditions at the big state prison.

Donahey stated that the importance of safeguarding the health of penitentiary prisoners "is equally applicable to all the penal, correctional and benevolent institutions of the state."

The legislators were urged by Governor Donahey to appoint a joint committee to cooperate with the state board of uniform state laws between legislative sessions, "with a view to the preparation and introduction of measures making uniform the laws of Ohio with the laws of other states, so far as practicable on similar subjects."

Donahey, also, declared the board was handicapped because existing law limits its expenditures to $5,000 annually. He urged that this limitation be removed, or raised to $10,000.

Recodification of Laws Urged.

"Scientific" recodification of the laws of the Buckeye state by a commission of competent attorneys was strongly urged by Governor Donahey. He called attention to the fact that there has been no recodification of these statutes since 1910. Since that time, he pointed out, volumirous legislation followed adoption of the Ohio constitutional amendments in 1912, each succeeding legislature grinding out its grist of hundreds of laws on all manner of subjects.

"Our present code is encumbered with many obsolete and archaic laws," declared the governor. "There are numerous conflicting statutes which should be reconciled and other complicated ones simplified.

"Every time a new municipal court is created, a voluminous special act is passed until now hundreds of pages of the code are devoted to detailed legislation governing the procedure of each of these local courts" Governor Donahey told the legislators.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Important developments in the proposed railroad mergers were foreshadowed by the spectacular advances in railroad shares in unusually heavy trading today. Meetings of the boards and special committees of Erie and Pere Marquette roads take place today, while resumption of the conferences between the Van Sweringens and the minority stockholders of Chesapeake and Ohio was also on the schedule.

With the opening gong on the stock exchange the excited buying of Wheeling and Lake Erie, Western Maryland, Erie, New Haven, Peoria and Eastern, Rock Island and other of the "merger rails" was promptly resumed. Wheeling and Lake Erie preferred, on which about 70 per cent in unpaid dividends has accumulated, raced up to 78¾ for a new gain of 4 points, while both of the Western Maryland issues gained 2 points.

Erie common and first preferred gained a point and New Haven 12 1-2 on buying attributed to railroad interests close to the managements of Pennsylvania railroad and Delaware and Hudson. Shorts in various railroad stocks were badly punished as the closely held and newly sensational issues forged ahead to unprecedented price levels as mystification about their real status increased. Meanwhile President Loree of Delaware and Hudson officially denied that he was purchasing Wheeling and Lake Erie stock.

shorten human life and wouldn't it be a good idea to be ready for it, and how can we be ready for it if we simply watch others getting ready.

IN PHILADELPHIA, police, to convict men of driving automobiles recklessly while drunk, will get evidence by blood tests. The blood shows how much alcohol a man has in him.

Those that drink whisky, the bootleg variety now flooding the country, would be interested in the effect of whisky on the blood. Among other things it discourages the leucocytes, destroys the power of the blood to heal wounds. The bootleg drinker would do well to insure his life. If anything happens to him necessitating an operation he is apt to go from the operating table to the undertaker.

SYBIL BAUER, swimming champion, died Monday, only 23 years old. She set a world's record for world's records in all, and her specialty was short races from 100 meters to one quarter of a mile.

The early death of this brilliant young woman is a warning against too violent exercise. Straining the heart means shortening life.

A SWISS inventor has made a clock alleged to solve the problem of perpetual motion, which of course it doesn't solve. The thing is wound up by variations in temperature. It has run for a year without being touched. That, however, isn't perpetual motion. This earth will get cold, our atmosphere will vanish and at the ether's temperature, "absolute zero," that clock won't run. Nothing is "perpetual" except divine justice.

ate referendum vote of the membership to authorize it to bargain terms with the operators in an endeavor to obtain an agreement for not less than $7.50 a day.

No mention was made of the six-hour day and five-day week.

Another recommendation was that all contracts in the bituminous districts run concurrently and expire on the same date.

John Brophy, of Clearfield, Pa., recognized as head of the radical element in the miners' union, took the platform to address the convention just before noon.

Brophy mentioned the possibility of a general strike developing as the result of the probable rejection by the operators of the wage scale committee's demands.

"The committee's report should be altered so as to appeal more to non-union men to join the organization," Brophy urged. "It is a sad fact but a fact nevertheless that 65 per cent of the bituminous coal is mined by non-union men. We should do something to strengthen the union membership for the coming clash."

AKRON REVIVES WHIPPING POST

Judge Administers 20 Lashes to Alleged Wife Beater.

AKRON, Feb. 2.—The whipping post has been revived in Ohio—if not officially, at least effectively.

Irked by the repeated appearances in police court here of John Caves, 40, alleged wife beater, Municipal Judge E. E. Zesiger late yesterday personally administered 20 lashes, after passing sentence on the prisoner.

The whipping was conducted in a cell at police headquarters. Judge Zesiger used an 18-inch section of garden hose.

"I guess I smacked him at least 20 times across the seat of his breeches with the flexible hose,' the judge declared after carrying out his own sentence. "Caves blubbered like a school boy and promised to behave himself in the future. Then I released him."

Judge Zesiger is a firm advocate of a law providing the lash for wife beaters.

GROUNDHOG DAY DANCE AT PARK

A capacity crowd is expected to attend the Groundhog Day dance, which will be given by employes of the Homer Laughlin pottery, members of their families and friends at Virginia Gardens, at Rock Springs park, tonight.

Dan Gregory's Victor Recording band, which is playing a three-day engagement at the park, pleased a fair sized crowd last evening. This band will also play for the Laughlin dance tonight and for another public dance, which will be held Thursday night. The Demar Miller band, of this city, made up of 10 musicians will have charge of the music for the Saturday night dance.

Five dances will be held at the park next week, the only open night being Monday. Pete Sullivan's Palace Royal Orchestra, formerly of South Bend, Ind., will play Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. Employes of the Knowles, Taylor & Knowles pottery have leased the pavilion for Wednesday evening, having engaged Rav Sapiro's Knights of Rythm, of Beaver Falls, to render the music.

Manager C. C. Macdonald, of the park, announced today that Oliver Naylor's Victor Recording band, another noted musical organization, would appear there on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, February 15, 16 and 17.

WORK LAUNCHED ON NEW OFFICE

Room Will be Occupied by Hancock County Loan Company.

Work was begun this week on the new room for the Hancock County Building and Loan company in the First National bank building, Third street and Carolina avenue. The contract is held by the Finley Brothers company of Chester. It is expected to be completed and ready for occupancy in 60 days.

The room, which was formerly occupied by the Merschrod and Taylor grocery company will be completely remodeled and fitted up in modern style adapted for banking purposes Hallway will connect with the First National bank located on the corner.

Steadily increasing business resulted in the decision on the part of the directors to establish a separate office for the loan company. It is the largest institution of its kind in the state and at the first of the year paid out large dividends to the stockholders.

LEE GIVES RULING ON BOND CASE

Failure of John C. Bond to return from the state institution at Huntington where he is now undergoing treatment in time for the trial March 16 in the impeachment case against him would not prevent the senate from proceeding with the trial, Attorney General Lee said yesterday. Unlike a criminal case, it is not necessary for him to be present, although he has that privilege.

Should Dr. L. V. Guthrie, head of the hospital and a widely recognized authority, send a certificate that Bond's illness was such as would prevent him from performing the duties of state auditor, the senate could try him on the incompetence charge included in the impeachment case and take its action on that charge.

A certificate from the physician that he was suffering from a nervous illness would cause postponement of the criminal charges against him in court, but he could be tried at a later date if he recovered. Should the physician, however, certify that he had been suffering from nervous disorders three or four years ago at the time of the alleged criminal acts a jury might consider this as relieving the former auditor from the criminal charges.

ETHEL PRESCOTT, AGED 24, DIES

Ethel Venumn Prescott, 24 years old, died today in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Venumn, back of Chester, after a two years' illness.

Besides her parents she is survived by two brothers and one sister: Earl, Baltimore, Md.; Clarence and June, both at home.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, in charge of Rev. B. R. Johnson, pastor of the First Church of Christ, East Liverpool. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery, East Liverpool.

CLASS MEETING IS SCHEDULED

Members of the Loyal Sons class of the First Christian church will meet tomorrow night at the home of Percy Willison.

The class has arranged for the showing of a benefit picture in the Lincoln theatre on February 11. Proceeds will be used toward purchasing a new bell for the church.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy cheeks—sparkling eyes—most women can have. Dr. F. M. Edwards for 20 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave his patients a substitute for calomel made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—now and then to keep fit. 15c, 30c and 60c.

FRUIT GROWING SCHOOL PLANNED

Following the successful school in fruit growing held during 1926 plans for a second school to be held at Inwood, Berkeley county, February 8 and 8, have been formulated.

Subjects particularly timely will be discussed and demonstrations will be given in the nearby orchards, illustrating various orchard practices. A number of specialists from the college of agriculture will be present to lead in the discussions and demonstrations.

Professor H. L. Crane will discuss the effects of planting distance on tree growth and yield; soil management; and the relation of pruning to yield and quality of fruit.

HOG CONTEST PLANS FORMED

West Virginia's first official ton litter project will be held in 1927 under the direction of the agricultural extension service and the animal husbandry department of West Virginia university in cooperation with the West Virginia Livestock association and the swine registry associations.

Any farmer or any boy or girl who is 15 years of age or older may enroll for the project, provided he will agree to observe the rules of the contest. All enrollments must be made between March 1 and June 1, 1927. The project has been outlined in response to a request made by the West Virginia Livestock association at its annual meeting held at Morgantown during Farmers' Week.

Each litter will be allowed 180 days in which to make its weight. Premiums will be offered for the heaviest litters. The object of the project is to find out the most profitable method of producing and feeding hogs for market and home use.

Each litter of pigs entered in the contest must be ear-marked within seven days after birth, and a certified report of this marking together with the date of farrowing and number of boars and sows in the litter, must be forwarded to the county agent or to Benjamin F. Creech, extension animal husbandman, Morgantown, W. Va.

WORK LAUNCHED ON NEW OFFICE

Room Will be Occupied by Hancock County Loan Company.

Work was begun this week on the new room for the Hancock County Building and Loan company in the First National bank building, Third street and Carolina avenue. The contract is held by the Finley Brothers company of Chester. It is expected to be completed and ready for occupancy in 60 days.

The room, which was formerly occupied by the Merschrod and Taylor grocery company will be completely remodeled and fitted up in modern style adapted for banking purposes Hallway will connect with the First National bank located on the corner.

Steadily increasing business resulted in the decision on the part of the directors to establish a separate office for the loan company. It is the largest institution of its kind in the state and at the first of the year paid out large dividends to the stockholders.

LEE GIVES RULING ON BOND CASE

Failure of John C. Bond to return from the state institution at Huntington where he is now undergoing treatment in time for the trial March 16 in the impeachment case against him would not prevent the senate from proceeding with the trial, Attorney General Lee said yesterday. Unlike a criminal case, it is not necessary for him to be present, although he has that privilege.

Should Dr. L. V. Guthrie, head of the hospital and a widely recognized authority, send a certificate that Bond's illness was such as would prevent him from performing the duties of state auditor, the senate could try him on the incompetence charge included in the impeachment case and take its action on that charge.

A certificate from the physician that he was suffering from a nervous illness would cause postponement of the criminal charges against him in court, but he could be tried at a later date if he recovered. Should the physician, however, certify that he had been suffering from nervous disorders three or four years ago at the time of the alleged criminal acts a jury might consider this as relieving the former auditor from the criminal charges.

ETHEL PRESCOTT, AGED 24, DIES

Ethel Venumn Prescott, 24 years old, died today in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Venumn, back of Chester, after a two years' illness.

Besides her parents she is survived by two brothers and one sister: Earl, Baltimore, Md.; Clarence and June, both at home.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, in charge of Rev. B. R. Johnson, pastor of the First Church of Christ, East Liverpool. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery, East Liverpool.

CLASS MEETING IS SCHEDULED

Members of the Loyal Sons class of the First Christian church will meet tomorrow night at the home of Percy Willison.

The class has arranged for the showing of a benefit picture in the Lincoln theatre on February 11. Proceeds will be used toward purchasing a new bell for the church.

Road Work Progressing.

Work is progressing on the grading and draining of the five-mile stretch of the Lincoln highway between Chester and the Pennsylvania state line. The contract is held by a Clarksburg contracting firm.

Church Boards Meets.

Members of the official board of the First Methodist Episcopal church met in regular session last night in the church. Routine business was transacted.

Fancywork Club Meets.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy cheeks—sparkling eyes—most women can have. Dr. F. M. Edwards for 20 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave his patients a substitute for calomel made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—now and then to keep fit. 15c, 30c and 60c.

FRUIT GROWING SCHOOL PLANNED

Following the successful school in fruit growing held during 1926 plans for a second school to be held at Inwood, Berkeley county, February 8 and 8, have been formulated.

SOLICITOR TO ACT IN SUITS AGAINST CITY

Council Confers Authority in Three Civil Cases.

INCREASE LIGHTS

Names of Prospective Assessors are Listed.

Solicitor S. C. Luccock last night was authorized by council to "take whatever action may be necessary to protect the city" in three civil suits now pending in common pleas court against the municipality—namely, the Mae Sheppard, L. W. Merical and J. H. Fultz cases.

Two resolutions were necessary to confer the authority on the solicitor.

The first resolution, naming the Sheppard and Merical suits, was approved by council unanimously and was passed as an emergency measure under suspended rules.

The Fultz resolution was defeated when voted upon as an emergency, Councilmen Connor and Swearingen voting against it, and subsequently passed, 5 to 2, on first reading.

Three more lights were added to the city's service system by council, including one at Fifth and Broadway, one at Second and Lisbon, and one in Buckeye avenue between Twelfth and Fourteenth streets.

As a way out of the dilemma in which power company workmen have found themselves as a result of protests lodged against the erection of equipment necessary to place lights along Riverside below Ninth, Mayor W. L. Fogo suggested that the wiring could be done from the alley in the rear and that the street and light committee confer with power company officials on the matter.

Clerk George Hardman was instructed to notify the telephone company to have a representative at the next meeting, with authority to make a definite decision in respect to the company's franchise

A lengthy report of the city health department's activities through 1926 was received and placed on file by the solons. The report revealed statistics on births, deaths, sanitation, health activities in the schools and other similar details.

In response to a request by County Auditor Elmer Walker, council named eight local citizens as prospective assessors here. The school board was asked to name eight also and from the list, the auditor will make the final selections.

First ward nominations were G. B. Imbrie and W. E Ward; Second ward, John McCord and B. D. Beacom; Third ward, Ben Rahter and Charles Donaldson; Fourth ward, A. J. White and W. E. Smith.

SALINEVILLE

The following persons from Salineville attended the banquet at the Westminster Presbyterian church, Steubenville, Monday evening: Rev. W. S. Martin, Allen Maple, Charles Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Ashbaugh and Mrs. Martha Patterson. The dinner was served in connection with the campaign for the church's "Service Pension Fund." The Presbytery is asked to pledge $88,204. H. D. Winteringer, of Steubenville, is the presbyterial chairman and S. B. Larkins, of Salineville, is the chairman of District No. 6, with the following churches, Irondale, Bethesda, Salineville, and Monroeville. Allen Maple is chairman at the Salineville church: Fred Morrow at the Monroeville church.

James W. Ogle, aged 74, died at his home three miles east of Salineville Monday. He had spent all of his life in this community save 18 in Cleveland. Mr. Ogle was an employee of the Pennsylvania Railway company for more than fifty years, and was retired on a pension about two years ago. He is survived by his wife, and three children, Marshall Ogle, Mrs. Ruth Leipart, and Miss Esther Ogle, all of Cleveland; four sisters, Mrs. Barbara Laman, Alliance; Mrs. Elizabeth Hunter, of Lakewood; Mrs. Margaret Kerr, Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Mary Baker, East Salineville and one brother, Rodney Ogle, near Salineville.

The funeral services was held at the home of his sister, Mrs. Baker, this afternoon in charge of Rev. H. L. Peoples, pastor of the Methodist church. Interment was made in the Woodland cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. McCormick, of Congo, W. Va., Mr. and Mrs. Grover Miller, of Lisbon, and Miss Marie Donaldson, and brother Charles, of Wellsville, were Sunday visitors at Attorney and Mrs. S. E. McCormick's home.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Donaldson of Wellsville, and Mrs. Effie Donaldson of Louisville, were guests of Miss Ida Madison and brothers Sunday.

Miss Mary Carey and Miss Catherine Smith, who are employed in Canton, were visiting home folks Sunday.

Saturday evening the basketball teams from Fairfield will meet the local high school teams at Addison's hall. Salineville girls' team was defeated by the Fairfield girls at Fairfield. The girls' team is working hard to avenge this defeat and two interesting and exciting contests are expected.

Mrs. John Overbaugh, of Main street, has returned from a visit with friends in Cleveland.

WILL REPAIR DAMAGED ROAD

Holes in Highway Temporarily Filled With Asphalt.

Permanent repairs will be made to the Wellsville-East Liverpool road as soon as weather permits, Supt. Keltner of the state highway department announced at the Lisbon office today. About 60 feet of the recently paved road was damaged by a rock slide Sunday night. The road will be kept in temporary repair until spring by the highway department.

GIRLS' FRIENDLY CLUB ORGANIZED

Organization of the Girls' Friendly club was effected at a recent meeting of 13 members here. The club will meet twice a month with Miss Jennie Perry, American Sheet & Tin Plate plant nurse, as councilor.

Officers were named as follows: President, Anna Horner; secretary, Lena Gauvia; publicity director, Kathleen Cooper.

The following girls are members: Fanny Angelo, Hazel Bell, Kathleen Cooper, Lena Gauvia, Mary David, Mary Dunholm, Laura Dunholm, Anna Horner, Sara Matthews, Daisy Newlan, Esther Newlan, Eleanor Puch and Vivian Rager.

Girls' Team Loses.

The local colored girls' basketball team was defeated by the East Liverpool sextet, 10 to 9, in a recent clash on the M. E. court.

Arrangements are being made to play two games with Steubenville, the first at Steubenville February 4 and the return match here on a later date.

Mrs. Fred Lowary Ill.

Mrs. Fred Lowary, First street, is confined to her home by an attack of tonsilitis and grip.

KRAUSE NAMED ON AUTO CLUB

Made District Director at Session Here.

Wellsville members of the Columbiana County Motor club, at their annual district meeting last night in the city hall building, elected Charles J. Krause, local automobile dealer, as the city's representative on the club's board of directors.

Mr. Krause will qualify for the post and will appoint four members who will serve with him as members of the Wellsville division advisory board during his administration.

The club went on record as in favor of a request that the county commissioners provide for the building of a guard fence along Spring Hill on the Wellsville-Salineville road at an early date.

Careless Washing Spoils the Hair

The simple hair styles of to-day make beautiful hair a necessity.

Luckily, beautiful hair is now easily obtained. It is simply a matter of shampooing.

Proper shampooing makes the hair soft and silky. It brings out all the real life and lustre, all the natural wave and color, and leaves it fresh looking, glossy and bright.

While your hair must have frequent and regular washing to keep it beautiful, it cannot stand the harsh effect of ordinary soaps. The free alkali in ordinary soaps soon dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it.

That is why discriminating women, everywhere, now use Mulsified Cocoanut Oil Shampoo. This clear, pure and entirely greaseless product brings out all the real beauty of the hair and cannot possibly injure.

Two or three teaspoonfuls is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather which cleanses thoroughly and rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

It leaves the hair soft and easy to manage and makes it fairly sparkle with new life, gloss and lustre.

You can get Mulsified Cocoanut Oil Shampoo at any drug store.

WOMAN PASTOR HERE TONIGHT

Ohio Farmer Thanks Tanlac

Escapes From Serious Condition Caused by Nervousness, Gastritis, Loss of Sleep, Strength, Health Restored. Gains 12 Pounds.

John F. Meighen, now residing at 1309 Leonard street, Dayton, Ohio, recently said: "For 2 or 3 years before taking Tanlac I was always ailing. I lost weight, felt weak. And my stomach caused great suffering, especially after lunch and dinner. And I never slept soundly. My nights were restless hours of tossing and turning.

"I had to force food into my stomach and then would be tormented by sharp pains. Gas forming in the stomach, bloated me, made me belch.

"I read of what Tanlac had done for so many people and began taking it. This tonic cleaned out my system, toned up my liver. I eat everything now without a sign of trouble and sleep like a child. I feel stronger and better than I have in many years, thanks to Tanlac."

Tanlac, nature's own remedy made from roots, barks and herbs, is sold by your druggist Get your first bottle today — and enjoy strength and good health! Over 40 million bottles sold.

SOLICITOR TO ACT IN SUITS AGAINST CITY

Council Confers Authority in Three Civil Cases.

INCREASE LIGHTS

Names of Prospective Assessors are Listed.

Solicitor S. C. Luccock last night was authorized by council to "take whatever action may be necessary to protect the city" in three civil suits now pending in common pleas court against the municipality—namely, the Mae Sheppard, L. W. Merical and J. H. Fultz cases.

Two resolutions were necessary to confer the authority on the solicitor.

The first resolution, naming the Sheppard and Merical suits, was approved by council unanimously and was passed as an emergency measure under suspended rules.

The Fultz resolution was defeated when voted upon as an emergency. Councilmen Connor and Swearingen voting against it, and subsequently passed, 5 to 2, on first reading.

Three more lights were added to the city's service system by council, including one at Fifth and Broadway, one at Second and Lisbon, and one in Buckeye avenue between Twelfth and Fourteenth streets.

As a way out of the dilemma in which power company workmen have found themselves as a result of protests lodged against the erection of equipment necessary to place lights along Riverside below Ninth, Mayor W. L. Fogo suggested that the wiring could be done from the alley in the rear and that the street and light committee confer with power company officials on the matter.

Clerk George Hardman was instructed to notify the telephone company to have a representative at the next meeting, with authority to make a definite decision in respect to the company's franchise

A lengthy report of the city health department's activities through 1926 was received and placed on file by the solons. The report revealed statistics on births, deaths, sanitation, health activities in the schools and other similar details.

In response to a request by County Auditor Elmer Walker, council named eight local citizens as prospective assessors here. The school board was asked to name eight also and from the list, the auditor will make the final selections.

First ward nominations were G. B. Imbrie and W. E Ward; Second ward, John McCord and B. D. Beacom; Third ward, Ben Rahter and Charles Donaldson; Fourth ward, A. J. White and W. E. Smith.

SALINEVILLE

The following persons from Salineville attended the banquet at the Westminster Presbyterian church, Steubenville, Monday evening: Rev. W. S. Martin, Allen Maple, Charles Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Ashbaugh and Mrs. Martha Patterson. The dinner was served in connection with the campaign for the church's "Service Pension Fund." The Presbytery is asked to pledge $88,204. H. D. Winteringer, of Steubenville, is the presbyterial chairman and S. B. Larkins, of Salineville, is the chairman of District No. 6, with the following churches, Irondale, Bethesda, Salineville, and Monroeville. Allen Maple is chairman at the Salineville church: Fred Morrow at the Monroeville church.

James W. Ogle, aged 74, died at his home three miles east of Salineville Monday. He had spent all of his life in this community save 18 in Cleveland. Mr. Ogle was an employee of the Pennsylvania Railway company for more than fifty years, and was retired on a pension about two years ago. He is survived by his wife, and three children, Marshall Ogle, Mrs. Ruth Leipart, and Miss Esther Ogle, all of Cleveland; four sisters, Mrs. Barbara Laman, Alliance; Mrs. Elizabeth Hunter, of Lakewood; Mrs. Margaret Kerr, Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Mary Baker, East Salineville and one brother, Rodney Ogle, near Salineville.

The funeral services was held at the home of his sister, Mrs. Baker, this afternoon in charge of Rev. H. L. Peoples, pastor of the Methodist church. Interment was made in the Woodland cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. McCormick, of Congo, W. Va., Mr. and Mrs. Grover Miller, of Lisbon, and Miss Marie Donaldson, and brother Charles, of Wellsville, were Sunday visitors at Attorney and Mrs. S. E. McCormick's home.

Careless Washing Spoils the Hair

The simple hair styles of to-day make beautiful hair a necessity.

Luckily, beautiful hair is now easily obtained. It is simply a matter of shampooing.

Proper shampooing makes the hair soft and silky. It brings out all the real life and lustre, all the natural wave and color, and leaves it fresh looking, glossy and bright.

While your hair must have frequent and regular washing to keep it beautiful, it cannot stand the harsh effect of ordinary soaps. The free alkali in ordinary soaps soon dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it.

That is why discriminating women, everywhere, now use Mulsified Cocoanut Oil Shampoo. This clear, pure and entirely greaseless product brings out all the real beauty of the hair and cannot possibly injure.

Two or three teaspoonfuls is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather which cleanses thoroughly and rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

It leaves the hair soft and easy to manage and makes it fairly sparkle with new life, gloss and lustre.

You can get Mulsified Cocoanut Oil Shampoo at any drug store.

The Little White Hag

BY FRANCIS BEEDING

©BY LITTLE, BROWN and CO. RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

CHAPTER TWENTY-NINE.

For a moment there was complete silence while Baldassare stood motionless, the handkerchief in his fingers, facing the Center, whose hand was still raised to strike the gong.

Then the Center dropped his hand.

"Show me handkerchief," he said to Baldassare.

Baldassare approached, and the Center took the handkerchief from his hands, laying down the hammer of the gong on the table as he did so.

He scrutinized the small square of cambric carefully. Then he rapped out an order to the butler standing beside him. The man bowed and left the room.

I knew instinctively that this was the real handkerchief and I wondered hopelessly what this new development might mean. Had Claypole been captured by the gang, or had they somehow intercepted the packet which I had addressed to him? In any case, he had failed; that was obvious.

Nevertheless, my feelings during those first few minutes were of relief more than anything else. Fate had intervened to save me from the ghastly decision with which I had been faced.

The butler shortly reappeared, a silver salver in his hand, on which was a magnifying glass. He bowed and handed it to the Center, who took it and by means of it silently examined the handkerchief. Presently he raised his head and turned round.

"Good," he said to Baldassare. "This true article. We not proceed further with regrettable scene."

Then he turned to me, with his unchanging smile:

"I not sorry, Mr. Quexter," he began affably, "that so interesting experiment be broken off. I honorable man and not like to cause great agonies to human frame. On contrary, I have mission to prevent suffering and help poor, miserable mankind forget troubles."

He paused, presumably expecting me to make some remark, but I could think of nothing suitable.

"One day, Mr. Quexter," he continued, "I know you better and explain you my philosophy, but at moment we expect report of excellent Baldassare on man from New York, though first I cause inconvenience of handcuffs to be removed."

He signed to the two Japanese, who were still standing passively on either side of me. They fumbled behind my back for a moment, and I felt their deft fingers upon my wrists. A moment later there was a click and my hands were free.

"Now you sit down on convenient chair, and we hear all about handkerchief," said Mr. Center.

Almost mechanically I found myself seated in a chair beside the little Japanese. Baldassare still stood before us like an overgrown schoolboy, his soft felt hat clutched in his hand. The two servants and the butler had left the room, and the three of us were now alone.

"Now," said the Center. "We listen to your important story, Signor Marce."

Thus encouraged, Baldassare, squinting more violently than ever in his excitement, began.

"In accordance with your excellency's instructions," he said, "Q. 2 and L. 29 kept the man from New York under observation last Tuesday and Wednesday. While I was effecting the arrest of this person," and he indicated me, "the other American engaged with the police, who were proceeding to our Bellevue post. L. 29 reports that they ransacked the place, but we had been careful to leave nothing behind which could be used as evidence against us."

The Center nodded.

"The American next went to a small house in the old town which was apparently his headquarters. We watched the house, but in conformity with Your Excellency's orders, made no attempt to arrest or interfere with him. He did not leave that house until Wednesday night late, about midnight in fact, when he proceeded through the town towards the electric power station which is situated—as Your Excellency probably remembers—in the middle of the Pont de la Machine. He stood in the center of the bridge for some time, gazing at the river, which runs very swiftly at that spot.

"While our men were wondering what had brought him there, he suddenly began to behave very strangely indeed. He walked restlessly up and down the bridge for several minutes, muttering loudly to himself. Then presently he was seen to climb the railings and cast himself into the stream.

"On observing this, Q. 2 and L. 29 at once hurried to the house in the old town, which they in truth found to have been occupied by the American. Searching his effects they found this document."

At this point Baldassre handed the Japanese a folded sheet of paper.

I listened to the narrative with growing horror. What in the world had been happening to the merry, true-hearted Cyrus Claypole in my absence?

"Continue," said the Center calmly, picking up the paper.

"On the next day, that is to say this morning, L. 29 proceeded to the electric light works situated on the borders of the Rhone at some short distance from the village of Vernier. It is there, your excellency, that most corpses are recovered from the Rhone, since a concrete dam divides the stream at that point. L. 29 assisted in dragging operations which resulted in the discovery of the body of the American, and he contrived to examine the pockets of the corpse. He found in them the handkerchief, which he forwarded immediately to me and which I had the honor to give to you a few minutes ago."

"This most interesting narrative," said the little Japanese. "You quite sure it was Mr. Claypole?"

"Quite," replied Baldassare. "The body is now lying at the Morgue, but the paper and clothes found on it leave no doubt as to the identity. The head was badly battered, but this was only natural, as the Rhone is a swift stream and there are many natural obstacles against which the body would strike in its passage."

The Center turned sharply to me.

"Have you theory," he asked, "to account for deplorable fate of your so recently deceased friend?"

I had listened astounded to the story, and my brain repeated vaguely, "Claypole is dead. What shall I do? Claypole is dead." I looked blankly at the little Japanese.

"None whatever," I said, "I can't believe it."

"Then you very foolish man," replied the Center, "after all that Signor Marce has told us."

"The handkerchief was found on his body," interposed Marce.

"The letter," I said dully, pointing to the sheet of paper in the hand of the Japanese. "Perhaps that will explain."

The Center handed the paper to me.

"Letter addressed to you, Mr. Quexter."

I took the paper mechanically and unfolded it. It was covered with hasty pencil scrawl, and this is what I read:

I just can't explain, but it's all up. I guess I'm a quitter. They got Harold Lynch and Charlie Malone and now they've got you. My turn is coming fast. It's only a question of hours, and I can't face what they did to poor Charlie. I don't suppose you'll ever see this, but before I go I got to thank you for all your help and to say I'm blamed sorry for what I let you in for. Guess we'll meet again in that undiscovered country from whose bourne no traveler returns.

Cyrus P. Claypole.

I laid down the paper with a shaking hand and heard, as through a mist, the Center saying in a tone which was almost reverential:

"Claypole honorable man. Yess, He no support stain on personal honor by superior cleverness of my organization, so he commit harakiri, in true Japanese spirit. May he find peace."

And there the little Japanese rose to his feet and, fixing his eyes on a picture of the Mikado hanging upon the wall, bowed low and ceremoniously as a tribute to my dead friend.

My thoughts went mechanically to a book I had once read on the customs of Japan, in which it related that a Japanese Samurai whose honor was defiled was accustomed, if he failed to avenge himself, to commit suicide rather than continue to live. Claypole's action, which had seemed to me inexplicable madness was, therefore, an act of high courage and moral worth in the eyes of the little Japanese.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Count Bethlen Plans To Consult Mussolini On Choice of King

BUDAPEST.—When Premier Count Bethlem, visits Mussolini in Rome at the end of February, it is believed the object of his journey will be the choice of an Hungarian king.

The two dictators have been in close touch for several months, especially since the last league council meeting at Geneva.

The ostensible cause of the visit is a discussion on the question of a free port for Hungary on the Adriatic and a number of other commercial questions. The actual cause is a solution of Hungary's monarchial question, which the Little Entente's post-was political manoeuvers have placed for an absolute decision in the hands of Count Bethlen.

The general expectation is that Count Bethlem intends to place the Hapsburg Archduke Albrecht on the Hungary throne, with some Italian princess as queen, thus cementing the friendship between the two countries.

Egypt is working on a plan to learn the number of automobiles in that country.

Hawaiian Serenaders Head Denny Film Bill at Ceramic

Pacific Song Bird and Seven Others Appear in Filmusical Novelty and Feature for Three Days.

The Mary Garden of the Pacific Isles is the sobriquet given by American tourists to the featured soloist with the Imperial Hawaiian Serenaders who play and sing the entire musical accompaniment to the super-travelogue "A Trip to the Hawaiian Islands" which will be featured in conjunction Reginald Denny in his first Universal super comedy at the Ceramic theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The Pacific song bird, one of eight serenaders, is said to possess a voice of magnificent range and rich timbre fully capable of coping with the demands of grand opera. Her singing in the filmusical presentation, "A Trip to the Hawaiian Islands," though limited to the simple but rythmic songs of her native land, has yet been able to captivate the most fastidious of musical critics with its unmistakable suggestion of exotic personality.

"A Trip to the Hawaiian Islands," in which the Ceramic theatre presents this musical phenomena to the music loving people of East Liverpool is said to be one of the most colorful combination stage and screen presentations ever offered to theatre-goers.

"Take It From Me," Denny's latest starring production, an unusually large cast, bristling with well-known names.

Blanche Mehaffey, who made such a hit in "His People," "A Woman of the World," and "The Runaway Express," plays the feminine lead. Jean Tolley, star of "The Uninvited Guest" and other productions, has a prominent role.

Lee Moran, former two-reel comedy star of the "Lyons and Moran" team, and Ben Hendricks, Jr., popular leading man, have roles almost as important as that of the star.

Ethel Wales, prominent character actress, Lucien Littlefield, featured in many big productions, Tom O'Brien of "Big Parade" fame, Vera Lewis, Frances Dale, Bertram Johns and others are also in the cast.

"Take It From Me" is a screen version of the New York musical comedy success of the same name, written by Will B. Johnstone and Will R. Anderson. Harvey Thew wrote the screen adaptation.

THE FIGGERS FAMILY — "Et Tu, Brute?" — By VEP

The Little White Hag

BY FRANCIS BEEDING

©BY LITTLE, BROWN and CO. RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

CHAPTER TWENTY-NINE.

For a moment there was complete silence while Baldassare stood motionless, the handkerchief in his fingers, facing the Center, whose hand was still raised to strike the gong.

Then the Center dropped his hand. "Show me handkerchief," he said to Baldassare.

Baldassare approached, and the Center took the handkerchief from his hands, laying down the hammer of the gong on the table as he did so.

He scrutinized the small square of cambric carefully. Then he rapped out an order to the butler standing beside him. The man bowed and left the room.

I knew instinctively that this was the real handkerchief and I wondered hopelessly what this new development might mean. Had Claypole been captured by the gang, or had they somehow intercepted the packet which I had addressed to him? In any case, he had failed; that was obvious.

Nevertheless, my feelings during those first few minutes were of relief more than anything else. Fate had intervened to save me from the ghastly decision with which I had been faced.

The butler shortly reappeared, a salver salver in his hand, on which was a magnifying glass. He bowed and handed it to the Center, who took it and by means of it silently examined the handkerchief. Presently he raised his head and turned round.

"Good," he said to Baldassare. "This true article. We not proceed further with regrettable scene."

Then he turned to me, with his unchanging smile:

"I not sorry, Mr. Quexter," he began affably, "that so interesting experiment be broken off. I honorable man and not like to cause great agonies to human frame. On contrary, I have mission to prevent suffering and help poor, miserable mankind forget troubles."

He paused, presumably expecting me to make some remark, but I could think of nothing suitable.

"One day, Mr. Quexter," he continued, "I know you better and explain you my philosophy, but at moment we expect report of excellent Baldassare on man from New York, though first I cause inconvenience of handcuffs to be removed."

He signed to the two Japanese, who were still standing passively on either side of me. They fumbled behind my back for a moment, and I felt their deft fingers upon my wrists. A moment later there was a click and my hands were free.

"Now you sit down on convenient chair, and we hear all about handkerchief," said Mr. Center.

Almost mechanically I found myself seated in a chair beside the little Japanese. Baldassare still stood before us like an overgrown schoolboy, his soft felt hat clutched in his hand. The two servants and the butler had left the room, and the three of us were now alone.

"Now," said the Center. "We listen to your important story, Signor Marce."

Thus encouraged, Baldassare, squinting more violently than ever in his excitement, began.

"In accordance with your excellency's instructions," he said, "Q. 2 and L. 29 kept the man from New York under observation last Tuesday and Wednesday. While I was effecting the arrest of this person," and he indicated me, "the other American engaged with the police, who were proceeding to our Bellevue post. L. 29 reports that they ransacked the place, but we had been careful to leave nothing behind which could be used as evidence against us."

The Center nodded.

"The American next went to a small house in the old town which was apparently his headquarters. We watched the house, but in conformity with Your Excellency's orders, made no attempt to arrest or interfere with him. He did not leave that house until Wednesday night late, about midnight in fact, when he proceeded through the town towards the electric power station which is situated—as Your Excellency probably remembers—in the middle of the Pont de la Machine. He stood in the center of the bridge for some time, gazing at the river, which runs very swiftly at that spot.

"While our men were wondering what had brought him there, he suddenly began to behave very strangely indeed. He walked restlessly up and down the bridge for several minutes, muttering loudly to himself. Then presently he was seen to climb the railings and cast himself into the stream.

"On observing this, Q. 2 and L. 29 at once hurried to the house in the old town, which they in truth found to have been occupied by the American. Searching his effects they found this document."

At this point Baldassre handed the Japanese a folded sheet of paper.

I listened to the narrative with growing horror. What in the world had been happening to the merry, true-hearted Cyrus Claypole in my absence?

"Continue," said the Center calmly, picking up the paper.

"On the next day, that is to say this morning, L. 29 proceeded to the electric light works situated on the borders of the Rhone at some short distance from the village of Vernier. It is there, your excellency, that most corpses are recovered from the Rhone, since a concrete dam divides the stream at that point. L. 29 assisted in dragging operations which resulted in the discovery of the body of the American, and he contrived to examine the pockets of the corpse. He found in them the handkerchief, which he forwarded immediately to me and which I had the honor to give to you a few minutes ago."

"This most interesting narrative," said the little Japanese. "You quite sure it was Mr. Claypole?"

"Quite," replied Baldassare. "The body is now lying at the Morgue, but the paper and clothes found on it leave no doubt as to the identity. The head was badly battered, but this was only natural, as the Rhone is a swift stream and there are many natural obstacles against which the body would strike in its passage."

The Center turned sharply to me.

"Have you theory," he asked, "to account for deplorable fate of your so recently deceased friend?"

I had listened astounded to the story, and my brain repeated vaguely, "Claypole is dead. What shall I do? Claypole is dead." I looked blankly at the little Japanese.

"None whatever," I said, "I can't believe it."

"Then you very foolish man," replied the Center, "after all that Signor Marce has told us."

"The handkerchief was found on his body," interposed Marce.

"The letter," I said dully, pointing to the sheet of paper in the hand of the Japanese. "Perhaps that will explain."

The Center handed the paper to me.

"Letter addressed to you, Mr. Quexter."

I took the paper mechanically and unfolded it. It was covered with hasty pencil scrawl, and this is what I read:

I just can't explain, but it's all up. I guess I'm a quitter. They got Harold Lynch and Charlie Malone and now they've got you. My turn is coming fast. It's only a question of hours, and I can't face what they did to poor Charlie. I don't suppose you'll ever see this, but before I go I got to thank you for all your help and to say I'm blamed sorry for what I let you in for. Guess we'll meet again in that undiscovered country from whose bourne no traveler returns.

Cyrus P. Claypole.

I laid down the paper with a shaking hand and heard, as through a mist, the Center saying in a tone which was almost reverential:

"Claypole honorable man. Yess. He no support stain on personal honor by superior cleverness of my organization, so he commit harakiri, in true Japanese spirit. May he find peace."

And there the little Japanese rose to his feet and, fixing his eyes on a picture of the Mikado hanging upon the wall, bowed low and ceremoniously as a tribute to my dead friend.

My thoughts went mechanically to a book I had once read on the customs of Japan, in which it related that a Japanese Samurai whose honor was defiled was accustomed, if he failed to avenge himself, to commit suicide rather than continue to live. Claypole's action, which had seemed to me inexplicable madness was, therefore, an act of high courage and moral worth in the eyes of the little Japanese.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Count Bethlen Plans To Consult Mussolini On Choice of King

BUDAPEST.—When Premier Count Bethlem, visits Mussolini in Rome at the end of February, it is believed the object of his journey will be the choice of an Hungarian king.

The two dictators have been in close touch for several months, especially since the last league council meeting at Geneva.

The ostensible cause of the visit is a discussion on the question of a free port for Hungary on the Adriatic and a number of other commercial questions. The actual cause is a solution of Hungary's monarchial question, which the Little Entente's post-was political manoeuvers have placed for an absolute decision in the hands of Count Bethlen.

The general expectation is that Count Bethlem intends to place the Hapsburg Archduke Albrecht on the Hungary throne, with some Italian princess as queen, thus cementing the friendship between the two countries.

Egypt is working on a plan to learn the number of automobiles in that country.

Hawaiian Serenaders Head Denny Film Bill at Ceramic

Pacific Song Bird and Seven Others Appear in Filmusical Novelty and Feature for Three Days.

The Mary Garden of the Pacific Isles is the sobriquet given by American tourists to the featured soloist with the Imperial Hawaiian Serenaders who play and sing the entire musical accompaniment to the super-travelogue "A Trip to the Hawaiian Islands" which will be featured in conjunction Reginald Denny in his first Universal super comedy at the Ceramic theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The Pacific song bird, one of eight serenaders, is said to possess a voice of magnificent range and rich timbre fully capable of coping with the demands of grand opera. Her singing in the filmusical presentation, "A Trip to the Hawaiian Islands," though limited to the simple but rythmic songs of her native land, has yet been able to captivate the most fastidious of musical critics with its unmistakable suggestion of exotic personality.

"A Trip to the Hawaiian Islands," in which the Ceramic theatre presents this musical phenomena to the music loving people of East Liverpool is said to be one of the most colorful combination stage and screen presentations ever offered to theatre-goers.

"Take It From Me," Denny's latest starring production, an unusually large cast, bristling with well-known names.

Blanche Mehaffey, who made such a hit in "His People," "A Woman of the World," and "The Runaway Express," plays the feminine lead. Jean Tolley, star of "The Uninvited Guest" and other productions, has a prominent role.

Lee Moran, former two-reel comedy star of the "Lyons and Moran" team, and Ben Hendricks, Jr., popular leading man, have roles almost as important as that of the star.

Ethel Wales, prominent character actress, Lucien Littlefield, featured in many big productions, Tom O'Brien of "Big Parade" fame, Vera Lewis, Frances Dale, Bertram Johns and others are also in the cast.

"Take It From Me" is a screen version of the New York musical comedy success of the same name, written by Will B. Johnstone and Will R. Anderson. Harvey Thew wrote the screen adaptation.

NEWS FROM TOWNS IN TRI-STATE DISTRICT

Sebring

Rev. B. B. Uhl, new pastor of the Trinity Lutheran church was formally installed Sunday by the president of the synod of Ohio, Rev. O. K. Koler of Mansfield. Rev. Uhl was called to this field in December and began his work in January. The pastorate consists of two congregations, one at Sebring and the other, St. John's church in New Baltimore. Rev. Uhl come here from Frankfort, Ind. He is a native of Ohio and has filled pulpits on Columbus, Mansfield, Toledo and Xenia.

Sebring is to receive state aid in paving Ohio avenue, according to district highway Director C. F. Schlessinger. The improvement will consist of resurfacing the street through the entire city. Work on the plans is to be started at once.

The McKinley high school realized $104 on the art exhibit held at the high school building Thursday and Friday. A prize picture to be given to the room selling the most tickets for the display has been awarded to the sixth grade at the Lincoln building. This class is taught by Mrs. G. Y. Davis.

Grace Clunen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Clunen, West Georgia avenue had her tonsils removed Monday morning at Dr. Wild's private hospital. Dr. Floyd Stamp, assisted Dr. Wild in the operation.

Once more the pulpit of the United Presbyterian church has been declared vacant. A letter was read to the congregation Sunday in which Rev. A. L. Yarnell, Philadelphia, Pa., stated that he would not be able to come here as he had planned. Rev. George Seville of Newburgh, N. Y. preached a trial sermon.

Because of a break in the heating system at the Methodist church, no services were held there Sunday. Instead the services were in the auditorium of the McKinley high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Marshall and children of Limaville, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Watson.

Mrs. Bessie Torbert, Kansas City, Mo., is visiting her sister, Mrs. M. Crosgrove, West Georgia avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Sutherin, West Maryland avenue, visited Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Meek, at McDonald, Sunday.

Salem, Columbiana, Rodgers, Washingtonville, Leetonia, Somerset, Toronto, East Liverpool, Irondale, Salineville, Empire, Lisbon and East Palestine sent delegates to the district session. The afternoon session was devoted to business. In the evening Salem and Sebring staged drill work.

Newly elected officers for the degree team of the Holly Rebekah lodge were installed at a meeting Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Lula Hurdall, West Georgia avenue. The next meting will be with Mrs. Mary Eams, 13th street.

Thomas Marshall, said to be from Follansbee, W. Va., and Harold Fullerton, of Sebring, were fined by Mayor Harmon Thursday evening as the result of breaking a display window in the latter barber shop, North Fifteenth street.

Marshall was released on condition that he pay the cost of the broken window, installing it, and the costs of the case. The bill presented amounted to $100.20. Fullerton was assessed a fine of $18 and costs. He will work out the fine on the streets.

Success crowned the efforts of McKinley high school in presenting an art exhibit in the high school Thursday evening. More than 200 people attended the first night of the display. At the close of the musical program the seniors became guides and took the visitors through the various rooms where the pictures were displayed. Each senior had a group of people to conduct.

Miss Betty Boyd, West Oregon avenue entertained girls of the E. H. Sebring China company office at her home Thursday evening. A four course dinner was served by Mrs. Boyd, mother of Miss Boyd, assisted by Mrs. John Allen. The evening was spent in playing 500 and dancing. The next meting will be in one month at the home of Miss Naomi Carlin, of Damascus.

Rev. and Mrs. L. E. Carr, West Indiana avenue, entertained Mr. and Mrs Lee Mack of Sebring to dinner Thursday evening.

REGULATE-DON'T PURGE BOWELS

Harsh Physics, Calomel, Salts and Purgatives Soon Lose Effect.

Here is a pleasant, harmless laxative, system cleanser, stomach tonic and bowel regulator which everyone troubled with constipation, especially chronic obstinate cases, should try.

"VINCO" is a chocolate coated tablet made of Herbs, Roots and Barks (no dope). Does not gripe or sicken. Your druggist will refund money if you do not get relief from the first 25c box.

Lay aside nasty salts, dangerous calomel and harsh physics. Use only "VINCO" to regulate the bowels. Do a kindness by telling others about "VINCO." They, too, will appreciate the difference between harsh physics and gentle, harmless "VINCO."

Don't Envy Robust Health

Get It Yourself Through Scientific Stimulation.

Food is the sole source of life, of health, of vitality. A robust physique, tireless energy, the full enjoyment of every hour of living depend on the proper assimilation by your system of the foods you put into your stomach.

If the mouth, stomach and other vital glands are not doing their duty, you cannot achieve good health. You are bound to be "run down," nervous, tired all the time.

A remarkable stimulant-tonic has been devised for just such conditions as these. It is delightfully palatable and is prepared by an old Virginia concern in business for nearly a century. Druggists and physicians have come to know this stimulant as "Old Monticello Tonic." Get a bottle today from your druggist, take a small wineglass full before your next meal—see how much better you eat—feel the glow of stimulated functions throughout the body. A few days' treatment will bring a quick change in run-down conditions and overcome lack of energy.

IS THERE NO RELIEF FROM SKIN TORTURE?

Must I Continue to Suffer the Unbearable Itching?

Are you one of those unfortunates who are going through life suffering with a skin disease, making you uncomfortable, making you less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep? You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S.S.S.? For more than 100 years it has been giving relief in many forms of skin disease. Thousands of letters of gratitude prove its worth.

"I feel so happy for what S.S.S. has done for me that I want others to know about it. I suffered twenty long years from eczema. At times the itching was unbearable. During that time, I used all kinds of salves without receiving any real benefit. After taking six bottles of S.S.S. I was cured of this dreadful disease I recommend S.S.S. to anyone suffering from eczema, because I cannot praise it enough for what it has done for me." Cleophas Forte, Soldiers and Sailors Home, Quincy, Ill.

S.S.S. is purely vegetable. It is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Itching, Annoying Skin Irritations

Apply Zemo, Healing Liquid, Easy to Use.

When applied as directed Zemo effectively and quickly stops itching, and heals Skin Irritations, Sores Burns, Wounds and Chafing. Zemo penetrates, cleanses and soothes the skin. It is a clean, dependable, healing liquid, convenient to use any time. 60c and $1.00.

CAN YOU EAT WHAT YOU LIKE FOR SUPPER?

This Simple Remedy Makes You Master of Your Digestion

ARE you master of your digestion, or its slave? Does a heavy supper set you dreaming at night and aching in the morning? That tightness across the chest when you get up—that stabbing pain just under your heart—that discomfort in your stomach—these mean your stomach needs help.

Dillingham's Plant Juice is made expressly for just such people as you. It's a scientific compound of those plants and roots and herbs that Nature has provided for the relief of your pains. Mr. Walter Jolly of 19 St. Helena Rd., Wilmington, Del., says:

"What little I used to eat caused me untold distress, and I suffered from gas for hours after meals. I felt dull and listless, tired easily, and got so nervous that it would be hours before I could get any sleep nights. All told I took six bottles of Plant Juice and it sure did me a world of good. Today my appetite is worth bragging about, my stomach never gives me the least bit of trouble, my nerves are steady, and I sleep like a top.

Get a bottle of Plant Juice today, give it a fair trial and see how much better you feel—you'll want the good work to go on! And its taste is so pleasant, too.

Ask your druggist for the original Dillingham's Plant Juice, for over thirty years a standard remedy for indigestion.

Sebring

Rev. B. B. Uhl, new pastor of the Trinity Lutheran church was formally installed Sunday by the president of the synod of Ohio, Rev. O. K. Koler of Mansfield. Rev. Uhl was called to this field in December and began his work in January. The pastorate consists of two congregations, one at Sebring and the other, St. John's church in New Baltimore. Rev. Uhl come here from Frankfort, Ind. He is a native of Ohio and has filled pulpits on Columbus, Mansfield, Toledo and Xenia.

Sebring is to receive state aid in paving Ohio avenue, according to district highway Director C. F. Schlessinger. The improvement will consist of resurfacing the street through the entire city. Work on the plans is to be started at once.

The McKinley high school realized $104 on the art exhibit held at the high school building Thursday and Friday. A prize picture to be given to the room selling the most tickets for the display has been awarded to the sixth grade at the Lincoln building. This class is taught by Mrs. G. Y. Davis.

Grace Clunen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Clunen, West Georgia avenue had her tonsils removed Monday morning at Dr. Wild's private hospital. Dr. Floyd Stamp, assisted Dr. Wild in the operation.

Once more the pulpit of the United Presbyterian church has been declared vacant. A letter was read to the congregation Sunday in which Rev. A. L. Yarnell, Philadelphia, Pa., stated that he would not be able to come here as he had planned. Rev. George Seville of Newburgh, N. Y. preached a trial sermon.

Because of a break in the heating system at the Methodist church, no services were held there Sunday. Instead the services were in the auditorium of the McKinley high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Marshall and children of Limaville, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Watson.

Mrs. Bessie Torbert, Kansas City, Mo., is visiting her sister. Mrs. M. Crosgrove, West Georgia avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Sutherin, West Maryland avenue, visited Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Meek, at McDonald, Sunday.

More than 200 delegates from 13 cities attended the Pythian Sisters district convention at the K. of P. hall Wednesday afternoon and evening. Salem, Columbiana, Rodgers, Washingtonville, Leetonia, Somerset, Toronto, East Liverpool, Irondale, Salineville, Empire, Lisbon and East Palestine sent delegates to the district session. The afternoon session was devoted to business. In the evening Salem and Sebring staged drill work.

Newly elected officers for the degree team of the Holly Rebekah lodge were installed at a meeting Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Lula Hurdall, West Georgia avenue. The next meting will be with Mrs. Mary Eams, 13th street.

Thomas Marshall, said to be from Follansbee, W. Va., and Harold Fullerton, of Sebring, were fined by Mayor Harmon Thursday evening as the result of breaking a display window in the Isner barber shop, North Fifteenth street.

Marshall was released on condition that he pay the cost of the broken window, installing it, and the costs of the case. The bill presented amounted to $100.20. Fullerton was assessed a fine of $18 and costs. He will work out the fine on the streets.

Success crowned the efforts of McKinley high school in presenting an art exhibit in the high school Thursday evening. More than 200 people attended the first night of the display. At the close of the musical program the seniors became guides and took the visitors through the various rooms where the pictures were displayed. Each senior had a group of people to conduct.

Miss Betty Boyd, West Oregon avenue entertained girls of the E. H. Sebring China company office at her home Thursday evening. A four course dinner was served by Mrs. Boyd, mother of Miss Boyd, assisted by Mrs. John Allen. The evening was spent in playing 500 and dancing. The next meting will be in one month at the home of Miss Naomi Carlin, of Damascus.

Rev. and Mrs. L. E. Carr, West Indiana avenue, entertained Mr. and Mrs Lee Mack of Sebring to dinner Thursday evening.

Are you one of those unfortunates who are going through life suffering with a skin disease, making you uncomfortable, making you less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep? You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S.S.S.? For more than 100 years it has been giving relief in many forms of skin disease. Thousands of letters of gratitude prove its worth.

"I feel so happy for what S.S.S. has done for me that I want others to know about it. I suffered twenty long years from eczema. At times the itching was unbearable. During that time, I used all kinds of salves without receiving any real benefit. After taking six bottles of S.S.S. I was cured of this dreadful disease I recommend S.S.S. to anyone suffering from eczema, because I cannot praise it enough for what it has done for me." Cleophas Forte, Soldiers and Sailors Home, Quincy, Ill.

S.S.S. is purely vegetable. It is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

CAN YOU EAT WHAT YOU LIKE FOR SUPPER?

This Simple Remedy Makes You Master of Your Digestion

ARE you master of your digestion, or its slave? Does a heavy supper set you dreaming at night and aching in the morning? That tightness across the chest when you get up—that stabbing pain just under your heart—that discomfort in your stomach—these mean your stomach needs help.

Dillingham's Plant Juice is made expressly for just such people as you. It's a scientific compound of those plants and roots and herbs that Nature has provided for the relief of your pains. Mr. Walter Jolly of 19 St. Helena Rd., Wilmington, Del., says:

"What little I used to eat caused me untold distress, and I suffered from gas for hours after meals. I felt dull and listless, tired easily, and got so nervous that it would be hours before I could get any sleep nights. All told I took six bottles of Plant Juice and it sure did me a world of good. Today my appetite is worth bragging about, my stomach never gives me the least bit of trouble, my nerves are steady, and I sleep like a top.

Get a bottle of Plant Juice today, give it a fair trial and see how much better you feel—you'll want the good work to go on! And its taste is so pleasant, too.

Ask your druggist for the original Dillingham's Plant Juice, for over thirty years a standard remedy for indigestion.

500 TICKETS TO BE SOLD FOR E. L. H. S.---WELLSVILLE CONTEST

DISTRIBUTION PLAN PREPARED FOR CAGE TILT

Prices Unchanged for Clash Billed Feb. 15.

ARRANGEMENTS were announced today by Faculty Manager Robert Trumbull, of Wellsville high school, for the distribution of tickets for the East Liverpool-Wellsville basketball game at Wellsville on February 15.

East Liverpool high school will receive a total of 125 tickets for the game, Wellsville retaining 375, inasmuch as the contest will be played on the Orange court. A somewhat similar plan will be in effect when the two quints battle in a return clash here later in the season, with the local school keeping the larger portion of the pasteboards.

Seventy-five tickets have been allotted for E. L. H. Students, and 50 to the general public. Faculty Manager Decker of the local high school, today announced he was awaiting receipt of the ticket consignment from Wellsville before announcing a plan of distribution of the 50 ducats. Probably a "first come, first served" policy will be placed in effect.

Total number of tickets to the game has been limited to 500.

Manager Trumbull, of Wellsville, today made the following announcement:

"The management has made an apportionment of the tickets and can give definite information regarding the sale. The price of all tickets for this game will be the same as for any other on the schedule. There will be a maximum of 500 tickets sold and these will be divided as follows: East Liverpool 125, Wellsville 375. Those for East Liverpool are divided as follows: Reserved seats, 45; general admission 5, students 75, and will be in the hands of Faculty Manager Decker.

"The Wellsville tickets are divided as follows: Reserved seats 78; general admission 87; students 210. The student tickets here will be sold through the high school. The local (Wellsville) allotment of reserved seats and general will be sold by the following plan. Each player on both the girls' and the boys' squads has a right to order two seats for their parents or friends before any other orders will be filled. Also each member of the high school faculty may buy one reserved seat after the squads' quota has been filled. Then the sale will open for the general public and will be filled as they are received. The orders may be sent by mail or by a student but in every case must be accompanied by the money or a certified check.

"Orders with money will be given preference over those without regardless of when they are received. When you are asking for a reserved seat ticket please signify whether or not you will accept a general admission ticket in its place should the supply be exhausted when your order is opened. Orders will be received any time but the filling of them will not begin until next Monday. Address all orders to the faculty manager of the high school.

MORRIS, OLIVER PLAY TONIGHT

C. Morris and E. Oliver will match cue skill in tonight's pocket billiard match at the Diamond parlors, the contests marking the start of the second round.

In week-end engagements, McDowell defeated Johnson, 75 to 24; Reney defeated White, 75 to 29, and Moore won from Daher, 75 to 52.

SMALLY WINNER IN ACADEMY TILT

Smally won from Miller by a three-point margin in last night's three cushion match at the Academy, the tally being 25-22.

Schenkel and Walker, and Bergner and White will play tonight.

SAINER, HANNA LAND CONTESTS

Frank Sainer defeated Ed. Reney, 75 to 68, and B. Hanna won from Tom Watson, 75 to 45, in cue matches at the American. Hanna plays Moore and Daher meets Price tonight.

MARY K. BROWNE BETTER THAN WILLS, SAYS SUE

Has Shown Great Improvement During 'Pro' Trip.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2. — There are two really great women tennis players in the world and the other one is Mary K. Browne, if the writer is to be relied upon to judge the purport of a statement given him today by Suzanne Lenglen. The above idea can be construed as a somewhat free translation of what the lady actually did say but, like a shoulder to a shoulder, it serves the purpose.

She said, in just so many words, that she thought Mary Browne was a better tennis player today than Helen Wills. To give Suzanne her due, she didn't even mention herself in this connection, she didn't have to. Every one knows the lady is good. She may even suspect it herself.

However, it had been understood that every one considered Miss Wills as the unofficial runner-up in world ranking, amateur and professional, but it seems not. There is a minority opinion and it appears to consist of Suzanne Lenglen.

Shows Great Improvement.

'From facing Miss Wills at Cannes and Mary Browne in our series of professional exhibitions, I would be inclined to favor Miss Browne to win," Suzanne declared without hesitation. "Mary's improvement during the trip has been marvelous. Her backhand once was weak; now, it is strong, oh, so strong.

'Her strokes are ever so much more severe, her service has become stronger and her court strategy is improved immeasurably. I never know what to expect from her next. If Miss Browne and Miss Wills were to meet today, I think I would favor Mary as the winner. I think she is the superior of Miss McKane, too."

Mrs. Mallory? But, wait. Give the lady time. Ah, oui. She seems to remember having heard that name somewhere. Perhaps, in time, she will recall the circumstance. Evidently Suzanne's estimation of Mrs. Mallory's ability hasn't been altered since the last time they met, which is believed to have been too soon for their mutual taste.

Probably they haven't been separated by a sufficient number of miles during recent months but Suzanne hasn't permitted that fact to spoil her evening, so to speak. She says she "adores" America and would be content to stay here indefinitely if her father was with her. This was one of her many observations during the interview.

Other Tours in View.

Another was that California is "priceless" and a third contained the information that she had received invitations to put her "act" on in Germany, Denmark, Czechoslovakia, India, Japan, Australia and South America. She intimated that she would accept all and sundry at her leisure.

She didn't say so but her words gave the impression that Clink Clank Pyle would turn up absent at the pay off if this tour is carried through. It may be suspected that Suzanne has discovered just what makes the managerial wheels go around and it is definitely known that her contract with the big sort and pile man soon will expire.

Her further observations were to the effect that she would return to American very soon, perhaps next year on her way to Japan; that she would not give an exhibition in London as a counter attraction to Wimbledon, as some crafty mind had it; that she will sail for home regretfully on or about February 20, and that professional tennis is much to be preferred from her standpoint to the amateur game, since its demands were much less exacting.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

When the ball is to be pitched so that after it flies upward and through the air it will strike the green and stop, the stroke differs mechanically in one major aspect from the stroke used for a run-up approach. It differs in that for the pitch the player must bring his wrists greatly into play. In the run-up the wrists do practically nothing. The arms stay rather straight and the clubhead literally scrapes the ball away, the clubhead, in this scraping action imparting an overspin, or roll, energy to the ball. In the back-spin approach you want the spin on the ball to be the other way; that is, the ball should be made to spin toward you as it flies. To accomplish that you use the wrists greatly, throwing the clubhead wholly with the wrists a good deal as you would crack a whip using both hands. The main thing is — throw the clubhead clear through the ball.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

By Norman E. Brown.

THIS is the age of specialization in everything — including sports. John McGraw and Jack Bentley have come to a mutual agreement on the subject, which definitely establishes the fact, if it was not accepted before.

McGraw has been a specialist for some years—specializing on managing the Giants and owning interests in race tracks. But "up to yet" Bentley, has been an all around sort of person, physically and by vocation.

He has been, at various times, a left-handed pitcher, a mediocre first baseman, a tenor singer, carnival king, and pinch hitter. He has filled all of the roles, with the exception of the first base one, in fair fashion. His first basing was nothing to write home about.

But this coming season he is going to be a pitcher. Still a left-hander but a pitcher only. He has been so informed by the Giant leader.

Bentley joined the Giants in 1923 from the Baltimore Orioles, where he had won a rep as a pitcher and slugger. McGraw proceeded to take advantage of both assets.

The spring of 1925 found him with the rest of the Giant squad at Sarasota, Fla. Jack was looking for a thrill and the town fathers were looking for a handsome male being to play the part of King Lobo or something in their city pageant. Bentley was asked to fill the bill—and the trick suit that went along with it.

The ride through the crowded streets that day must have been too much. For Jack failed to get going that year. Won 11 games all told and while his pinch hitting was o. k. his all around value to the club wasn't enough to give him an argument for another year's salary. So the Giants traded him to the Phillies.

Having plenty of lefthanded pitchers and tenor singers Art Fletcher sent Jack to first base. Before the season ended McGraw regained Bentley's services—silver tones, soup bone et al.

Down Quakers, 29-22 After Belated Rally; Play Here Tomorrow

Championship Opponents to Meet Thursday Night on High School Court Here in Second Engagement.

Coach Bill Powell's Elks today were county wide favorites for the first half championship of the greatest amateur cage circuit that has ever trod the hardwood in eastern Ohio as a result of their brilliant triumph last night at Damascus, the Quakers bending the knee before a 29 to 22 reversal.

The two title chasers will battle again in the second clash of the series tomorrow night at the high school gymnasium here and if Manager Ray Adam doesn't pack 'em in, it'll be the strangest thing since George Washington told the one about the cherry tree.

With Forward Tommy Pusey idle as a result of an injured foot the Antlers went out on the new Damascus high school court last night and pulled a victory out of what seemed almost like a certain defeat for the greater part of three quarters. The Quakers took the pole lane down the first stretch and were away out in front at the first quarter post. They were still stretching their legs at the half-way mark, but down through the third stretch, the tips of the Elks' antlers came showing through the dust of the race, looming larger and larger. The Quaker entry in desperation saw its rival pull up, nose to nose, and then slowly, but certainly head into the lead as they settled into the concluding lap. Approximately 600 people, a hundred or more from the Pottery City, saw the Antlers come down that long, last quarter and whisk across the finish line in a sensational winning spurt.

In other words, the rival claimants for first half honors, boasted a 9 to 2 lead when the two teams finished hostilities in the inaugural period. The Elks were unable to advance their passes sufficiently close to the hoop to make their shots effective, but outscored the Quakers in the second period. Once under way their attack was more potent than the Damascus offensive and the half finished with the count 16 to 14.

Damascus had scored seven counters in the second period with the Elks piling up 12.

The fate of the Elks in the first quarter was alloted to the Quakers in the third. They got just two points after Coach "Bill" had sicked "Chuck" McConville and Smith Anderson on Kyser and Nigal who, apparently, had been designated to do the scoring. The local defense veterans closed around the Quaker marksmen like clams in the entire last half and as a result, Damascus scoring was easy to count—two field goals and two fouls. The two field goals came in the third period and after that there were no more.

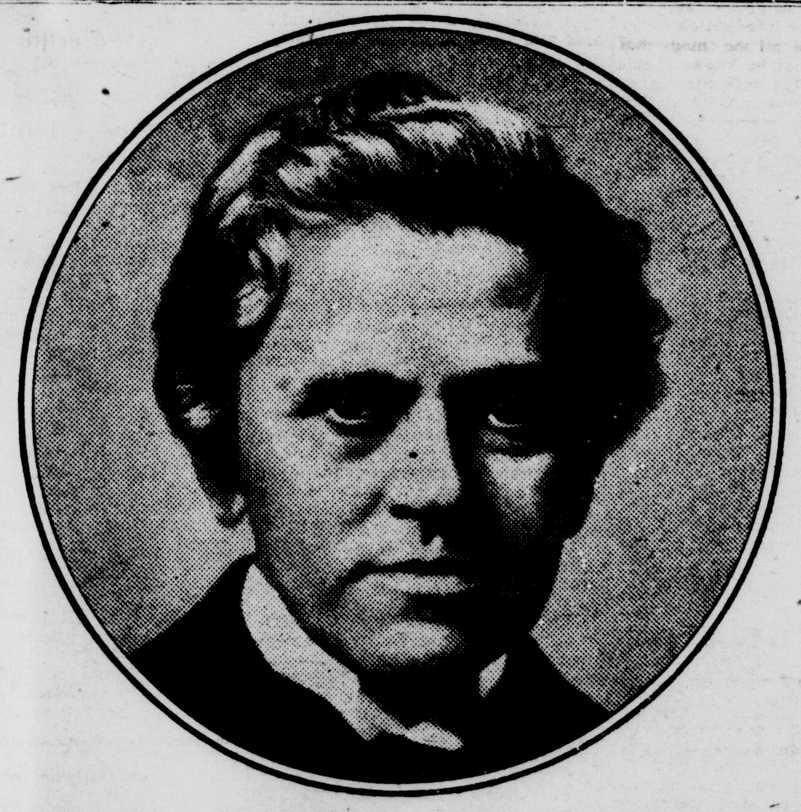

The floor work of Forward Wilson was spectacular and effective at once. He dropped in four field goals while playing hide and seek with Damascus guards. Center Wilde eluded Oesch to place three of the two point variety and the latter was so busy following the former Geneva star that he had time for only one field goal himself.

Smith Anderson also found time to join in the scoring party, coming up the court for three field goals and Joe Canne, who replaced Kenneth Clark at forward in the second half, got through the opposition for two buckets.

500 TICKETS TO BE SOLD FOR E. L. H. S.---WELLSVILLE CONTEST

Prices Unchanged for Clash Billed Feb. 15.

ARRANGEMENTS were announced today by Faculty Manager Robert Trumbull, of Wellsville high school, for the distribution of tickets for the East Liverpool-Wellsville basketball game at Wellsville on February 15.

East Liverpool high school will receive a total of 125 tickets for the game, Wellsville retaining 375, inasmuch as the contest will be played on the Orange court. A somewhat similar plan will be in effect when the two quints battle in a return clash here later in the season, with the local school keeping the larger portion of the pasteboards.

Seventy-five tickets have been allotted for E. L. H. Students, and 50 to the general public. Faculty Manager Decker of the local high school, today announced he was awaiting receipt of the ticket consignment from Wellsville before announcing a plan of distribution of the 50 ducats. Probably a "first come, first served" policy will be placed in effect.

Total number of tickets to the game has been limited to 500.

Manager Trumbull, of Wellsville, today made the following announcement:

"The management has made an apportionment of the tickets and can give definite information regarding the sale. The price of all tickets for this game will be the same as for any other on the schedule. There will be a maximum of 500 tickets sold and these will be divided as follows: East Liverpool 125, Wellsville 375. Those for East Liverpool are divided as follows: Reserved seats, 45; general admission 5, students 75, and will be in the hands of Faculty Manager Decker.

"The Wellsville tickets are divided as follows: Reserved seats 78; general admission 87; students 210. The student tickets here will be sold through the high school. The local (Wellsville) allotment of reserved seats and general will be sold by the following plan. Each player on both the girls' and the boys' squads has a right to order two seats for their parents or friends before any other orders will be filled. Also each member of the high school faculty may buy one reserved seat after the squads' quota has been filled. Then the sale will open for the general public and will be filled as they are received. The orders may be sent by mail or by a student but in every case must be accompanied by the money or a certified check.

"Orders with money will be given preference over those without regardless of when they are received. When you are asking for a reserved seat ticket please signify whether or not you will accept a general admission ticket in its place should the supply be exhausted when your order is opened. Orders will be received any time but the filling of them will not begin until next Monday. Address all orders to the faculty manager of the high school.

'Her strokes are ever so much more severe, her service has become stronger and her court strategy is improved immeasurably. I never know what to expect from her next. If Miss Browne and Miss Wills were to meet today, I think I would favor Mary as the winner. I think she is the superior of Miss McKane, too."

Mrs. Mallory? But, wait. Give the lady time. Ah, oui. She seems to remember having heard that name somewhere. Perhaps, in time, she will recall the circumstance. Evidently Suzanne's estimation of Mrs. Mallory's ability hasn't been altered since the last time they met, which is believed to have been too soon for their mutual taste.

Probably they haven't been separated by a sufficient number of miles during recent months but Suzanne hasn't permitted that fact to spoil her evening, so to speak. She says she "adores" America and would be content to stay here indefinitely if her father was with her. This was one of her many observations during the interview.

Other Tours in View.

Another was that California is "priceless" and a third contained the information that she had received invitations to put her "act" on in Germany, Denmark, Czechoslovakia, India, Japan, Australia and South America. She intimated that she would accept all and sundry at her leisure.

She didn't say so but her words gave the impression that Clink Clank Pyle would turn up absent at the pay off if this tour is carried through. It may be suspected that Suzanne has discovered just what makes the managerial wheels go around and it is definitely known that her contract with the big sort and pile man soon will expire.

Her further observations were to the effect that she would return to American very soon, perhaps next year on her way to Japan; that she would not give an exhibition in London as a counter attraction to Wimbledon, as some crafty mind had it; that she will sail for home regretfully on or about February 20, and that professional tennis is much to be preferred from her standpoint to the amateur game, since its demands were much less exacting.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

When the ball is to be pitched so that after it flies upward and through the air it will strike the green and stop, the stroke differs mechanically in one major aspect from the stroke used for a run-up approach. It differs in that for the pitch the player must bring his wrists greatly into play. In the run-up the wrists do practically nothing. The arms stay rather straight and the clubhead literally scrapes the ball away, the clubhead, in this scraping action imparting an overspin, or roll, energy to the ball. In the back-spin approach you want the spin on the ball to be the other way; that is, the ball should be made to spin toward you as it flies. To accomplish that you use the wrists greatly, throwing the clubhead wholly with the wrists a good deal as you would crack a whip using both hands. The main thing is — throw the clubhead clear through the ball.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

By Norman E. Brown.

THIS is the age of specialization in everything — including sports. John McGraw and Jack Bentley have come to a mutual agreement on the subject, which definitely establishes the fact, if it was not accepted before.

McGraw has been a specialist for some years—specializing on managing the Giants and owning interests in race tracks. But "up to yet" Bentley, has been an all around sort of person, physically and by vocation.

He has been, at various times, a left-handed pitcher, a mediocre first baseman, a tenor singer, carnival king, and pinch hitter. He has filled all of the roles, with the exception of the first base one, in fair fashion. His first basing was nothing to write home about.

But this coming season he is going to be a pitcher. Still a left-hander but a pitcher only. He has been so informed by the Giant leader.

Bentley joined the Giants in 1923 from the Baltimore Orioles, where he had won a rep as a pitcher and slugger. McGraw proceeded to take advantage of both assets.

The spring of 1925 found him with the rest of the Giant squad at Sarasota, Fla. Jack was looking for a thrill and the town fathers were looking for a handsome male being to play the part of King Lobo or something in their city pageant. Bentley was asked to fill the bill—and the trick suit that went along with it.

The ride through the crowded streets that day must have been too much. For Jack failed to get going that year. Won 11 games all told and while his pinch hitting was o. k. his all around value to the club wasn't enough to give him an argument for another year's salary. So the Giants traded him to the Phillies.

Having plenty of lefthanded pitchers and tenor singers Art Fletcher sent Jack to first base. Before the season ended McGraw regained Bentley's services—silver tones, soup bone et al.

Down Quakers, 29-22 After Belated Rally; Play Here Tomorrow

Championship Opponents to Meet Thursday Night on High School Court Here in Second Engagement.

Coach Bill Powell's Elks today were county wide favorites for the first half championship of the greatest amateur cage circuit that has ever trod the hardwood in eastern Ohio as a result of their brilliant triumph last night at Damascus, the Quakers bending the knee before a 29 to 22 reversal.

The two title chasers will battle again in the second clash of the series tomorrow night at the high school gymnasium here and if Manager Ray Adam doesn't pack 'em in, it'll be the strangest thing since George Washington told the one about the cherry tree.

With Forward Tommy Pusey idle as a result of an injured foot the Antlers went out on the new Damascus high school court last night and pulled a victory out of what seemed almost like a certain defeat for the greater part of three quarters. The Quakers took the pole lane down the first stretch and were away out in front at the first quarter post. They were still stretching their legs at the half-way mark, but down through the third stretch, the tips of the Elks' antlers came showing through the dust of the race, looming larger and larger. The Quaker entry in desperation saw its rival pull up, nose to nose, and then slowly, but certainly head into the lead as they settled into the concluding lap. Approximately 600 people, a hundred or more from the Pottery City, saw the Antlers come down that long, last quarter and whisk across the finish line in a sensational winning spurt.

In other words, the rival claimants for first half honors, boasted a 9 to 2 lead when the two teams finished hostilities in the inaugural period. The Elks were unable to advance their passes sufficiently close to the hoop to make their shots effective, but outscored the Quakers in the second period. Once under way their attack was more potent than the Damascus offensive and the half finished with the count 16 to 14.

Damascus had scored seven counters in the second period with the Elks piling up 12.

The fate of the Elks in the first quarter was alloted to the Quakers in the third. They got just two points after Coach "Bill" had sicked "Chuck" McConville and Smith Anderson on Kyser and Nigal who, apparently, had been designated to do the scoring. The local defense veterans closed around the Quaker marksmen like clams in the entire last half and as a result, Damascus scoring was easy to count—two field goals and two fouls. The two field goals came in the third period and after that there were no more.

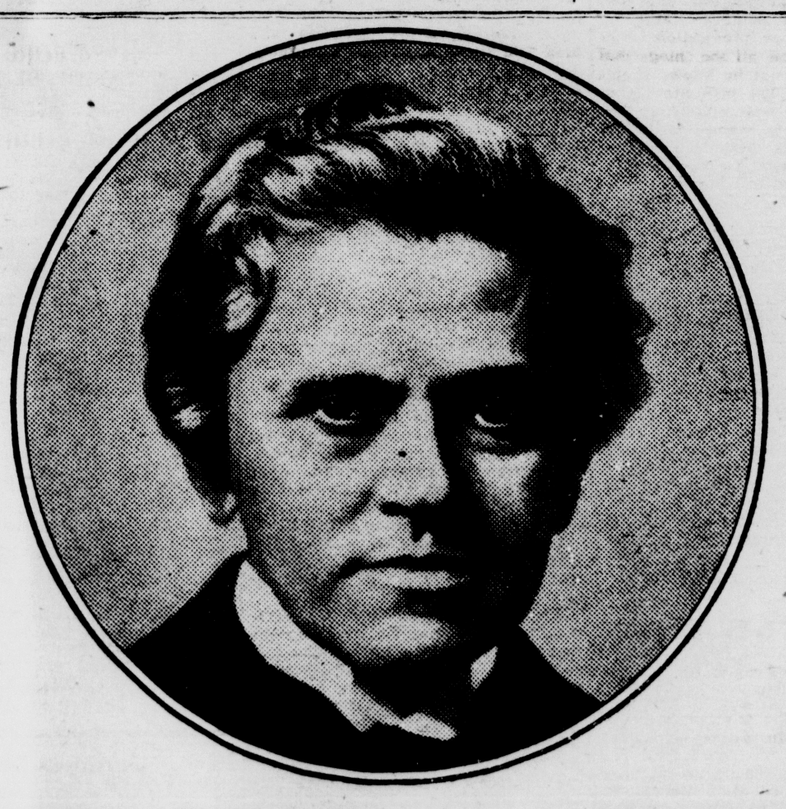

The floor work of Forward Wilson was spectacular and effective at once. He dropped in four field goals while playing hide and seek with Damascus guards. Center Wilde eluded Oesch to place three of the two point variety and the latter was so busy following the former Geneva star that he had time for only one field goal himself.

Smith Anderson also found time to join in the scoring party, coming up the court for three field goals and Joe Canne, who replaced Kenneth Clark at forward in the second half, got through the opposition for two buckets.

"Among other things, when young actors come to me for advice, I always say, 'Take care of your voice, cultivate it—and watch your smoking.' Usually they eye the cigarette in my hand with some suspicion. And then, I offer them a Lucky Strike—a cigarette I smoke freely, and have yet to feel the slightest effect on my throat. I've been told that toasting does that for this cigarette. When I smoke 'Luckies' my throat is beautifully clear and unirritated."

David Warfield's Magic Voice

How he keeps it in perfect condition—how he safeguards his throat

AS ONE of the greatest actors of our day, David Warfield, whose charming, sympathetic voice has brought him fame, gives much attention to the care of his throat.

In smoking, he prefers Lucky Strikes because they give the greatest enjoyment and throat protection.

Lucky Strikes are smooth and mellow—the finest cigarettes you ever smoked. They are made of the finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and blended with great skill, and there is an extra process in treating the tobacco.

Smoke Lucky Strikes—you'll like them.

MAE MURRAY COINS WORD

Language Lacking in One Respect, Star Says.

Mae Murray, petite screen star, has added a new word to the English language.

The Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer star, who looks as if she should think of nothing more serious than what gown she is going to wear with what shoes, is really one of the cleverest women in the motion picture or any other business, and during the production of "Altars of Desire," now playing at the American theatre, discovered that the language was sadly lacking in one respect.

Someone on the set mentioned a certain scene that was being taken with regard to its "audience angle."

It suddenly occurred to Mae that "audience" is no word to use in connection with a group of people viewing a motion picture, for Webster defines "audience" as being "a group of listeners or hearers."

"'Audience' is taken from the Latin, audire, meaning to hear," says Miss Murray, "so why not follow the precedent and by using the Latin word videre, to see, the natural English derivation would be 'vidience.'"

If you are a real movie fan you will never mention a "motion picture audience" again, for you will not be in style and you will be essentially wrong. "Vidience," of course, is but a suggestion, and if anyone has a better one, Miss Murray is willing to hear it.

Conway Tearle has the featured male lead opposite Miss Murray in "Altars of Desire," which was directed by Christy Cabanne. The cast includes Maude George, Robert Edeson and Andre Beranger.

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

When in doubt—ask Haskin. He offers himself as a target for the questions of our readers. He agrees to furnish facts for all who ask. This is a large contract—one that has never been filled before. It would be possible only in Washington, and only to one who has spent al ifetime in locating sources of information. Haskin does not know all the things that people ask him, but he knows people who do know. Try him. State your question briefly, write plainly, and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. Address Frederic J. Haskin, Director, the East Liverpool Review-Tribune Information Bureau, Washington, D. C.

Q. Can you tell me how much waste there would be in a 15 pound turkey? F. B.

A. The weight of a fowl after the head, feet, bones and inedible entrails have been removed is from 15 to 20 per cent less.

Q. Will you please inform me where I can get full instructions how to salt peanuts in the shell. R. W. W.

A. Salting peanuts in the shell is done quite extensively in the tropics. The peanuts are boiled in the salt liquid and then allowed to dry, after which they are roasted. No special equipment is required in this process.

Q. What will color kerosene oil red? J. Y.

A. Oil Red O, which is used to color gasoline can also be used in kerosene.

Q. How do you account for the fact that Chancellor Bismarck has ofttimes been addressed as Prince Bismarck? L. W. P.

A. Bismarck was entitled to the title Prince. He was created Prince in 1871 after the consolidation of the German Empire.

Q. Are big game animals on the increase in the United States? F. C. H.

A. Big game on the reservations administered by the Biological Survey have notably increased during the last ten years, with the exception of antelopes. Better control has been initiated and these are again increasing. The total number of big game animals on these reservations at this time is about 1,530.

Q. Who rang the Liberty Bell at the signing of the Declaration of Independence? H. J. L.

A. Andrew McNair rang the Liberty Bell upon the occasion of the celebration of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

Q. What is the amount of business done by cooperatives in the United States? R. K.

A. It has recently been stated that a rough estimate of the total business handled by cooperatives in the ten leading states from 1915 to 1925 is $9,000,000,000. The business transacted by the California cooperatives amounted to $1,700,000,000, the Minnesota cooperatives slightly more than $1,400,000,00, and the Iowa associations a trifle less than that amount.

Q. Will you kindly advise the total number drowned on the "Otranto" in the North Sea. Was the loss greater than the Tuscania? H. B.

A. Four hundred and thirty-one lives were lost in the wreck of the Steamship Otranto. Three hundred and sixty-six of these were American soldiers. The loss of life on the Tuscania was 213.

Q. When was the R. F. D. system installed by the Post Office? B. D.

A. In 1863 Postmaster-General Blair introduced free delivery system, beginning the practice in cities of 50,000 population. The rural free delivery service was established under President McKinley in 1897. In 1896, the experiment in rural free delivery was started with three routes in West Virginia.

Q. In what years were the leg of mutton sleeves worn? B. G.

A. Leg of mutton sleeves were worn about 1895.

Q. Do more men or women come to this country as immigrants? L. D.

A. The number of men is much higher. Between 60 and 70 out of each hundred people coming to this country to make their homes are men. Even a higher percentage is found in the numbers of emigrants from this country to foreign lands.

Q. Who was the first negro to receive a presidential appointment? R. S. S.

A. The first negro to be appointed to a federal office, according to the Negro Year Book, was Ebenezer Don Carlos Bassett, who was appointed minister resident and consul general of the United States to Haiti by President Grant in 1869 and served until 1871.

LEGAL NOTICE.

In The Court of Common Pleas, Columbiana County, Ohio.

Arthur Clark, Plaintiff, vs. Dorothy Clark, Defendant. No. 18197.

The above named Defendant, Dorothy Clark, whose last known place of residence and Post Office Address is New Cumberland, West Virginia, will take notice that the above named Plaintiff, Arthur Clark, her husband, has filed his petition in the Court of Common Pleas of Columbiana County, Ohio in Case Number 18197, praying for divorce. That the grounds on which said action for divorce is based is wilful absence of the defendant, Dorothy Clark, for more than three years next preceding the filing of this petition. That said action will be for hearing on and after six weeks after the date of the first publication of this notice.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 3

MALE QUARTET A LA ORCHESTRA

The Shannon Quartet, to be heard to-night over the WJZ-WBZ-KDKA-KYW chain, has earned fame through its unique treatment of popular songs. The orchestral effects which the quartet produces are extraordinary, each selection being specially arranged for the purpose of making most effective use of its members' particular talent. The Shannons are Franklyn Baur, Lewis James, Elliott Shaw and Wilfred Glenn.

MAE MURRAY COINS WORD

Language Lacking in One Respect, Star Says.

Mae Murray, petite screen star, has added a new word to the English language.

The Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer star, who looks as if she should think of nothing more serious than what gown she is going to wear with what shoes, is really one of the cleverest women in the motion picture or any other business, and during the production of "Altars of Desire," now playing at the American theatre, discovered that the language was sadly lacking in one respect.

Someone on the set mentioned a certain scene that was being taken with regard to its "audience angle."

It suddenly occurred to Mae that "audience" is no word to use in connection with a group of people viewing a motion picture, for Webster defines "audience" as being "a group of listeners or hearers."

"'Audience' is taken from the Latin, audire, meaning to hear," says Miss Murray, "so why not follow the precedent and by using the Latin word videre, to see, the natural English derivation would be 'vidience.'"

If you are a real movie fan you will never mention a "motion picture audience" again, for you will not be in style and you will be essentially wrong. "Vidience," of course, is but a suggestion, and if anyone has a better one, Miss Murray is willing to hear it.

Conway Tearle has the featured male lead opposite Miss Murray in "Altars of Desire," which was directed by Christy Cabanne. The cast includes Maude George, Robert Edeson and Andre Beranger.

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

When in doubt—ask Haskin. He offers himself as a target for the questions of our readers. He agrees to furnish facts for all who ask. This is a large contract—one that has never been filled before. It would be possible only in Washington, and only to one who has spent al ifetime in locating sources of information. Haskin does not know all the things that people ask him, but he knows people who do know. Try him. State your question briefly, write plainly, and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. Address Frederic J. Haskin, Director, the East Liverpool Review-Tribune Information Bureau, Washington, D. C.

Q. Can you tell me how much waste there would be in a 15 pound turkey? F. B.

A. The weight of a fowl after the head, feet, bones and inedible entrails have been removed is from 15 to 20 per cent less.

Q. Will you please inform me where I can get full instructions how to salt peanuts in the shell. R. W. W.

A. Salting peanuts in the shell is done quite extensively in the tropics. The peanuts are boiled in the salt liquid and then allowed to dry, after which they are roasted. No special equipment is required in this process.

Q. What will color kerosene oil red? J. Y.

A. Oil Red O, which is used to color gasoline can also be used in kerosene.

Q. How do you account for the fact that Chancellor Bismarck has offtimes been addressed as Prince Bismarck? L. W. P.

A. Bismarck was entitled to the title Prince. He was created Prince in 1871 after the consolidation of the German Empire.

Q. Are big game animals on the increase in the United States? F. C. H.

A. Big game on the reservations administered by the Biological Survey have notably increased during the last ten years, with the exception of antelopes. Better control has been initiated and these are again increasing. The total number of big game animals on these reservations at this time is about 1,530.

Q. Who rang the Liberty Bell at the signing of the Declaration of Independence? H. J. L.

A. Andrew McNair rang the Liberty Bell upon the occasion of the celebration of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

Q. What is the amount of business done by cooperatives in the United States? R. K.

A. It has recently been stated that a rough estimate of the total business handled by cooperatives in the ten leading states from 1915 to 1925 is $9,000,000,000. The business transacted by the California cooperatives amounted to $1,700,000,000, the Minnesota cooperatives slightly more than $1,400,000,00, and the Iowa associations a trifle less than that amount.

Q. Will you kindly advise the total number drowned on the "Otranto" in the North Sea. Was the loss greater than the Tuscania? H. B.

A. Four hundred and thirty-one lives were lost in the wreck of the Steamship Otranto. Three hundred and sixty-six of these were American soldiers. The loss of life on the Tuscania was 213.

Q. When was the R. F. D. system installed by the Post Office? B. D.

A. In 1863 Postmaster-General Blair introduced free delivery system, beginning the practice in cities of 50,000 population. The rural free delivery service was established under President McKinley in 1897. In 1896, the experiment in rural free delivery was started with three routes in West Virginia.

Q. In what years were the leg of mutton sleeves worn? B. G.

A. Leg of mutton sleeves were worn about 1895.

Q. Do more men or women come to this country as immigrants? L. D.

A. The number of men is much higher. Between 60 and 70 out of each hundred people coming to this country to make their homes are men. Even a higher percentage is found in the numbers of emigrants from this country to foreign lands.

Q. Who was the first negro to receive a presidential appointment? R. S. S.

A. The first negro to be appointed to a federal office, according to the Negro Year Book, was Ebenezer Don Carlos Bassett, who was appointed minister resident and consul general of the United States to Haiti by President Grant in 1869 and served until 1871.

UNITED STATES PLEASES CHINA AGAIN IN STATEMENT OF POLICY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Europe has studied the Chinese problem for centuries. The United States tackled it only the other day. Yet Europe admittedly is as far from having solved it as ever. The United States seems to read the answer like a book.

Latin American republics consider the United States dangerously big and powerful to be so near by.

It suits old world diplomacy's book that the United States should be the least liked, by the other republics of the new one, of all the powers on earth.

It's a fact and it helps old world trade.

The old world's representatives on the Potomac don't talk about it for publication, naturally, but they know it and are glad of it, too.

What stumps them, however, is to make out why Washington so persistently rubs Latin America's fur the wrong way. They'd set it down to pure Yankee tactlessness. Only, if the Yankee's congenitally so crass, how does it happen that he's so popular with the Chinese?

He is.

All accounts agree that the Chinese anti-foreign agitator makes an exception in favor of Americans.

That is, he does if he knows enough to tell Americans and other "foreign devils" apart. The average coolie doesn't but, as soon as he gets education enough to sort foreigners out he's "anti" to most of them, but pro-American.

Of late he's been inclined to include Russians and Germans in the classification he considers friendly. That's because they've been nice to him since the war. But he looked on Americans as his friends long long before that, and does yet.

It isn't that the individual American in China is any more considerate than the average Englishman or Frenchman or anybody else. He's just as apt to be over-bearing as the next man.

It's Washington's friendly general policy that the Chinese seem to recognize, which is funny, considering how intangible a governmental policy is.

All the same, it's there. It's as noticeable under Secretary of State Kellogg, who's as rough as a nutmeg grater with Mexico, as it was under Secretary of State John Hay, China's traditional American stand-by.

If we land marines in Nicaragua, it's imperialistic. If we land 'em in China, it's well meant. That's the way the Nicaraguans interpret it— and the Chinese.

The diplomatic corps can't figure it out, to save their lives.

UNITED STATES PLEASES CHINA AGAIN IN STATEMENT OF POLICY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Europe has studied the Chinese problem for centuries. The United States tackled it only the other day. Yet Europe admittedly is as far from having solved it as ever. The United States seems to read the answer like a book.

Latin American republics consider the United States dangerously big and powerful to be so near by.

It suits old world diplomacy's book that the United States should be the least liked, by the other republics of the new one, of all the powers on earth.

It's a fact and it helps old world trade.

The old world's representatives on the Potomac don't talk about it for publication, naturally, but they know it and are glad of it, too.

What stumps them, however, is to make out why Washington so persistently rubs Latin America's fur the wrong way. They'd set it down to pure Yankee tactlessness. Only, if the Yankee's congenitally so crass, how does it happen that he's so popular with the Chinese?

He is.

All accounts agree that the Chinese anti-foreign agitator makes an exception in favor of Americans.

That is, he does if he knows enough to tell Americans and other "foreign devils" apart. The average coolie doesn't but, as soon as he gets education enough to sort foreigners out he's "anti" to most of them, but pro-American.

GOVERNMENT estimates the present population of the United States right here at home at 118,628,600. The country has gained 12,917,880 in the last six years, one million and a half in the last year.

All this is encouraging, although it is too slow. We need fifty million more people now to eat surplus products of farms, buy new automobiles and "used car" bargains.

People are the real wealth of the world.

WRITE down 5, then add 18 zeroes and you have five quintillions the distance in miles to our earth from one of the nearby universes floating in space around us. We thought our universe, the milky way, with our sun a bright speck in it, was all that the Lord created. But that universe is only one little speck in a mass of universes, each an island on its own account.

Within five hundred quintillion of miles of this spot in space there are innumerable universes.

It is easy to say "five quintillions;" utterly impossible for the human mind to conceive what it means Light traveling 186,000 miles a second would travel five quintillion of miles in 1,000,000 years.

Every army in Europe at this moment is trained intensely in "defensive chemical warfare"—which means in the use of poison gases.

The League of Nations talks about discontinuing the use of poison gas, but nations in the league manufacture it, specialize in it, improve on it.

If we ever get into war, which may happen in spite of prayers and amiable ladies' organizations, we shall face the poison gas from the air, everything that chemistry can do to

LEGISLATIVE MESSAGE CALLS FOR AMENDMENT PROVIDING REFERENDUM

Executive, Advising Yellow Creek Narrows Improvement, Declares Federal Government Should be Asked to Give More Aid.

SUGGESTS CURB ON WEAPON SALE

Expresses Willingness to Co-operate With Assembly in Retrenchment Program and Answers Query on Balance of State Funds.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 2.—Gov. Vic Donahey today recommended the adoption of an amendment to the Ohio constitution providing for referendums on laws authorizing state tax levies.

The governor's recommendation featured his third legislative message, sent today to the present session of the Ohio legislature.

Urges More and Safer Highways.

In his latest message, the governor, also, endorsed legislation increasing corporation franchise, or excise, taxes; providing for more extensive and safer highways; revising the election laws; restricting the indiscriminate sale of revolvers and like weapons of violence; providing varying degrees of robbery and grades of punishment to fit the crime; authorizing the state director of education to supervise educational activities in all state institutions, and recommended statutory enactments dealing with various other subjects.

Governor Donahey expressed his willingness to cooperate with the legislators in a retrenchment program—no matter how drastic it might be—and promised to sign any bill, designed to accomplish that result, as soon as it reached him.

The governor, in his message, also replied to the joint communication recently sent him by legislative leaders asking Donahey to tell them how much of the state funds appropriated by the legislature two years ago remained unexpended.

$30,000,000 Available.

Donahey stated that about $30,000,000 of the approximately $66,000,000 appropriated by the last legislature for departments under his control has not yet been spent. He declared, however, that such balances as will be available at the end of the present fiscal year—June 30, next—will not aid in relieving the state's financial distress nor help avert the threatened huge deficit in the state treasury.

Asserting that "the first duty of government is to help those least able to help themselves," the governor announced that about $18,000,000 of the approximately $30,000,000 was set aside for the department of public welfare and that none of the expenditures for which the money was appropriated would be curtailed at his direction.

Governor Donahey recommended that fees, required by state laws, paid by public utilities, insurance companies and other business and industrial concerns, be paid into the state's general revenue fund and that expenses incurred by various state departments, instead of being defrayed direct by these fees, be met through legislative appropriations from the general revenue fund.

"These departments," the governor

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 2.—By an almost unanimous vote the 30th constitutional convention of the United Mine Workers of America at noon today approved the report of the wage scale committee which asked for a free hand for the committee in negotiating a new two-year agreement with the coal operators at Miami, Fla., February 14, for the central competitive field.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 2.—A free hand to negotiate a two-year wage scale agreement with the coal operators at Miami, Fla., February 14, for the central competitive field at no wage reduction was asked of the 30th constitutional convention of the United Mine Workers of America by the wage scale committee here today.

The committee recommended that "for the purpose of meeting any unforeseen emergency that might arise" a policy committee be created and be empowered to take such action for the protection of the interests of the union as might be necessary

Recommendation was also made that all outlying districts be authorized to enter into wage scale negotiations with their respective operators as soon as the Miami agreement for the central competitive field was completed.

The new wage scale is to supplant the present Jacksonville agreement expiring on March 31.

60 PATIENTS, ON WHEEL COTS, FLEE IN FIRE AT ANN ARBOR

Convalescents are Slid to Safety on Chutes.

NO ONE INJURED

Second Blaze Occurs in Building Housing Persons Rescued.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Feb. 2.—A "firebug" today was believed responsible for the fires which destroyed the convalescent ward of the University General hospital and damaged the Jennings House, nearby, last night. The loss is $150,000.

Between 50 and 60 patients, many of them on wheel cots which were slid to safety on chutes, were removed from the flaming structure just before the roof collapsed. No one was injured.

In the midst of the fight against the hospital fire, firemen were compelled to divert their attention to the Jennings House across the street, which had been filled with patients removed from the burning ward.

University Officials Investigate.

Billows of smoke were seen pouring out of the basement of the Jennings House. This fire was soon put under control.

The origin of both fires is shrouded in mystery. University and local officials were planning an investigation.

Harley Haynes, director of the hospital, today advanced the theory that these and other blazes at various university hospital units may have been the work of a "firebug."

There were fires at the natural science building two weeks ago and at the interne's house five weeks ago. There have been several other fires with no great damage in recent years in the building housing the hospital convalescent ward.

George Chrest Gets Verdict of $4,500 In Damage Suit

A verdict of $4,500 in favor of the plaintiff was returned by a jury in common pleas court at Lisbon yesterday afternoon in the $10,000 damage action brought by George Chrest, East Liverpool restaurant worker, against Robert McHenry, motor car dealer, as the result of an automobile accident at the corner of Fifth street and Broadway about two years ago.

Judge W. F. Lones overruled a motion for a new trial.

Louis Dixon Dies In City Hospital; Funeral Tomorrow

Louis Dixon, 60, died last night in the City hospital, as a result of complications following an operation.

He is survived by one son, James; two brothers, John, of Buffalo, N. Y., and James, East Liverpool, and one sister, Mrs. Martha Talbert.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon in the Talbert home, Green lane, in charge of Rev. B. R. Johnson, pastor of the First Church of Christ. Burial will be made in Spring Grove cemetery.

Public Pays Higher Taxi Fares Under New Ordinance

Licensing Measure Permits Boost From 25 to 35 Cents for First One-third of Mile.

East Liverpool taxicab patrons today are paying higher fares, as a result of a recently enacted councilmanic ordinance which was approved by Mayor Ralph C. Benedum.

The minimum rate has been boosted from 25 to 35 cents for the first one-third of a mile under the licensing regulations.

The new tariff increases the cost for the first mile to 55 cents. There is no change in the charge of 10 cents for each one-third of a mile after the first. The increase, operators point out, is 10 cents a trip.

The ordinance requires operators to post a $10,000 liability bond and a $1,000 personal property bond and to pay a $10 license for each car. This insurance, one operator said, costs $200 per year.

The McLain-Yellow Cab company paid the license fee of five taxicabs yesterday, the insurance and licenses costing $1,500. The Green Cab company has taken out two licenses, which at the same rate, cost $420, including insurance.

Operators assert that the rate fixed

KELLOGG SAYS U. S. WILL NOT RECOGNIZE SACASA IF HE WINS

State Department, However, Will Stand by Any Nicaraguan Who Gains Position by 'Constitutional Means.'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The American government will not recognize Dr. Juan B. Sacasa, claimant to the presidency of Nicaragua, even should he be completely successful in his revolution against the Diaz government, Secretary of State Kellogg said today.

The state department, he said, would recognize any president of Nicaragua, however, who gained the position by "constitutional means." Sacasa is considered a revolutionist.

Kellogg denied that American marines in Nicaragua had unjustly treated the Liberal revolutionists. On the other hand, he said, they had given medical aid to Liberals wounded in clashes with the federalists.

PRETTY COLLEGE CO-ED KILLS SELF WHEN SHE FAILS TO PASS EXAM

Decatur, Ill., Girl Takes Poison After She "Flunks" in Mid-term Tests.

DECATUR, Ill., Feb. 2.—Heart-broken students today paid final tribute to Bernice Richardson, pretty Milliken college co-ed who killed herself in the girls' dormitory yesterday after she had been notified of her failure to pass mid-term examinations.

Special significance is attached to the girl's death in view of the current "suicide wave" sweeping over universities of the United States. Miss Richardson was the second co-ed to kill herself in as many days, and the ninth student victim of self-destruction since the first of the year.

Miss Richardson was the daughter of Dr. E. E. Richardson, a physician at Mattoon, Ill. Her mother was a social leader of the central Illinois town. The girl went to Milliken college with excellent prospects and at once became a favorite with her classmates.

But she soon began to worry over her studies. Last week mid-term examinations were held. She told her roommate, Miss Marion Schabitz, she was afraid she had "flunked." Monday evening the names of successful students were posted in the dormi-

Vandals Destroy Traffic Signs, is Report to Police

Police today were searching for vandals, believed to be boys, who are charged with destroying or stealing enameled traffic signs recently given the city by the chamber of commerce.

Many of the signs, some of which are mounted on a metal standard, have been bent or twisted off. Others have been stolen.

"Charges of malicious destruction of property or larceny will be filed against persons who are found to be molesting these signs," Chief McDermott said.

Trolley Conductor In Interurban Wreck Sues for $75,000

Suit for $75,000 damages was filed in the federal court at Cleveland today by Carl E. Emery, East Liverpool street car conductor, against The Steubenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction company, for injuries alleged to have been sustained in a collision between a passenger car and a work car at King's crossing, east of Steubenville, on September 8, 1926.

Emery was conductor on the passenger car which collided with the rear end of the work car. Several passengers on the street car were hurt, one of them dying. Emery was confined in a Steubenville hospital for several weeks as a result of the crash.

Fire Sweeps Three Stores in Agosta; Loss is $25,000

MARION, Feb. 2.—Fire of undetermined origin, believed to have started in a pool room, destroyed the three principal stores in Agosta, near here, early today and threatened the entire village of 350. The loss is placed at $25,000, less than half of which is covered by insurance.

Among the buildings destroyed, were those occupied by the Schultz general store, Tom Hoffman poolroom, and Chapman auto supply company.

Formation of bucket brigades and the timely arrival of Marion firemen with equipment saved the village from destruction.

HEAD BASHED IN

Murder Follows Man's Alleged Beating of Family.

CLEVELAND, Feb. 2—Alternately wielding an axe and a hatchet, Mrs. Anna Lista, 36, and her daughter, Elizabeth, 13, early today bashed in the head of Anthony Lista, husband and father, as he lay sleeping in bed here, according to the woman's alleged statement made to Police Sergeant John Kosier.

Threatened to Kill.

"I struck him first with the axe and then Elizabeth hit him with the hatchet," Mrs. Lista admitted, according to Kosier.

"We were afraid for our lives; he had threatened to kill us," she said.

Mrs. Lista told the officers that she and her three children had been beaten severely by Lista before he retired last night. She said she awakened during the night with a thirst and went for a drink of water. On the way she stumbled against an axe. This, she is alleged to have said, crystalized her intention of attacking her husband.

"I'm sorry the way I did it but my heart is lighter," her statement declared, according to Kosier. "Now I feel that my children are safe."

MRS. GOTSCHALL AWARDED $2,000

Mrs. Lillian Gotschall, Lisbon street, was awarded $2,000 damages against Miss Lulu Thompson, who resides along the East Liverpool-Calcutta road, in her suit for $40,000 which was heard by a jury before Judge T. D. Price, New Lexington, in common pleas court No. 2, Lisbon, yesterday.

The suit was the aftermath of an automobile collision between the Gotschall and Thompson machines in Maplewood on July 3, 1925, Mrs. Gotschall alleging she suffered injuries in the crash.

An action for $20,000 brought by Clarence Gotschall, her husband, has not been heard.

Brookes and Thompson represented the plaintiff, while Hill and Davidson and G. S. Thompson appeared for the defendant.

Mrs. Warren Wigle, Hookstown, Dies In Detroit, Mich.

Funeral services for Mrs. Warren A. Wigle, 29, former resident of Hookstown, Pa., who died Monday in Detroit, Mich., after four days' illness of pneumonia, will be held at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the home of her uncle, C. V. Wilson, of Hookstown. Rev. W. T. McKee, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Chester, will be in charge. Burial will be made in Mill Creek cemetery.

She is survived by her husband; parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Floyd, and one brother, Harry Floyd, all of Alliance.

Find Woman's Body in Woods.

LANCASTER, O., Feb. 2.—Hunters have found the body of Pearl Barrett, 40, of Bremen, O., in woods near Rushville. It is believed that the woman died of heart disease while on a stroll last Sunday.

ASK O. K. OF SENATE ACTION WHICH COMPELS SHERIFFS TO FEED PRISONERS AT COST AND AUTHORIZES PENSIONS FOR SCHOOL JANITORS

By C. H. Haddox.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 2.—The Ohio house of representatives today was to be asked to concur in the action of the senate which passed, by a vote of 34 to 0, the Bender bill compelling sheriffs to feed prisoners at cost, and the Collister bill, 24 to 7, authorizing pensions for city school custodians.

The senate, at the same time, will be requested to approve the action of the house which passed the following bills: By Abele, Cuyahoga county, making Eastern standard time the legal time throughout Ohio; By Summers, Lorain, adding newspaper men, dentists and pharmacists to the list of persons exempted from jury service; by Hadden, Cuyahoga, providing for a chief justice of the court of common pleas in all counties having more than two common pleas judges.

Measures pending today in the legislature include:

In the senate:

By Marshall, Greene, providing a schedule of fees to be charged by justices of the peace; by Ackerman, Cuyahoga, authorizing parole of prisoners, convicted of criminally mistreating girls under 12 years of age, or of burglarizing inhabited dwellings, after being imprisoned 10 years; by Mrs. Waitt, Cuyahoga, providing pensions for state welfare department employes who have served 25 years, or more; by Lewis, Belmont, permitting tenants in real estate to pay their proportionate amount of taxes and assessments levied against land; by Ackerman, providing for increased salaries for chief probation officers.

In the house:

By Goodwin, Butler county, empowering county commissioners to parole indigent prisoners; by Fitton, Butler county, disinheriting persons convicted of murder; by Norton, Cuyahoga, appropriating $150,000 from the residue of the Sesqui-centennial appropriation and the general revenue fund of the state for erection of monuments in France commemorating activities of the 37th division there during the World war; by Abele, Cuyahoga, authorizing school boards to employ dentists, dental hygienists and assistants; by Mrs. Ott, Mahoning, reducing the time unclaimed motor vehicles must be held by police before sale from one year to three months, by Williams, Mercer, increasing pay of grand and petit jurors from $3 to $4 per day; by Williams, requiring non-residents of Ohio to pay $2 for an angler's license; by Miss Penny, Montgomery, providing fines of from $25 to $100 where persons fail to obey auto traffic signals on streets and highways outside municipalities; by Emmons, Columbiana, instructing state institutions to use Ohio-made pottery; by Kreuger, Cuyahoga, providing for a joint legislative committee to investigate agricultural laws of Ohio and other states and to recommend proposed legislation designed to provide agricultural relief; by Sullivan, Union, clarifying and making more definite the law regarding labeling and marking of contents of food and prescribing duties of inspectors; by Weaver, Summit, making more definite the procedure followed in obtaining and filing complaints urging removal of public officers; by Carpenter, Seneca, providing that public school ventilating systems shall be capable of supplying not less than three complete changes of air per hour in each room. Present law requires not less than six changes.

NEWS FROM TOWNS IN TRI-STATE DISTRICT

LISBON

M. K. Zimerman, West Park Ave.
Phone 319-R. Lisbon, Ohio.

Weather Statistics for January Made Public by Observer.

January was a month that was featured by "only" five days of clear sunshine. The coldest day of that month was the 16th when it was officially but three degrees below zero. These facts are revealed in the report just issued by L. H. Copeland of Millport, official cooperative weather observer for this district.

The greatest daily range of the temperature was on the 27th when there was a change of 33 degrees within 24 hours. The mean maximum temperature for the last month was 32.5 and the mean minimum was 17.5 with the mean at 25 and the maximum at 53, the latter being registered on the 30th.

Total percipitation for January in this county was 4.37 inches, and the greatest fall in any 24-hour period was 1.02 inches on the 19th.

Snow fall in January totaled 5.5 inches and there was three inches on the ground on Jan. 15th and none at the close of the month. There were 15 partly cloudy days last month and 11 cloudy and but five clear days.

At the close of January last year there as seven inches of snow on the ground and many roads were badly drifted, resulting in hard and tedious traveling.

"Last month was about normal as to temperature, and above normal as to rainfall," Mr. Copeland declared. "There was no extreme cold spells or windy weather. The snowfall was also below normal and ice prevailed the most of the month. Wheat prospects are poor. Just twice last month did the temperature go below zero."

POULTRYMEN TO ATTEND DINNER

Poultrymen from this county will attend a dinner at Ravenna next Saturday evening that is sponsored by the Ravenna Poultry association. Among those who will attend are James A. McIntosh, president of the East Liverpool association; Will Hall, Samuel Jones and William Landfried. Dates for 1927 fall and winter poultry shows will be assigned at this meeting.

A meeting of the Ohio-Pennsylvania Federation of poultrymen will be held in Lisbon the evening of April 30th, for the purpose of arranging exhibits for the next shows.

Judgment Rendered.

M. E. Biery, trading as the M. E. Biery Motor company, has obtained a judgment in common pleas court for $310 on a cognovit note given by C. E. Burnett to the plaintiff Aug. 3, last, bearing eight percent interest. A precipe in aid of execution has been issued, and certain motor vehicles in the possession of the defendant have been levied on through the office of Sheriff George Wright.

Many Divorce Cases.

Of the 73 cases filed in common pleas court during January, one-third were petitions in divorce and for alimony.

Of the seven new cases filed in court Tuesday, five of these were actions in divorce.

At the present rate of filing new court cases, there is sufficient court business available to keep the two branches of common pleas court busy for months to come.

SUBMIT REPORT ON SEAL SALES

A report received by Attorney George L. Lafferty, secretary of the Columbiana County Public Health league from Mrs. I. H. Cook of Salem, chairman of the organization shows there has been received from the different townships $2,556.61 from the sale of Christmas seals. There is an exception to nine townships, however, where seals valued at $678 are to be heard from.

There are also outstanding 2,288 mail sale letters, and reports are to be heard from those who received them.

"People who have received these mail sale letters and who have not responded are urged to do so at once," Secretary Lafferty urged today. "It is the desire of the officers of the league to close the reports of sales, but until these outstanding letters have been heard from, no final reports can be issued."

DIVORCE RULING IS SET ASIDE

A motion to set aside a decree of divorce granted Blanche L. Mangus Dec. 9th last against her husband Frank Mangus has been sustained by Judge W. F. Lones, and the court has granted the plaintiff leave to file a supplimental petition at once. A temporary restraining order has been allowed in this case as prayed for without bond.

This action was filed Aug. 31st last and was for divorce and alimony. There was a trial to the court last month, and a decree was awarded the plaintiff after a lengthy trial to the court. The motion to set aside the decree was filed by the defendant.

Woman Seeks Divorce.

A petition in divorce has been filed in common pleas court by W. H. Spence as counsel for Florence H. Pittman against her husband, Everett J. Pittman, whose whereabouts at this time are unknown to the plaintiff.

The couple were married March 29th, 1926. The defendant, it is alleged, left the plaintiff Aug. 16th last and she has been compelled to support herself since. Constructive service through notice of summons by publication will be made an order of court in this case.

Divorce Suit Filed.

J. LeRoy Estell, residing at the McFadden rooming house 147½ West Sixth street, East Liverpool, and employed at the plant of the Patterson Foundry & Machine Co., at East Liverpool has been sued for divorce by his wife Rose E. Estell, whom he married Oct. 9th last. The petition was filed by Hill & Davidson of East Liverpool.

Marriage Licenses.

A marriage license has been issued to Dillen Webber, of East Liverpool and Mary Whitney, also of East Liverpool, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Whitney. The couple were married in the office of the probate court by Justice M. K. Zimerman.

Will Contest Dropped.

The will contest petition filed in common pleas court May 1, 1925, by William Ferrell and others against Raymond Fitzpatrick has been dismissed from the record at the costs of the plaintiff.

Sale Confirmed.

A sale has been confirmed and a deed and distribution ordered in the case of Elsie Chapman against Grant E. Pike, filed on the appearance docket, Dec. 17, 1925, in this cause the plaintiff sought to recover $2,135.04 from the defendant.

What's What in Washington

BY CHARLES R STEWART

LAW DESIRED TO FREE MONEY FOR LOANS TO WAR VETERANS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Just before the first big batch of adjusted service certificates became available to ex-soldiers as security for loans they might want to raise, a few weeks ago, the Veterans' Bureau issued a statement hoping mighty few of the certificates' holders would use them that way.

GEN. F. T. HINES

Today General Frank T. Hines, director of that same Veterans' Bureau, is pushing a bill in congress to enable the bureau itself to make loans on the certificates to ex-soldiers.

The bureau's original idea was all right. The certificates are equivalent to life insurance policies which will automatically pay themselves up in 20 years. General Hines thought it would be better for the veterans to get a sizable lump of money apiece at the end of 20 years, with protection for their families in the meantime, than to fritter their messes of pottage away as they went along by continual borrowing, as fast as their loan value increased.

But it didn't occur to him that the veteran who really needs money right now wouldn't be able to raise it on his certificate.

This is exactly the case, however.

THE national legislators who thought up the adjusted service certificate idea had this thought also:

"If veterans can borrow on these certificates on any terms that speculators offer to them, they'll be gobbled up by sharks to the tune of millions of dollars' worth,-and the vets will get precious little out of them."

So it was provided that only regularly organized banks and trust companies could make loans and even these only on strictly regulated conditions.

THE purpose of these precautions was to protect the veterans, but they involved so much red tape that they made an adjusted service certificate rather a difficult, complicated security to advance money on.

Another thing, a certificate's present loan value is comparatively small. The certificate, backed by the government, is the safest collateral imaginable, but it's a chicken feed transaction, which it isn't worth the average bank's while to bother with.

The borrower on a certificate must be identified to a dead certainty, too. He must convince the bank that it really is his certificate. Otherwise, in case he doesn't pay, the bank can't get its money from the government on it.

THE result is that most banks consider a loan on an adjusted service certificate more bother than the few dollars' interest on it pays them for.

It's a class of business that few of them care to engage in, except as a favor to regular customers. The veteran who's a regular customer of a bank isn't apt to be the one who's in urgent need of a small loan. Rather, the would-be borrower usually is hard up and without any banking connection.

So the certificate holder who can get a loan doesn't want one and the one who wants one can't get it.

THUS far only about one bank or trust company in 20, which is authorized to make loans on the certificates, has made any.

The government's precautions not only work. They work too well.

Some veterans need money now. It's admitted at the Veterans' Bureau that it's small consolation to an ex-service man to know that he'll have a comfortable bank roll coming to him in the future if he starves to death in the present.

There'll be no relaxation of restrictions on the banks and trust companies but it's likely things will be fixed so the bureau can make loans to veterans who can't get them elsewhere.

Guard Against "Flu" With Musterole

Influenza, Grippe and Pneumonia usually start with a cold. The moment you get those warning aches rub on good old Musterole.

Musterole relieves the congestion and stimulates circulation. It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister.

First you feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief. Have Musterole handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness.

To mothers' Musterole is also made in milder form—for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

Safety Through Courtesy

Courtesy is the best policy in driving. Cleveland has just observed a motor courtesy week during which prizes were offered for conspicuously courteous acts on the part of automobile drivers. The result is worth thinking about.

During the week of courtesy there were only 18 motor accidents of any sort, but three of which were serious and none fatal. During the corresponding week in 1926 that city suffered 74 accidents, three of them fatal.

One can't held considering what wonders of safety would be achieved if the same effort toward courtesy were practiced on a national scale next summer during the height of the touring season—safety from minor accidents and safety from the costly ones that take human life as well as property.

Those Oil Properties

It appears that the extent of American oil interests involved in the controversy with Mexico is less than has been supposed.

Two New York newspapers, the Evening Post and the World, have printed the first definite set of figures on this matter. The figures given have been gathered by George Barr Baker, who is well known as a trained investigator and who was Herbert Hoover's associate in European relief work during the war. They are said to be supported by independent inquiries of the papers publishing them, and are as follows:

"There are approximately 28,500,000 acres of oil lands on which rights were acquired before May 1, 1917. This is the total acreage about which there is any dispute. The rights to the acreage are held by 666 foreign oil companies.

Of these 666 foreign oil companies, all but 22 have obeyed the law by applying for a 'confirmatory concession.' The 22 companies which have thus far refused to obey the law claim rights on about 1,600,000 acres, less than 6 per cent of the total.

"Of these 1,600,000 acres, 750,000 acres, or over 46 per cent, are owned by a company in which Edward L. Doheny has a large interest."

If this is all the row is about, there seems little reason to get excited about it, or to apply anything but peaceful and normal procedure.

Perjury

Perjury in the courts has become as common as lying in the streets and just about as safe, according to the New York World. It speaks particularly of New York courts, but citizens in all parts of the country will realize that it applies in greater or less degree everywhere. It is one of the shames not only of present-day court procedure but also of the public attitude toward justice.

It is said by jurists of long experience that the juror and the man in the street regard very leniently anyone who lies, under oath, to help out a friend or a cause he is interested in. Occasionally when New York judges have felt that perjury was particularly flagrant in a given case and have turned the facts over to the district attorney, nothing has been done about it because it is commonly realized that no jury would convict the perjurer. It would prefer to regard him as rather chivalrous and a good sport for his deliberate misstatements.

It is obvious that attainment of true justice becomes exceedingly difficult in such a state of affairs. Something should be done about the situation both in increased effort to enforce punishment for perjury, and also in education toward a feeling of greater responsibility on the part of witnesses and disgust at perjury on the part of the whole public.

Well Distributed Weather

"If the total rainfall for the past 34 years," announces a Rhode Island weather fan, "had come all at once, the depth of the water would be 120 feet".

That certainly would be quite a flood and, as a bit of the kind of statistics some people crave, the computation was probably worth while.

On the whole, however, the information doesn't do much good except to suggest to grumblers that the weather, though frequently annoying, is distributed with considerable moderation. Not all days bring rain or frost or extreme heat or unbearable humidity. When suffering from any temporary unpleasant sort of weather it might be well to remember these things. The man that has kept track of the rainfall in his state for 34 years and has had the fun of adding up the total and telling his neighbors about it probably gets a lot of kick out of the weather. Instead of trying to reform it or being depressed by it, he just studies it.

What is needed on a lot of American highways is a caterpillar tractor with the lightness and speed of an automobile.

As we understand the Chinese situation, soon 400,000,000 Chinamen will be looking for a place to park.

"Asia, grim stepmother of mankind," is doing some stepmothering now.

"Americans," says a more or less observing writer, "prefer to like things rather than dislike them." Not in politics.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Feb. 2. — There are any number of women in New York's high flying set who are known as "bathroom drinkers." They sip the supercilious eyebrow at a proffered cocktail or table wine and otherwise give appearance of being rigidly abstemious.

They are usually chronic alcoholics and are sensitive about the weakness. It is their idea to deceive casual guests and slip off to the bathroom or pantry now and then to swig heavy jolts from flasks. The difficulty is obvious.

Before those who are dallying in a leisurely fashion over the aperitifs are even slightly stimulated, the "bathroom drinkers" are hilariously jagged or stupidly befuddled. In a way it is amusing were it shorn of its tragic side.

One sees a prim lady whose conduct is a model of decorum suddenly grow brightly loquacious over nothing in particular—and to all appearances she has not tasted liquor. And probably before the evening is over she is accompanied, sagging to her automobile.

This often gives impetus to rumors this person or that is addicted to drugs. It is the "bathroom drinkers" who fill the isolated sanitariums in the Jersey hills, for they drink deep and steady and try to hide their derelictions.

In an automobile crash recently a mangled woman in evening dress was removed from the debris and rushed to a hospital. Secreted away in various parts of her clothing were ten receptacles for holding a single but heavy drink of whisky.

She was merely out for the evening. There are many stories where these cheap single drink flasks are sold. It is said they are mostly purchased by the bathroom drinkers and by those who wish to fortify themselves against thirst between acts at the theatre.

At lunch the other day I noticed Mary Garden as vibrant with girlish freshness as a girl of 20. Although she is slightly past 50, she seems perennially happy, and that I believe is worth a dozen beauty parlors.

And speaking of beauty salons, those in Manhattan have a smirking dash and overtone of sex that furnish a metropolitan glamour. They are pungent with exotic incense and perfumes of Araby. Satin walls, pink budded lights and glittering mirrors heighten the razzle-dazzle. Here languid ladies of all casts are de-wrinkled, creamed, frizzed, thumped, perfumed, carmined and powdered.

All are fighting the ceaseless bugaboo of Time. Great scandals of the town and heavy secrets of the heart are aired. The beauty parlor is the feminine barber shop forum of gossip that swings lightly from booth to booth.

The Madames in charge are usually French with violatile accented talk full of "dearies" and much dense cupidity. They are apparently unmindful of their own handiwork, for they are as a rule fat, double-chinned and sprout a few facial moles. In the windows are framed photographs of cabaret hostesses or stage ladies inscribed "To dear Madame Susette with Affectionate Regards."

There are many beauty parlors that have twice daily customers and the busiest hours are in the late afternoon when ladies of the evening prime their pulchritude for the night to come. Beauty parlors' heaviest revenue comes from the patented creams and lotions in fancy bottles—costing a few pennies but selling for high figures.

Chinatown is to have an "All-American restaurant." It is said most of the patronage will be among Chinese. While on Broadway most of the cafes for Americans these days are those offering a chop suey fare.

A TEMPTATION TO HIS MAJESTY

The steamer was calling at the principal port of one of those remote South Sea islands regarding which so much romance has been written these last few years by gifted fictionists and imaginative travelers. In canoes the natives paddled out to welcome the strangers from other climes. At the head of the volunteer reception committee came the ruling monarch, King Something-or-Other, a huge brown man with an air of heavy dignity and a battered high hat upon his head. He was accompanied by the imperial staff and also by his household retinue, the party including all of his wives, many of his children and his prime minister. The latter was a Cockney beach-comber who had been stranded here years before and who, having been adopted into the tribe, had risen to a place of high favor in the eyes of the copper-colored potentate.

The king, his premier and his bodyguard were welcomed aboard ship. His subjects remained alongside, in broken English begging the passengers to throw pennies down to them. Whenever a coin struck the water half a dozen islanders at once dived for it.

One of the visitors was generously inclined. When he had emptied his pockets of coppers he began flinging out small bits of silver and correspondingly the excitement among the amphibious natives increased. In the hope of moving them to even more spirited exhibitions of their powers, the white benefactor fished about until he found a silver dollar. He was in the act of hurling it over the side when the prime minister caught his arm.

"Please, sir," begged the Cockney, "don't do that, sir. Hi ask you to refrain yourself, sir. You'll be 'aving 'Is Royal 'Ighness overboard next!"

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Chinese Dates—Jubutes.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Feb. 2—Whatever else we may get from China—trouble and danger for our nationals who are residents in that hectic land, strenous activity for our Navy and the Marines, and headaches for officials of the Department of State—we have had one thing that can not be taken away from us and that may prove of constantly increasing benefit. That is the jupube.

That sounds like it might be a game or an athletic stunt such as jiu jitsu. Some people may find that it recalls a kind of hard candy, bad for the teeth, but favored by careless children. In fact, however the jujube is a fruit comparatively new to the United States, which has varied uses, among them its serving as a confection after it has been candied.

The jujube has been grown in the United States as an ornamental plant for more than half a century, but as such it was a seedling tree that bore small fruit of very indifferent flavor. In 1908, however, the division of foreign seed and plant introduction of the United States Department of Agriculture undertook the introduction of improved varieties of jujubes from China. Finding where the tree would grow best and getting people interested in growing it was a rather slow process, but within the last few years a fair measure of success has attended the efforts of the Government horticultural experts.

Jujubes are now being grown in Texas, California, New Mexico, and Arizona, more extensively in the two States first named. As yet they are to found only in small home orchards and at the Department of Agriculture. No prediction is made as whether ultimately they will be grown on a commercial scale. It is said, however, that there is no reason why they should not be, for it is quite possible. The essential thing is to get more people interested in growing them and to develop a wider market for the fruit. The State of Texas, through its agriculture experiment station, is making a drive in this direction.

What the Jujube Is Like.

The jujube pronounced "joo-joob" with accent on the first syllable is technically described as a spiny and deciduous shrub, a native of Syria, whence it was introduced into Europe. But it is in China that it has reached its highest development. The fruit is blood red or saffron-colored, with a sweet grandular pulp. When correctly prepared it tastes like dates, and in fact jujubes are commonly known in the Orient as Chinese dates.

There are numerous species of the genus and of several the fruit is edible and wholesome. It is eaten fresh, dried, and preserved. In southern Europe it is used at table in desserts as a dry sweetmeat.

It is interesting to note, by the way, that one of the species of the tree is known as "Spina-Christi," or Christ's thorn, and there is a tradition that it furnished the branches from which Christ's crown of thorns was made.

One great value of the jujube is that it grows and produces well in semi-arid regions where little or no other fruit grows. It blooms late and over a period of several days. Last spring at the Texas Experimental station pujubes first bloomed May 10, and still had blooms on June 1. Peaches and plums bloomed there the early for both fruits. The same relative difference, however, is maintained yearly. Blooming late and over a long period jujubes are never injured by frost.

Jujubes do not appear to be particularly exacting in their soil requirements, says W. B. Lanham, chief of the divsion of Horticulture. They are growing in Texas on a wide variety of soils. In the coastal section they are making a luxuriant growth on soil slightly acid. In the western part of the State they apparently do equally as well, if not better, on soil slightly alkaline, but die on extremely alkaline soil. They require fairly good drainage. They are more particular as to climate than soil. They do their best, apparently, with long hot summers and not too much moisture, but they stand both drouth and excess moisture better than other fruit that has been grown in the Texas Experimental Station.

Most jujubes in Texas have been grown without irrigation, although they respond readily to irrigation where there is a deficiency of moisture, and while they will stand neglect they show that they appreciate good care and should receive shallow cultivation throughout the growing season.

Two Crops In One Year.

In the southern part of Texas jujubes ripen first, in a normal season, about the middle of July. There is a difference in ripening dates of different varieties, but no careful record of this has been kept. Jujubes will ripen over a period of at least two months, and occesionally there are two distinct crops in one year.

From a commercial standpoint the long period of ripening is a disadvantage, as it necessitates many harvestings, but from the home-orchard standpoint this is a decided advantage, as it gives fruit for home use over a long period of time.

Four varieties of jujubes are recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture, although a nursery at Austin, Texas, reports that it has nineteen varieties fruiting in its orchard.

The first of the varieties which have the approval of the Federal experts is the Mu Shing Hong, of which it is said that its fruit is of good size and shape, and processes well. It comes from Tsingtze, Province of Shinsi, China, and scions were secured for importation into this country by Frank N. Meyer in March, 1908. At the same time and from the same source Mr. Meyer secured scions of the Lang, said to be one of the very best varieties, producing an abundance of fruit and being one of the most readily propagated of all.

Six years later, in February 1914, Mr. Meyer secured scions of the Sui-Men near Paihsiengchen, Shansi Province, China. It is recommended as a good variety for all purposes. The largest jujube of all is the Li which this agent secured at the same time at Fuma, Shansi Province. Of all the varieties introduced into the United States the Li not only has the largest fruit, but is one of the best to eat as it comes from the tree, and ripens the latest by one or two weeks. Its flesh is crisp, it processes well, and it has the smallest pit in proportion to flesh.

Among the uses to which this new fruit may be put are the making of jujube graham bread, jujube cake filling, jujube batter pudding, jujube with oatmeal, jujube sweet pickles, and jujube butter. Also they may be preserved as plums, peaches, figs and similar fruits are preserved, and they may be candied.

And aside from being a fruit tree, the jujube makes a good ornamental or street tree.

Home-made, but Ends Coughs In a Hurry

A family supply of dependable cough medicine. Easily made and saves about $2.

If you have a severe cough or chest cold, with soreness, throat tickle, hoarseness or difficult breathing, or if your child wakes up at night with a hoarse cough, and you want quick help, try this reliable old home-made cough remedy. Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. This makes a pint of really remarkable cough remedy. It tastes good, and in spite of its low cost, can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens and raises the phlegm, stops throat-tickle and soothes and heals the irritated membranes of the throat and bronchial tubes with an ease and promptness that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, which is probably the best known means of overcoming severe coughs, throat and chest colds.

There are many worthless imitations of this mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

SMITH'S BATTLE FOR SENATE SEAT REACHES CLIMAX

ILLINOIS MAN SEEKS PLACE PENDING PROBE

Committee May Urge That he be Given Oath of Office.

THEN SLUSH QUIZ

Reed Committee to Consider Plan to Cite for Contempt.

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Although favoring the seating of Colonel Frank L. Smith, of Illinois, the senate elections committee discussed his case for two hours today without reaching a decision on his appeal for permission to take the oath of office at once.

The committee will meet again tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The battle of Col. Frank L. Smith, of Illinois, for a seat in the United States senate reached a climax today when the senate elections committee met to pass upon his appeal for immediate admission, pending a final decision on the slush fund charges raised in his primary campaign.

According to an International News Service poll, the committee will draft a preliminary report, recommending that the senate permit Smith to take his oath of office at once. With Smith an actual member of the senate, the committee then would proceed to an investigation of the slush fund charges. This procedure by the committee, however, does not insure Smith's admisssion as every indication points to the senate rejecting the committee's recommendation and again barring the doors to Smith.

The probability that the Reed committee will ask the senate in the near future to impose jail sentences upon three of Smith's supporters in the recent Illinois election will not enter into the question of seating him. The Reed committee however will meet next Monday to decide what course to take in citing for contempt those friends of Smith who refused to answer questions at the Chicago inquiry last year.

May Ask Jail Sentences.

Those threatened with jail sentences are Samuel Insull, multi-millionaire utility head of Chicago, who gave $158,735 to Smith's campaign; Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney of Chicago, and possibly Daniel F. Schuyler, an Insull attorney, who contributed $3,600 to Smith.

Thomas V. Cunningham, of Philadelphia, who refused to tell where he got $50,000 which he contributed to the campaign of William S. Vare in Pennsylvania, faces the same treatment.

The Reed committee is deadly serious in its plan to ask jail sentences for the recalcitrant witnesses, if they fail to purge themselves before the bar of the senate. To purge themselves, it was explained, the witnesses will have to answer the questions they refused to answer at the Chicago hearings.

Two Methods of Punishment.

As two methods of punishment were suggested, the committee will decide its course next Monday. The two courses were: 1, a summoning before the bar of the senate for questioning and if the refusals are persisted in, the senate would be asked to send the witnesses directly to jail; and 2, citation of the witnesses to the federal district attorney here for indictment and prosecution for contempt.

The first method has been pursued scores of times by both house and senate. The latter method was followed in the contempt proceedings against Mal S. Daugherty, brother of the former attorney general, and Harry F. Sinclair, the oil king. Both methods were recommended to the committee by Senators Goff (R) of West Virginia, and King (D) of Utah, in separate reports, thus removing all party lines.

BRITISH-CHEN PARLEY IS ON

London Denies Break in Negotiations in China.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—The British foreign office today denied that negotiations between Eugene Chen, Nationalist leader in China, and the British charge O'Malley have broken down.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 2.—The situation in the Shanghai area was intensified today, with the Cantonese forces commandeering foreign vessels for the transportation of Nationalist troops.

French, Swedish and Japanese steamers at various points have been forcibly taken over by the Nationalists for carrying their troops to Hankow where the Nationalists are being concentrated for a counter move against the southward advance of the Manchurian forces of Marshal Chang Tso-Lin.

A report from Murden, Chang's headquarters, said Chang's officers have declared that if a single Chinese is killed at Shanghai as a result of the influx of foreign troops, his officers will force Chang Tso-Lin to join the Cantonese forces against the British.

MR. GROUNDHOG SEES SHADOW

Winter will not end for at least six weeks longer, Br'er Groundhog learned today—Groundhog Day.

The woodchuck, as he is sometimes called, emerged from his home early this morning but had not been out long before he spied his shadow. He returned to his hole where he will sleep for another six weeks.

BRADLEY BURNS OUTRUNS COPS

East End Man Abandons Car and Liquor in His Flight.

Bradley Burns, Erie street, is a fugitive from justice today following his escape from police yesterday afternoon when he fled through a culvert crossing Mulberry street. Police have filed a charge of transporting intoxicating liquor against Burns.

Chief of Police McDermott and Desk Sergeant Toland were in the motor patrol, traveling south on Mulberry street, at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon when Burns, driving a Ford coupe, emerged from Locust street and endeavored to make a right turn on Mulberry street.

Sighting Chief McDermott, Burns, police, said, stopped his car and ran. Chief of Police McDermott, believing the man to have taken refuge in a nearby house, searched the place but no trace of the fugitive could be found. Police learned later that he fled through the yard and into the run which flows under Mulberry street.

In his huryy to get away, Burns, police said, left his overcoat and two gallon jugs of liquor in the machine. The car is being held in a garage, while the overcoat and liquor were taken to city hall.

Burns was arrested on New Year's Day, charged with having made a liquor sale to one "Mike Davis." After spending several days in jail he was released upon bond and later the charge was dismissed by Judge Hanley after the prosecuting witness failed to appear.

Roy Green, who was fined $100 upon a liquor possession charge nearly a month ago, is not Ray Green of 1160 Pennsylvania avenue, who recently came to this city from Shippingport, Pa., police said today.

tory. Miss Richardson's was not among them.

All of Monday night, according to Miss Schabitz, Bernice lay on her bed and sobbed. During a brief interval the girl affected an indifferent attitude and began to joke about her plight. Then she queried Miss Schabitz about the relative potency of various drugs.

Yesterday noon Miss Richardson was summoned to the principal's office. She knew what it meant. Instead of answering the summons she went to her room and swallowed poison.

"Suicide while despondent," read the coroner's report.

Educators Study Courses.

CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—With the death of Bernice Richardson, 20 year old Milliken college co-ed, enrollment in the "suicide class of '27" today stood at nine.

That number of students — seven boys and two girls—have taken their own lives in American universities in the past thirty days, an appalling average of one every 78 hours, or approximately one every three days.

For the first time, it was learned today, educators, ministers and alienists, thoroughly aroused, have joined forces in a concerted effort to fathom causes underlying this weird epidemic and to adopt measures to stamp it out.

Officials and faculty members of Chicago and Northwestern universities were known to be studying the situation. While officials refused any definite announcement concerning their plans they admitted the subject was being given serious study.

CRUCIFIXION SERMON TOPIC OF EVANGELIST

Vivid Picture of Calvary Presented by Dr. Knapp.

Crowd Attends Services at Methodist Protestant Church.

In an outstanding service emphasizing in sermon, song and testimony the part of the Cross in the salvation of human souls, several men and women accepted Christianity at the Methodist Protestant revival at the Jackson street church last evening.

Presenting a vivid picture of the Crucifixion occurrences, before and after, Dr. W. A. Knapp, the evangelist directing the meeting, held in rapt attention an audience that filled the congregation's auditorium. His text were the words: "They Came to a Place Called Calvary, There They Crucified Him."

"To have suffered such indignities Jesus Christ must have been a physical giant," he said. "He was no mollycoddle or sissy. Compared to his passing that by electric chair or the gallows pales into insignificance."

Despite the large attendance the fact was disclosed by the uplifted hands that practically 300 of the church's 500 members were not present, the gathering being augmented by those from other memberships or by them without affiliation. "I fear too many of you are not taking your religion seriously," commented the evangelist. "A revival is a patriotic, moral and social proposition even though it be nothing else for by it the entire community is benefited. If you subtract all revival efforts from a community it becomes skin-dead. Revivals are had in business, in politics and by social clubs. Benefits derived from them are noticeable. Even so are those in religion. Assuredly the entire membership of this church should now co-operate in this revival, for an uplift while bringing about the salvation of others without—the dominant purpose of every church."

An illuminated cross hung from the organ pipes back of the pulpit. Lights were dimmed as G. E. Vinaroff sang "Crucified." They were turned off again following the discourse as the appeal for a change of life was made.

"The Way of the Cross Leads Home" was sung fervently during the preliminary service when Mr. Vinaroff contributed also a medley of hymns on the miramba. The invocation was by Rev. A. H. O'Brien, pastor of the Baptist church.

"Friendship Night," when members are to bring one or more of their friends to the meeting was announced for this evening.

During the testimony period four persons were disclosed present who had been Christians for 50 years. A larger number admitted a forty, thirty, twenty and periods graduating to six months' tenure in religious activities.

Dr. Knapp declared the Cross to be the world's supreme tragedy, the place of its greatest blessing where hell boiled over and where the wrath and justice of God were exhibited in superlative degree.

At the conclusion of the service cards were passed out on which were spaces for signing "forward tendencies" of those receiving them.

Meetings will be held during the remaining nights of the week.

OHIO SALESMAN SHOT TO DEATH

Three Men are Held for Quiz at Newport, Ky.

NEWPORT, Ky., Feb. 2.—County officers today were holding three men for questioning in connection with the mysterious murder late last night of Louis C. Riley, 37, Cincinnati salesman.

Riley's body riddled with bullets, was found on the Licking road, six miles south of here.

Cincinnati police have been asked to check on the report that three men yesterday asked Riley to demonstrate an automobile to them, and that he kept the appointment last night.

The theory that robbery was a possible motive for the crime was discarded today when it was learned that the murdered man had but a small amount of money with him.

Several Persons Reported Injured In Studio Blast

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—A number of persons were reported injured today in an explosion which wrecked the two-story laboratory building on the Cello Film company's studio plot in West Fort Lee, N. J.

Early reports were to the effect that several persons are believed to be trapped in the burning wreckage. Ambulances were called from nearby towns.

Dry Legislation Thrown Overboard By House Members

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2. — All dry legislation for this session was thrown overboard today by the house ways and means committee.

The committee voted not to report the medicinal whisky bill sponsored by L. C. Andrews, dry chief, and then shelved other dry measures by appointing a sub-committee to study legislation to strengthen prohibition enforcement.

The committee's action may hasten the retirement of Andrews, who has said he wanted to remain in office only long enough to see his dry program enacted.

told the solons, "are for the protection of the public, hence the public should pay the bill, through general revenue fund appropriations. Payment of fees places these industries in the position of being employers of the department that regulate and supervise them."

Election Law Revision.

Touching on the subject of election law revision, the governor endorsed permanent registration of voters, easier recount of ballots, urged that voters be permitted to vote at primaries without disclosing their party affiliations, and recommended that the right of women voters to serve on political party committees be given statutory recognition, "so they may officially exercise the same authority as the male members of such committees."

Another recommendation by the governor was that the inter-county system of roads in Ohio be increased from 11,000 to 12,000 miles and that the limit on construction cost be raised from $3,000 per mile to $5,000.

The governor advocated legislation permitting revocation of conditional pardons and the return of violators to penal and correctional institutions in a manner similar to the present system of revoking paroles and returning parole violators.

Battle Against Crime.

"A crying need in society's battle against crime," said the governor, "is a more vigorous enforcement of the laws against carrying concealed weapons." Asserting that there should be "a way to gauge the penalty to fit the crime," he favored legislation defining degrees of robbery and fixing varying penalties to fit the grades. The governor endorsed the suggestion that "repeaters," guilty of major robberies, including looting banks, stealing payrolls, and committing robberies with revolvers, or other deadly weapons, be given life sentences.

Recommendation was made by Governor Donahey that the state director of education be authorized to supervise educational activities in all state institutions, to standardize courses and to elevate them to as high a plane as possible.

The governor endorsed abolition of road assessments against abutting property owners, except in cases where property owners petition for an assessment for a road which, otherwise, could not be financed.

Yellow Creek Narrows Plan.

Declaration was made by the governor that the federal government should be petitioned to assist the state and the counties, "to an extent greater than permitted by the present federal rules," in defraying the cost of constructing a grade and roadbed over the Shadyside-Powhatan narrows, Belmont county, and the Yellow Creek narrows, Jefferson county, as part of the Ohio river road.

The governor pointed out that this route, from Cincinnati to East Liverpool, nearly half of which is a section of the Atlantic and Pacific highway, is practically completed except for the above mentioned narrows, which were designated by Governor Donahey as "two difficult spots" where long detours through the hills are necessary.

Legislation requiring railroads to share in the cost of eliminating grade crossings by a change in alignment of the highway was favored by Donahey.

The solons were urged by the governor to accord friendly consideration to recommendations soon to be made by the governor's special committee of Spanish war and World war veterans who recently made a survey of conditions and needs at the Ohio soldiers' and sailors' home, Sandusky, and of the Ohio soldiers' and sailors' orphans' home, Xenia.

The governor, also, solicited the aid of the legislators in bringing about improvements at Ohio penitentiary recommended by a committee of eight Columbus physicians, chosen by the governor, which, some weeks ago, probed sanitary conditions at the big state prison.

Donahey stated that the importance of safeguarding the health of penitentiary prisoners "is equally applicable to all the penal, correctional and benevolent institutions of the state."

The legislators were urged by Governor Donahey to appoint a joint committee to cooperate with the state board of uniform state laws between legislative sessions, "with a view to the preparation and introduction of measures making uniform the laws of Ohio with the laws of other states, so far as practicable on similar subjects."

Donahey, also, declared the board was handicapped because existing law limits its expenditures to $5,000 annually. He urged that this limitation be removed, or raised to $10,000.

Recodification of Laws Urged.

"Scientific" recodification of the laws of the Buckeye state by a commission of competent attorneys was strongly urged by Governor Donahey. He called attention to the fact that there has been no recodification of these statutes since 1910. Since that time, he pointed out, voluminous legislation followed adoption of the Ohio constitutional amendments in 1912, each succeeding legislature grinding out its grist of hundreds of laws on all manner of subjects.

"Our present code is encumbered with many obsolete and archaic laws," declared the governor. "There are numerous conflicting statutes which should be reconciled and other complicated ones simplified.

"Every time a new municipal court is created, a voluminous special act is passed until now hundreds of pages of the code are devoted to detailed legislation governing the procedure of each of these local courts." Governor Donahey told the legislators.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Important developments in the proposed railroad mergers were foreshadowed by the spectacular advances in railroad shares in unusually heavy trading today. Meetings of the boards and special committees of Erie and Pere Marquette roads take place today, while resumption of the conferences between the Van Sweringens and the minority stockholders of Chesapeake and Ohio was also on the schedule.

With the opening gong on the stock exchange the excited buying of Wheeling and Lake Erie, Western Maryland, Erie, New Haven, Peoria and Eastern, Rock Island and other of the "merger rails" was promptly resumed. Wheeling and Lake Erie preferred, on which about 70 per cent in unpaid dividends has accumulated, raced up to 78⅞ for a new gain of 4 points, while both of the Western Maryland issues gained 2 points.

Erie common and first preferred gained a point and New Haven 12 1-2 on buying attributed to railroad interests close to the managements of Pennsylvania railroad and Delaware and Hudson. Shorts in various railroad stocks were badly punished as the closely held and newly sensational issues forged ahead to unprecedented price levels as mystification about their real status increased. Meanwhile President Loree of Delaware and Hudson officially denied that he was purchasing Wheeling and Lake Erie stock.

shorten human life and wouldn't it be a good idea to be ready for it, and how can we be ready for it if we simply watch others getting ready.

IN PHILADELPHIA, police, to convict men of driving automobiles recklessly while drunk, will get evidence by blood tests. The blood shows how much alcohol a man has in him.

Those that drink whisky, the bootleg variety now flooding the country, would be interested in the effect of whisky on the blood. Among other things it discourages the leucocytes, destroys the power of the blood to heal wounds. The bootleg drinker would do well to insure his life. If anything happens to him necessitating an operation he is apt to go from the operating table to the undertaker.

SYBIL BAUER, swimming champion, died Monday, only 23 years old. She set a world's record for world's records in all, and her specialty was short races from 100 meters to one quarter of a mile.

The early death of this brilliant young woman is a warning against too violent exercise. Straining the heart means shortening life.

A SWISS inventor has made a clock alleged to solve the problem of perpetual motion, which of course it doesn't solve. The thing is wound up by variations in temperature. It has run for a year without being touched. That, however, isn't perpetual motion. This earth will get cold, our atmosphere will vanish and at the ether's temperature, "absolute zero," that clock won't run. Nothing is "perpetual" except divine justice.

ate referendum vote of the membership to authorize it to bargain terms with the operators in an endeavor to obtain an agreement for not less than $7.50 a day.

No mention was made of the six-hour day and five-day week.

Another recommendation was that all contracts in the bituminous districts run concurrently and expire on the same date.

John Brophy, of Clearfield, Pa., recognized as head of the radical element in the miners' union, took the platform to address the convention just before noon.

Brophy mentioned the possibility of a general strike developing as the result of the probable rejection by the operators of the wage scale committee's demands.

"The committee's report should be altered so as to appeal more to non-union men to join the organization," Brophy urged. "It is a sad fact but a fact nevertheless that 65 per cent of the bituminous coal is mined by non-union men. We should do something to strengthen the union membership for the coming clash."

AKRON REVIVES WHIPPING POST

Judge Administers 20 Lashes to Alleged Wife Beater.

AKRON, Feb. 2.—The whipping post has been revived in Ohio—if not officially, at least effectively.

Irked by the repeated appearances in police court here of John Caves, 40, alleged wife beater, Municipal Judge E. E. Zesiger late yesterday personally administered 20 lashes, after passing sentence on the prisoner.

The whipping was conducted in a cell at police headquarters. Judge Zesiger used an 18-inch section of garden hose.

"I guess I smacked him at least 20 times across the seat of his breeches with the flexible hose,' the judge declared after carrying out his own sentence. "Caves blubbered like a school boy and promised to behave himself in the future. Then I released him."

Judge Zesiger is a firm advocate of a law providing the lash for wife beaters.

GROUNDHOG DAY DANCE AT PARK

A capacity crowd is expected to attend the Groundhog Day dance, which will be given by employes of the Homer Laughlin pottery, members of their families and friends at Virginia Gardens, at Rock Springs park, tonight.

Dan Gregory's Victor Recording band, which is playing a three-day engagement at the park, pleased a fair sized crowd last evening. This band will also play for the Laughlin dance tonight and for another public dance, which will be held Thursday night. The Demar Miller band, of this city, made up of 10 musicians will have charge of the music for the Saturday night dance.

Five dances will be held at the park next week, the only open night being Monday. Pete Sullivan's Palace Royal Orchestra, formerly of South Bend, Ind., will play Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. Employes of the Knowles, Taylor & Knowles pottery have leased the pavilion for Wednesday evening, having engaged Ray Sapiro's Knights of Rythm, of Beaver Falls, to render the music.

Manager C. C. Macdonald, of the park, announced today that Oliver Naylor's Victor Recording band, another noted musical organization, would appear there on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, February 15, 16 and 17.

"The 10-cent additional fee on the minimum charge will not more than meet the cost of a license and insurance which we are obliged to carry on each of our machines," said Albert McLean, head of the McLean Yellow Cab company today. "The increase amounts to 10 cents per ride no matter whether the charge of 35 cents or $10."

The new measure makes no changes in the flat charge of 20 cents for each additional person when more than one passenger is carried in the car. The extra person charge does not apply to children 12 years of age or under.

Scores of Persons Held in Alleged Anti-Calles Plot

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 2.—Scores of persons have been arrested in Tampico, following the discovery of an alleged Catholic plot against the Calles government, according to dispatches received here today.

Federal agents and troops are reported co-operating in a drive against the alleged plotters.

WORK LAUNCHED ON NEW OFFICE

Room Will be Occupied by Hancock County Loan Company.

Work was begun this week on the new room for the Hancock County Building and Loan company in the First National bank building. Third street and Carolina avenue. The contract is held by the Finley Brothers company of Chester. It is expected to be completed and ready for occupancy in 60 days.

The room, which was formerly occupied by the Merschrod and Taylor grocery company will be completely remodeled and fitted up in modern style adapted for banking purposes Hallway will connect with the First National bank located on the corner.

Steadily increasing business resulted in the decision on the part of the directors to establish a separate office for the loan company. It is the largest institution of its kind in the state and at the first of the year paid out large dividends to the stockholders.

LEE GIVES RULING ON BOND CASE

Failure of John C. Bond to return from the state institution at Huntington where he is now undergoing treatment in time for the trial March 16 in the impeachment case against him would not prevent the senate from proceeding with the trial, Attorney General Lee said yesterday. Unlike a criminal case, it is not necessary for him to be present, although he has that privilege.

Should Dr. L. V. Guthrie, head of the hospital and a widely recognized authority, send a certificate that Bond's illness was such as would prevent him from performing the duties of state auditor, the senate could try him on the incompetence charge included in the impeachment case and take its action on that charge.

A certificate from the physician that he was suffering from a nervous illness would cause postponement of the criminal charges against him in court, but he could be tried at a later date if he recovered. Should the physician, however, certify that he had been suffering from nervous disorders three or four years ago at the time of the alleged criminal acts a jury might consider this as relieving the former auditor from the criminal charges.

ETHEL PRESCOTT, AGED 24, DIES

Ethel Venumn Prescott, 24 years old, died today in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Venumn, back of Chester, after a two years' illness.

Besides her parents she is survived by two brothers and one sister: Earl, Baltimore, Md.; Clarence and June, both at home.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, in charge of Rev. B. R. Johnson, pastor of the First Church of Christ, East Liverpool. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery, East Liverpool.

CLASS MEETING IS SCHEDULED

Members of the Loyal Sons class of the First Christian church will meet tomorrow night at the home of Percy Willison.

The class has arranged for the showing of a benefit picture in the Lincoln theatre on February 11. Proceeds will be used toward purchasing a new bell for the church.

Road Work Progressing.

Work is progressing on the grading and draining of the five-mile stretch of the Lincoln highway between Chester and the Pennsylvania state line. The contract is held by a Clarksburg contracting firm.

Church Boards Meets.

Members of the official board of the First Methodist Episcopal church met in regular session last night in the church. Routine business was transacted.

Fancywork Club Meets.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy cheeks—sparkling eyes—most women can have. Dr. F. M. Edwards for 20 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave his patients a substitute for calomel made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—now and then to keep fit. 15c, 30c and 60c.

FRUIT GROWING SCHOOL PLANNED

Following the successful school in fruit growing held during 1926 plans for a second school to be held at Inwood, Berkeley county, February 8 and 8, have been formulated.

Subjects particularly timely will be discussed and demonstrations will be given in the nearby orchards, illustrating various orchard practices. A number of specialists from the college of agriculture will be present to lead in the discussions and demonstrations.

Professor H. L. Crane will discuss the effects of planting distance on tree growth and yield; soil management; and the relation of pruning to yield and quality of fruit.

Dr. H. E. Knowlton will discuss quality production as a factor in the present economic situation; nitrogen and its effect upon color and size of fruit; and varieties for replanting, with special reference to pollination.

Professor E. C. Sherwood will explain the new developments of the spray service and give the new ideas in disease and insect control.

Revival Services Planned.

Rev. R. C. Ehrheart, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, will open a two weeks' revival campaign in the church next Sunday. Services will be held every night with the exception of Saturday. Bert Williams will be in charge of the singing

HOG CONTEST PLANS FORMED

West Virginia's first official ton litter project will be held in 1927 under the direction of the agricultural extension service and the animal husbandry department of West Virginia university in cooperation with the West Virginia Livestock association and the swine registry associations.

Any farmer or any boy or girl who is 15 years of age or older may enroll for the project, provided he will agree to observe the rules of the contest. All enrollments must be made between March 1 and June 1, 1927. The project has been outlined in response to a request made by the West Virginia Livestock association at its annual meeting held at Morgantown during Farmers' Week.

Each litter will be allowed 180 days in which to make its weight. Premiums will be offered for the heaviest litters. The object of the project is to find out the most profitable method of producing and feeding hogs for market and home use.

Each litter of pigs entered in the contest must be ear-marked within seven days after birth, and a certified report of the marking together with the date of farrowing and number of boars and sows in the litter, must be forwarded to the county agent or to Benjamin F. Creech, extension animal husbandman, Morgantown, W. Va.

Gains 8 Pounds Since Taking Vinol

"I felt sluggish, drowsy and weak. A friend suggested Vinol. Now I feel fine and have gained 8 pounds."—R. H. Bailey. The very FIRST week you take Vinol, you begin to feel stronger, eat and sleep better. For over 25 years, this simple, strengthening iron and cod liver compound has been helping nervous, run-down women, tired men, and pale, sickly children. Contains no oil—pleasant to take. J. D. Holloway, Druggist.

Venice Plans Bridge In Memory of Men Who Fell in Battle

VENICE.—Already a city of many bridges over her 150 canals, Venice is to have another bridge of noble design in memory of her fallen soldiers.

Two iron bridges across the Grand Canal have been condemned on artistic grounds. These are near the station and academy.

The academy one, it has been decided, is to be replaced by a graceful stone bridge as a war memorial.

SPOTSWOOD IS NAMED WELLSVILLE CIVIC ENGINEER

C. OF C. TO PAY WHEELING MAN $1,000 A YEAR

Civic Betterment Program Will be Carried Out.

SURVEY PLANNED

Appointee Now Engaged in Similar Work in Wheeling District.

First actual step in the Wellsville Chamber of Commerce's plan to refurbish the municipality's civic opportunities and attainments was taken last night at a meeting of the organization's board of directors with the engagement of Daindridge Spotswood, of Wheeling, civic engineer, at a salary of $1,000 a year.

Spotswood will be hired for one year, the directors announced, during which time the chamber's plans for betterment of the city will be thoroughly tested out.

He is at present engaged in similar work in the Wheeling-Bellaire-Bridgeport district and, as a result, will be occupied with the local project only on a part-time basis.

One of initial steps will be the completion of a survey of the city's resources and industrial needs from which a working plan will be drawn up.

SOLICITOR TO ACT IN SUITS AGAINST CITY

Council Confers Authority in Three Civil Cases.

INCREASE LIGHTS

Names of Prospective Assessors are Listed.

Solicitor S. C. Luccock last night was authorized by council to "take whatever action may be necessary to protect the city" in three civil suits now pending in common pleas court against the municipality—namely, the Mae Sheppard, L. W. Merical and J. H. Fultz cases.

Two resolutions were necessary to confer the authority on the solicitor.

The first resolution, naming the Sheppard and Merical suits, was approved by council unanimously and was passed as an emergency measure under suspended rules.

The Fultz resolution was defeated when voted upon as an emergency, Councilmen Connor and Swearingen voting against it, and subsequently passed, 5 to 2, on first reading.

Three more lights were added to the city's service system by council, including one at Fifth and Broadway, one at Second and Lisbon, and one in Buckeye avenue between Twelfth and Fourteenth streets.

As a way out of the dilemma in which power company workmen have found themselves as a result of protests lodged against the erection of equipment necessary to place lights along Riverside below Ninth, Mayor W. L. Fogo suggested that the wiring could be done from the alley in the rear and that the street and light committee confer with power company officials on the matter.

Clerk George Hardman was instructed to notify the telephone company to have a representative at the next meeting, with authority to make a definite decision in respect to the company's franchise.

A lengthy report of the city health department's activities through 1926 was received and placed on file by the solons. The report revealed statistics on births, deaths, sanitation, health activities in the schools and other similar details.

In response to a request by County Auditor Elmer Walker, council named eight local citizens as prospective assessors here. The school board was asked to name eight also and from the list, the auditor will make the final selections.

First ward nominations were G. B. Imbrie and W. E. Ward; Second ward, John McCord and B. D. Beacom; Third ward, Ben Rahter and Charles Donaldson; Fourth ward, A. J. White and W. E. Smith.

SALINEVILLE

The following persons from Salineville attended the banquet at the Westminster Presbyterian church, Steubenville, Monday evening: Rev. W. S. Martin, Allen Maple, Charles Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Ashbaugh and Mrs. Martha Patterson. The dinner was served in connection with the campaign for the church's "Service Pension Fund." The Presbytery is asked to pledge $88,204. H. D. Winteringer, of Steubenville, is the presbyterial chairman and S. B. Larkins, of Salineville, is the chairman of District No. 6, with the following churches, Irondale, Bethesda, Salineville, and Monroeville. Allen Maple is chairman at the Salineville church; Fred Morrow at the Monroeville church.

James W. Ogle, aged 74, died at his home three miles east of Salineville Monday. He had spent all of his life in this community save 18 in Cleveland. Mr. Ogle was an employee of the Pennsylvania Railway company for more than fifty years, and was retired on a pension about two years ago. He is survived by his wife, and three children, Marshall Ogle, Mrs. Ruth Leipart, and Miss Esther Ogle, all of Cleveland; four sisters, Mrs. Barbara Laman, Alliance; Mrs. Elizabeth Hunter, of Lakewood; Mrs. Margaret Kerr, Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Mary Baker, East Salineville and one brother, Rodney Ogle, near Salineville.

The funeral services was held at the home of his sister, Mrs. Baker, this afternoon in charge of Rev. H. L. Peoples, pastor of the Methodist church. Interment was made in the Woodland cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. McCormick, of Congo, W. Va., Mr. and Mrs. Grover Miller, of Lisbon, and Miss Marie Donaldson, and brother Charles, of Wellsville, were Sunday visitors at Attorney and Mrs. S. E. McCormick's home.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Donaldson of Wellsville, and Mrs. Effie Donaldson of Louisville, were guests of Miss Ida Madison and brothers Sunday.

Miss Mary Carey and Miss Catherine Smith, who are employed in Canton, were visiting home folks Sunday.

Saturday evening the basketball teams from Fairfield will meet the local high school teams at Addison's hall. Salineville girls' team was defeated by the Fairfield girls at Fairfield. The girls' team is working hard to avenge this defeat and two interesting and exciting contests are expected.

Mrs. John Overbaugh, of Main street, has returned from a visit with friends in Cleveland.

Holes in Highway Temporarily Filled With Asphalt.

Permanent repairs will be made to the Wellsville-East Liverpool road as soon as weather permits, Supt. Keltner of the state highway department announced at the Lisbon office today. About 60 feet of the recently paved road was damaged by a rock slide Sunday night. The road will be kept in temporary repair until spring by the highway department.

GIRLS' FRIENDLY CLUB ORGANIZED

Organization of the Girls' Friendly club was effected at a recent meeting of 13 members here. The club will meet twice a month with Miss Jennie Perry, American Sheet & Tin Plate plant nurse, as councillor.

Officers were named as follows: President, Anna Horner; secretary, Lena Gauvia; publicity director, Kathleen Cooper.

The following girls are members: Fanny Angelo, Hazel Bell, Kathleen Cooper, Lena Gauvia, Mary David, Mary Dunholm, Laura Dunholm, Anna Horner, Sara Matthews, Daisy Newlan, Esther Newlan, Eleanor Puch and Vivian Rager.

Girls' Team Loses.

The local colored girls' basketball team was defeated by the East Liverpool sextet, 10 to 9, in a recent clash on the M. E. court.

Arrangements are being made to play two games with Steubenville, the first at Steubenville February 4 and the return match here on a later date.

Mrs. Fred Lowary Ill.

Mrs. Fred Lowary, First street, is confined to her home by an attack of tonsilitis and grip.

KRAUSE NAMED ON AUTO CLUB

Made District Director at Session Here.

Wellsville members of the Columbiana County Motor club, at their annual district meeting last night in the city hall building, elected Charles J. Krause, local automobile dealer, as the city's representative on the club's board of directors.

Mr. Krause will qualify for the post and will appoint four members who will serve with him as members of the Wellsville division advisory board during his administration.

The club went on record as in favor of a request that the county commissioners provide for the building of a guard fence along Spring Hill on the Wellsville-Salineville road at an early date.

Careless Washing Spoils the Hair

The simple hair styles of to-day make beautiful hair a necessity.

Luckily, beautiful hair is now easily obtained. It is simply a matter of shampooing.

Proper shampooing makes the hair soft and silky. It brings out all the real life and lustre, all the natural wave and color, and leaves it fresh looking, glossy and bright.

While your hair must have frequent and regular washing to keep it beautiful, it cannot stand the harsh effect of ordinary soaps. The free alkali in ordinary soaps soon dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it.

That is why discriminating women, everywhere, now use Mulsified Cocoanut Oil Shampoo. This clear, pure and entirely greaseless product brings out all the real beauty of the hair and cannot possibly injure.

Two or three teaspoonfuls is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather which cleanses thoroughly and rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

It leaves the hair soft and easy to manage and makes it fairly sparkle with new life, gloss and lustre.

You can get Mulsified Cocoanut Oil Shampoo at any drug store.

WOMAN PASTOR HERE TONIGHT

Rev. Stella B. Crooks, Chicago, at Nazarene Church.

Rev. Stella B. Crooks Chicago evangelist, will conduct a five-day series of special meetings in the Church of the Nazarene, St. Clair and Lincoln avenues, beginning tonight.

Services will also be held Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings at 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Crooks will also speak at a district meeting of the Women's Missionary society at the local church at 10 a. m. and 2:30 p. m. tomorrow. Women from Lisbon, New Philadelphia, Chester, Newell and East Palestine will attend the services. Members of other local churches, interested in missionary work, have been invited to attend.

Mrs. Crooks is a former field secretary of the Church of the Nazarene.

Fifteen of the most prominent dentists in Rio de Janeiro are Americans.

Public telephone booths are being tried out in Dublin.

Egypt's government telephone systems are to be extended.

Escapes From Serious Condition Caused by Nervousness, Gastritis, Loss of Sleep, Strength, Health Restored. Gains 12 Pounds.

John F. Meighen, now residing at 1309 Leonard street, Dayton, Ohio, recently said: "For 2 or 3 years before taking Tanlac I was always ailing. I lost weight, felt weak. And my stomach caused great suffering, especially after lunch and dinner. And I never slept soundly. My nights were restless hours of tossing and turning.

"I had to force food into my stomach and then would be tormented by sharp pains. Gas forming in the stomach, bloated me, made me belch.

"I read of what Tanlac had done for so many people and began taking it. This tonic cleaned out my system, toned up my liver. I eat everything now without a sign of trouble and sleep like a child. I feel stronger and better than I have in many years, thanks to Tanlac."

Tanlac, nature's own remedy made from roots, barks and herbs, is sold by your druggist. Get your first bottle today — and enjoy strength and good health! Over 40 million bottles sold.

The Little White Hag

By Francis Beeding

©BY LITTLE, BROWN and CO. RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

CHAPTER TWENTY-NINE.

For a moment there was complete silence while Baldassare stood motionless, the handkerchief in his fingers, facing the Center, whose hand was still raised to strike the gong.

Then the Center dropped his hand. "Show me handkerchief," he said to Baldassare.

Baldassare approached, and the Center took the handkerchief from his hands, laying down the hammer of the gong on the table as he did so.

He scrutinized the small square of cambric carefully. Then he rapped out an order to the butler standing beside him. The man bowed and left the room.

I knew instinctively that this was the real handkerchief and I wondered hopelessly what this new development might mean. Had Claypole been captured by the gang, or had they somehow intercepted the packet which I had addressed to him? In any case, he had failed; that was obvious.

Nevertheless, my feelings during those first few minutes were of relief more than anything else. Fate had intervened to save me from the ghastly decision with which I had been faced.

The butler shortly reappeared, a silver salver in his hand, on which was a magnifying glass. He bowed and handed it to the Center, who took it and by means of it silently examined the handkerchief. Presently he raised his head and turned round.

"Good," he said to Baldassare. "This true article. We not proceed further with regrettable scene."

Then he turned to me, with his unchanging smile:

"I not sorry, Mr. Quexter," he began affably, "that so interesting experiment be broken off. I honorable man and not like to cause great agonies to human frame. On contrary, I have mission to prevent suffering and help poor, miserable mankind forget troubles."

He paused, presumably expecting me to make some remark, but I could think of nothing suitable.

"One day, Mr. Quexter," he continued, "I know you better and explain you my philosophy, but at moment we expect report of excellent Baldassare on man from New York, though first I cause inconvenience of handcuffs to be removed."

He signed to the two Japanese, who were still standing passively on either side of me. They fumbled behind my back for a moment, and I felt their deft fingers upon my wrists. A moment later there was a click and my hands were free.

"Now you sit down on convenient chair, and we hear all about handkerchief," said Mr. Center.

Almost mechanically I found myself seated in a chair beside the little Japanese. Baldassare still stood before us like an overgrown schoolboy, his soft felt hat clutched in his hand. The two servants and the butler had left the room, and the three of us were now alone.

"Now," said the Center. "We listen to your important story, Signor Marce."

Thus encouraged, Baldassare, squinting more violently than ever in his excitement, began.

"In accordance with your excellency's instructions," he said, "Q. 2 and L. 29 kept the man from New York under observation last Tuesday and Wednesday. While I was effecting the arrest of this person," and he indicated me, "the other American engaged with the police, who were proceeding to our Bellevue post. L. 29 reports that they ransacked the place, but we had been careful to leave nothing behind which could be used as evidence against us."

The Center nodded.

"The American next went to a small house in the old town which was apparently his headquarters. We watched the house, but in conformity with Your Excellency's orders, made no attempt to arrest or interfere with him. He did not leave that house until Wednesday night late, about midnight in fact, when he proceeded through the town towards the electric power station which is situated—as Your Excellency probably remembers—in the middle of the Pont de la Machine. He stood in the center of the bridge for some time, gazing at the river, which runs very swiftly at that spot.

"While our men were wondering what had brought him there, he suddenly began to behave very strangely indeed. He walked restlessly up and down the bridge for several minutes, muttering loudly to himself. Then presently he was seen to climb the railings and cast himself into the stream.

"On observing this, Q. 2 and L. 29 at once hurried to the house in the old town, which they in truth found to have been occupied by the American. Searching his effects they found this document."

At this point Baldassre handed the Japanese a folded sheet of paper.

I listened to the narrative with growing horror. What in the world had been happening to the merry, true-hearted Cyrus Claypole in my absence?

"Continue," said the Center calmly, picking up the paper.

"On the next day, that is to say this morning, L. 29 proceeded to the electric light works situated on the borders of the Rhone at some short distance from the village of Vernier. It is there, your excellency, that most corpses are recovered from the Rhone, since a concrete dam divides the stream at that point. L. 29 assisted in dragging operations which resulted in the discovery of the body of the American, and he contrived to examine the pockets of the corpse. He found in them the handkerchief, which he forwarded immediately to me and which I had the honor to give to you a few minutes ago."

"This most interesting narrative," said the little Japanese. "You quite sure it was Mr. Claypole?"

"Quite," replied Baldassare. "The body is now lying at the Morgue, but the paper and clothes found on it leave no doubt as to the identity. The head was badly battered, but this was only natural, as the Rhone is a swift stream and there are many natural obstacles against which the body would strike in its passage."

The Center turned sharply to me.

"Have you theory," he asked, "to account for deplorable fate of your so recently deceased friend?"

I had listened astounded to the story, and my brain repeated vaguely, "Claypole is dead. What shall I do? Claypole is dead." I looked blankly at the little Japanese.

"None whatever," I said, "I can't believe it."

"Then you very foolish man," replied the Center, "after all that Signor Marce has told us."

"The handkerchief was found on his body," interposed Marce.

"The letter," I said dully, pointing to the sheet of paper in the hand of the Japanese. "Perhaps that will explain."

The Center handed the paper to me.

"Letter addressed to you, Mr. Quexter."

I took the paper mechanically and unfolded it. It was covered with hasty pencil scrawl, and this is what I read:

I just can't explain, but it's all up. I guess I'm a quitter. They got Harold Lynch and Charlie Malone and now they've got you. My turn is coming fast. It's only a question of hours, and I can't face what they did to poor Charlie. I don't suppose you'll ever see this, but before I go I got to thank you for all your help and to say I'm blamed sorry for what I let you in for. Guess we'll meet again in that undiscovered country from whose bourne no traveler returns.

Cyrus P. Claypole.

I laid down the paper with a shaking hand and heard, as through a mist, the Center saying in a tone which was almost reverential:

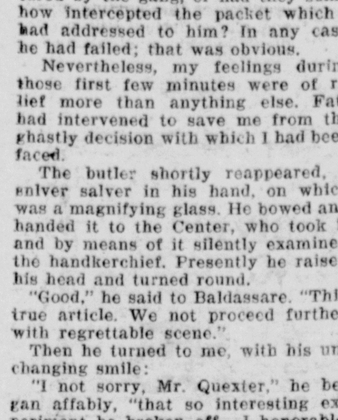

"Claypole honorable man. Yess. He no support stain on personal honor by superior cleverness of my organization, so he commit harakiri, in true Japanese spirit. May he find peace."

And there the little Japanese rose to his feet and, fixing his eyes on a picture of the Mikado hanging upon the wall, bowed low and ceremoniously as a tribute to my dead friend.

My thoughts went mechanically to a book I had once read on the customs of Japan, in which it related that a Japanese Samurai whose honor was defiled was accustomed, if he failed to avenge himself, to commit suicide rather than continue to live. Claypole's action, which had seemed to me inexplicable madness was, therefore, an act of high courage and moral worth in the eyes of the little Japanese.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Count Bethlen Plans To Consult Mussolini On Choice of King

BUDAPEST.—When Premier Count Bethlem, visits Mussolini in Rome at the end of February, it is believed the object of his journey will be the choice of an Hungarian king.

The two dictators have been in close touch for several months, especially since the last league council meeting at Geneva.

The ostensible cause of the visit is a discussion on the question of a free port for Hungary on the Adriatic and a number of other commercial questions. The actual cause is a solution of Hungary's monarchial question, which the Little Entente's post-was political manoeuvers have placed for an absolute decision in the hands of Count Bethlen.

The general expectation is that Count Bethlem intends to place the Hapsburg Archduke Albrecht on the Hungary throne, with some Italian princess as queen, thus cementing the friendship between the two countries.

Egypt is working on a plan to learn the number of automobiles in that country.

To-day's Big Offer To Those Who Have Stomach Distress

Read What Jesse D. Holloway Has to Say About Dare's Mentha Pepsin.

When you have any trouble with your digestion, such as gas, heaviness and distention, why fool with things which at best can give only partial relief.

Why not get a medicine that is made to help strengthen your upset, disordered stomach so that it will do its work without artificial help.

Such a medicine is Dare's Mentha Pepsin, a delightful elixir that is sold by Jesse D. Holloway and all live druggists with the distinct understanding that if it doesn't greatly help you your money will be gladly returned.

It has helped thousands — it will no doubt help you.

No Smarting to This Liniment

Penetrates to the Bone

WHEN a liniment burns and smarts and almost blisters the skin, it usually means it contains some strong irritating substance. This isn't necessary. Just try that old Mexican Mustang Liniment once, and you will never be without it. You will marvel at its remarkable power to relieve pain without burning and blistering. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Feel it soak in and stop pain at once.

Hawaiian Serenaders Head Denny Film Bill at Ceramic

Pacific Song Bird and Seven Others Appear in Filmusical Novelty and Feature for Three Days.

The Mary Garden of the Pacific Isles is the sobriquet given by American tourists to the featured soloist with the Imperial Hawaiian Serenaders who play and sing the entire musical accompaniment to the super-travelogue "A Trip to the Hawaiian Islands" which will be featured in conjunction Reginald Denny in his first Universal super comedy at the Ceramic theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The Pacific song bird, one of eight serenaders, is said to possess a voice of magnificent range and rich timbre fully capable of coping with the demands of grand opera. Her singing in the filmusical presentation, "A Trip to the Hawaiian Islands," though limited to the simple but rythmic songs of her native land, has yet been able to captivate the most fastidious of musical critics with its unmistakable suggestion of exotic personality.

"A Trip to the Hawaiian Islands," in which the Ceramic theatre presents this musical phenomena to the music loving people of East Liverpool is said to be one of the most colorful combination stage and screen presentations ever offered to theatre-goers.

"Take It From Me," Denny's latest starring production, an unusually large cast, bristling with well-known names.

Blanche Mehaffey, who made such a hit in "His People," "A Woman of the World," and "The Runaway Express," plays the feminine lead. Jean Tolley, star of "The Uninvited Guest" and other productions, has a prominent role.

Lee Moran, former two-reel comedy star of the "Lyons and Moran" team, and Ben Hendricks, Jr., popular leading man, have roles almost as important as that of the star.

Ethel Wales, prominent character actress, Lucien Littlefield, featured in many big productions, Tom O'Brien of "Big Parade" fame, Vera Lewis, Frances Dale, Bertram Johns and others are also in the cast.

"Take It From Me" is a screen version of the New York musical comedy success of the same name, written by Will B. Johnstone and Will R. Anderson. Harvey Thew wrote the screen adaptation.

Says "Allenrhu" Greatest Rheumatic Medicine in the World

Hundreds of Bottles Being Sold, Declares Mathews Medicine Store Who Guarantees it and Are Dispensing it to Many Sufferers Here.

It does not matter whether you are disabled with cursed Rheumatism or have only occasional twinges "Allenrhu" will ease the agony, do away with the gnawing pains and often reduce the swollen joints.

Allenrhu is no laggard. It starts right in at once searching out the poisonous deposits and in two days starts to drive the concentrated impurities that often cause Rheumatism, out of the body thru the natural channels.

Allenrhu has been tried and tested for years and really marvelous results have been accomplished, often in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and piteous and where the sufferer was almost helpless.

"The blessed relief this marvelous preparation quickly gives has made for it thousands of friends," says Mathews Medicine Store.

NEWS FROM TOWNS IN TRI-STATE DISTRICT

Sebring

Rev. B. B. Uhl, new pastor of the Trinity Lutheran church was formally installed Sunday by the president of the synod of Ohio, Rev. O. K. Koler of Mansfield. Rev. Uhl was called to this field in December and began his work in January. The pastorate consists of two congregations, one at Sebring and the other, St. John's church in New Baltimore. Rev. Uhl come here from Frankfort, Ind. He is a native of Ohio and has filled pulpits on Columbus, Mansfield, Toledo and Xenia.

Sebring is to receive state aid in paving Ohio avenue, according to district highway Director C. F. Schlesinger. The improvement will consist of resurfacing the street through the entire city. Work on the plans is to be started at once.

The McKinley high school realized $104 on the art exhibit held at the high school building Thursday and Friday. A prize picture to be given to the room selling the most tickets for the display has been awarded to the sixth grade at the Lincoln building. This class is taught by Mrs. G. Y. Davis.

Grace Clunen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Clunen, West Georgia avenue had her tonsils removed Monday morning at Dr. Wild's private hospital. Dr. Floyd Stamp, assisted Dr. Wild in the operation.

Once more the pulpit of the United Presbyterian church has been declared vacant. A letter was read to the congregation Sunday in which Rev. A. L. Yarnell, Philadelphia, Pa., stated that he would not be able to come here as he had planned. Rev. George Seville of Newburgh, N. Y. preached a trial sermon.

Because of a break in the heating system at the Methodist church, no services were held there Sunday. Instead the services were in the auditorium of the McKinley high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Marshall and children of Limaville, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Watson.

Mrs. Bessie Torbert, Kansas City, Mo., is visiting her sister, Mrs. M. Crosgrove, West Georgia avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Sutherin, West Maryland avenue, visited Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Meek, at McDonald, Sunday.

More than 200 delegates from 13 cities attended the Pythian Sisters district convention at the K. of P. hall Wednesday afternoon and evening. Salem, Columbiana, Rodgers, Washingtonville, Leetonia, Somerset, Toronto, East Liverpool, Irondale, Salineville, Empire, Lisbon and East Palestine sent delegates to the district session. The afternoon session was devoted to business. In the evening Salem and Sebring staged drill work.

Newly elected officers for the degree team of the Holly Rebekah lodge were installed at a meeting Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Lula Hurdall, West Georgia avenue. The next meting will be with Mrs. Mary Eams, 13th street.

Thomas Marshall, said to be from Follansbee, W. Va., and Harold Fullerton, of Sebring, were fined by Mayor Harmon Thursday evening as the result of breaking a display window in the Isner barber shop, North Fifteenth street.

Marshall was released on condition that he pay the cost of the broken window, installing it, and the costs of the case. The bill presented amounted to $100.20. Fullerton was assessed a fine of $18 and costs. He will work out the fine on the streets.

Success crowned the efforts of McKinley high school in presenting an art exhibit in the high school Thursday evening. More than 200 people attended the first night of the display. At the close of the musical program the seniors became guides and took the visitors through the various rooms where the pictures were displayed. Each senior had a group of people to conduct.

Miss Betty Boyd, West Oregon avenue entertained girls of the E. H. Sebring China company office at her home Thursday evening. A four course dinner was served by Mrs. Boyd, mother of Miss Boyd, assisted by Mrs. John Allen. The evening was spent in playing 500 and dancing. The next meting will be in one month at the home of Miss Naomi Carlin, of Damascus.

Rev. and Mrs. L. E. Carr, West Indiana avenue, entertained Mr. and Mrs Lee Mack of Sebring to dinner Thursday evening.

Harsh Physics, Calomel, Salts and Purgatives Soon Lose Effect.

Here is a pleasant, harmless laxative, system cleanser, stomach tonic and bowel regulator which everyone troubled with constipation, especially chronic obstinate cases, should try.

"VINCO" is a chocolate coated tablet made of Herbs, Roots and Barks (no dope). Does not gripe or sicken. Your druggist will refund money if you do not get relief from the first 25c box.

Lay aside nasty salts, dangerous calomel and harsh physics. Use only "VINCO" to regulate the bowels. Do a kindness by telling others about "VINCO." They, too, will appreciate the difference between harsh physics and gentle, harmless "VINCO."

Don't Envy Robust Health

Get It Yourself Through Scientific Stimulation.

Food is the sole source of life, of health, of vitality. A robust physique, tireless energy, the full enjoyment of every hour of living depend on the proper assimilation by your system of the foods you put into your stomach.

If the mouth, stomach and other vital glands are not doing their duty, you cannot achieve good health. You are bound to be "run down," nervous, tired all the time.

A remarkable stimulant-tonic has been devised for just such conditions as these. It is delightfully palatable and is prepared by an old Virginia concern in business for nearly a century. Druggists and physicians have come to know this stimulant as "Old Monticello Tonic." Get a bottle today from your druggist, take a small wineglass full before your next meal—see how much better you eat—feel the glow of stimulated functions throughout the body. A few days' treatment will bring a quick change in run-down conditions and overcome lack of energy.

Woman of Forty Victim of Constipation

Mrs. Fannie White of Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"Almost every morning, for the last five years I suffered with sick headaches. I felt this was due to nervousness, never dreaming that faulty intestinal elimination caused my suffering. I felt wretched, my appetite was gone, I lost interest in preparing my meals, life was not worth living. A few days' treatment of Carter's Little Liver Pills worked wonders. They are griping—and leave pleasant after effects." For sale at small, easy to take—no all druggists.

IS THERE NO RELIEF FROM SKIN TORTURE?

Must I Continue to Suffer the Unbearable Itching?

Are you one of those unfortunates who are going through life suffering with a skin disease, making you uncomfortable, making you less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep? You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S.S.S.? For more than 100 years it has been giving relief in many forms of skin disease. Thousands of letters of gratitude prove its worth.

"I feel so happy for what S.S.S. has done for me that I want others to know about it. I suffered twenty long years from eczema. At times the itching was unbearable. During that time, I used all kinds of salves without receiving any real benefit. After taking six bottles of S.S.S. I was cured of this dreadful disease I recommend S.S.S. to anyone suffering from eczema, because I cannot praise it enough for what it has done for me." Cleophas Forte, Soldiers and Sailors Home, Quincy, Ill.

S.S.S. is purely vegetable. It is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

CAN YOU EAT WHAT YOU LIKE FOR SUPPER?

This Simple Remedy Makes You Master of Your Digestion

ARE you master of your digestion, or its slave? Does a heavy supper set you dreaming at night and aching in the morning? That tightness across the chest when you get up—that stabbing pain just under your heart—that discomfort in your stomach—these mean your stomach needs help.

Dillingham's Plant Juice is made expressly for just such people as you. It's a scientific compound of those plants and roots and herbs that Nature has provided for the relief of your pains. Mr. Walter Jolly of 19 St. Helena Rd., Wilmington, Del., says:

"What little I used to eat caused me untold distress, and I suffered from gas for hours after meals. I felt dull and listless, tired easily, and got so nervous that it would be hours before I could get any sleep nights. All told I took six bottles of Plant Juice and it sure did me a world of good. Today my appetite is worth bragging about, my stomach never gives me the least bit of trouble, my nerves are steady, and I sleep like a top.

Get a bottle of Plant Juice today, give it a fair trial and see how much better you feel—you'll want the good work to go on! And its taste is so pleasant, too.

Ask your druggist for the original Dillingham's Plant Juice, for over thirty years a standard remedy for indigestion.

Elks Defeat Damascus In Initial Battle of Title Series

500 TICKETS TO BE SOLD FOR E. L. H. S.---WELLSVILLE CONTEST

DISTRIBUTION PLAN PREPARED FOR CAGE TILT

Prices Unchanged for Clash Billed Feb. 15.

ARRANGEMENTS were announced today by Faculty Manager Robert Trumbull, of Wellsville high school, for the distribution of tickets for the East Liverpool-Wellsville basketball game at Wellsville on February 15.

East Liverpool high school will receive a total of 125 tickets for the game, Wellsville retaining 375, inasmuch as the contest will be played on the Orange court. A somewhat similar plan will be in effect when the two quints battle in a return clash here later in the season, with the local school keeping the larger portion of the pasteboards.

Seventy-five tickets have been allotted for E. L. H. Students, and 50 to the general public. Faculty Manager Decker of the local high school, today announced he was awaiting receipt of the ticket consignment from Wellsville before announcing a plan of distribution of the 50 ducats. Probably a "first come, first served" policy will be placed in effect.

Total number of tickets to the game has been limited to 500.

Manager Trumbull, of Wellsville, today made the following announcement:

"The management has made an apportionment of the tickets and can give definite information regarding the sale. The price of all tickets for this game will be the same as for any other on the schedule. There will be a maximum of 500 tickets sold and these will be divided as follows: East Liverpool 125, Wellsville 375. Those for East Liverpool are divided as follows: Reserved seats, 45; general admission 5, students 75, and will be in the hands of Faculty Manager Decker.

"The Wellsville tickets are divided as follows: Reserved seats 78; general admission 87; students 210. The student tickets here will be sold through the high school. The local (Wellsville) allotment of reserved seats and general will be sold by the following plan. Each player on both the girls' and the boys' squads has a right to order two seats for their parents or friends before any other orders will be filled. Also each member of the high school faculty may buy one reserved seat after the squads' quota has been filled. Then the sale will open for the general public and will be filled as they are received. The orders may be sent by mail or by a student but in every case must be accompanied by the money or a certified check.

"Orders with money will be given preference over those without regardless of when they are received. When you are asking for a reserved seat ticket please signify whether or not you will accept a general admission ticket in its place should the supply be exhausted when your order is opened. Orders will be received any time but the filling of them will not begin until next Monday. Address all orders to the faculty manager of the high school.

MORRIS, OLIVER PLAY TONIGHT

C. Morris and E. Oliver will match cue skill in tonight's pocket billiard match at the Diamond parlors, the contests marking the start of the second round.

In week-end engagements, McDowell defeated Johnson, 75 to 24; Reney defeated White, 75 to 29, and Moore won from Daher, 75 to 52.

SMALLY WINNER IN ACADEMY TILT

Smally won from Miller by a three-point margin in last night's three cushion match at the Academy, the tally being 25-22.

Schenkel and Walker, and Bergner and White will play tonight.

SAINER, HANNA LAND CONTESTS

"HAIR-GROOM"

Keeps Hair Combed, Glossy, Well-Groomed all Day

"Hair-Groom" is a dignified combing cream which costs only a few cents a jar at any drug store. Millions use it because it gives that natural gloss and well-groomed effect to the hair—that final touch to good dress both in business and on social occasions. Even stubborn, unruly or shampooed hair stays combed all day in any style you like. "Hair-Groom" is greaseless; also helps grow thick, heavy, lustrous hair.

MARY K. BROWNE BETTER THAN WILLS, SAYS SUE

Has Shown Great Improvement During 'Pro' Trip.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2. — There are two really great women tennis players in the world and the other one is Mary K. Browne, if the writer is to be relied upon to judge the purport of a statement given him today by Suzanne Lenglen. The above idea can be construed as a somewhat free translation of what the lady actually did say but, like a shoulder to a shoulder, it serves the purpose.

She said, in just so many words, that she thought Mary Browne was a better tennis player today than Helen Wills. To give Suzanne her due, she didn't even mention herself in this connection, she didn't have to. Every one knows the lady is good. She may ever suspect it herself.

However, it had been understood that every one considered Miss Wills as the unofficial runner-up in world ranking, amateur and professional, but it seems not. There is a minority opinion and it appears to consist of Suzanne Lenglen.

Shows Great Improvement.

'From facing Miss Wills at Cannes and Mary Browne in our series of professional exhibitions, I would be inclined to favor Miss Browne to win," Suzanne declared without hesitation. "Mary's improvement during the trip has been marvelous. Her backhand once was weak; now, it is strong, oh, so strong.

'Her strokes are ever so much more severe, her service has become stronger and her court strategy is improved immeasurably. I never know what to expect from her next. If Miss Browne and Miss Wills were to meet today, I think I would favor Mary as the winner. I think she is the superior of Miss McKane, too."

Mrs. Mallory? But, wait. Give the lady time. Ah, oui. She seems to remember having heard that name somewhere. Perhaps, in time, she will recall the circumstance. Evidently Suzanne's estimation of Mrs. Mallory's ability hasn't been altered since the last time they met, which is believed to have been too soon for their mutual taste.

Probably they haven't been separated by a sufficient number of miles during recent months but Suzanne hasn't permitted that fact to spoil her evening, so to speak. She says she "adores" America and would be content to stay here indefinitely if her father was with her. This was one of her many observations during the interview.

Other Tours in View.

Another was that California is "priceless" and a third contained the information that she had received invitations to put her "act" on in Germany, Denmark, Czechoslovakia, India, Japan, Australia and South America. She intimated that she would accept all and sundry at her leisure.

She didn't say so but her words gave the impression that Clink Clank Pyle would turn up absent at the pay off if this tour is carried through. It may be suspected that Suzanne has discovered just what makes the managerial wheels go around and it is definitely known that her contract with the big sort and pile man soon will expire.

Her further observations were to the effect that she would return to American very soon, perhaps next year on her way to Japan; that she would not give an exhibition in London as a counter attraction to Wimbledon, as some crafty mind had it; that she will sail for home regretfully on or about February 20, and that professional tennis is much to be preferred from her standpoint to the amateur game, since its demands were much less exacting.

LAUGHLINS SET FOR CAGE CLASH

Laughlin Independents will endeavor to obtain revenge for the 36-34 defeat handed them by the Power Class five several weeks ago when the two teams meet Thursday night on the high school court here.

The Independents have been working out regularly and are in good condition. They will meet at Heimie's at 7:45 p. m. Thursday night.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

When the ball is to be pitched so that after it flies upward and through the air it will strike the green and stop, the stroke differs mechanically in one major aspect from the stroke used for a run-up approach. It differs in that for the pitch the player must bring his wrists greatly into play. In the run-up the wrists do practically nothing. The arms stay rather straight and the clubhead literally scrapes the ball away, the clubhead, in this scraping action imparting an overspin, or roll, energy to the ball. In the back-spin approach you want the spin on the ball to be the other way; that is, the ball should be made to spin toward you as it flies. To accomplish that you use the wrists greatly, throwing the clubhead wholly with the wrists a good deal as you would crack a whip using both hands. The main thing is — throw the clubhead clear through the ball.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

By Norman E. Brown.

THIS is the age of specialization in everything — including sports. John McGraw and Jack Bentley have come to a mutual agreement on the subject, which definitely establishes the fact, if it was not accepted before.

McGraw has been a specialist for some years—specializing on managing the Giants and owning interests in race tracks. But "up to yet" Bentley, has been an all around sort of person, physically and by vocation.

He has been, at various times, a left-handed pitcher, a mediocre first baseman, a tenor singer, carnival king, and pinch hitter. He has filled all of the roles, with the exception of the first base one, in fair fashion. His first basing was nothing to write home about.

But this coming season he is going to be a pitcher. Still a left-hander but a pitcher only. He has been so informed by the Giant leader.

Bentley joined the Giants in 1923 from the Baltimore Orioles, where he had won a rep as a pitcher and slugger. McGraw proceeded to take advantage of both assets.

The spring of 1925 found him with the rest of the Giant squad at Sarasota, Fla. Jack was looking for a thrill and the town fathers were looking for a handsome male being to play the part of King Lobo or something in their city pageant. Bentley was asked to fill the bill—and the trick suit that went along with it.

The ride through the crowded streets that day must have been too much. For Jack failed to get going that year. Won 11 games all told and while his pinch hitting was o. k. his all around value to the club wasn't enough to give him an argument for another year's salary. So the Giants traded him to the Phillies.

Having plenty of lefthanded pitchers and tenor singers Art Fletcher sent Jack to first base. Before the season ended McGraw regained Bentley's services—silver tones, soup bone et al.

Down Quakers, 29-22 After Belated Rally; Play Here Tomorrow

Championship Opponents to Meet Thursday Night on High School Court Here in Second Engagement.

Coach Bill Powell's Elks today were county wide favorites for the first half championship of the greatest amateur cage circuit that has ever trod the hardwood in eastern Ohio as a result of their brilliant triumph last night at Damascus, the Quakers bending the knee before a 29 to 22 reversal.

The two title chasers will battle again in the second clash of the series tomorrow night at the high school gymnasium here and if Manager Ray Adam doesn't pack 'em in, it'll be the strangest thing since George Washington told the one about the cherry tree.

With Forward Tommy Pusey idle as a result of an injured foot the Antlers went out on the new Damascus high school court last night and pulled a victory out of what seemed almost like a certain defeat for the greater part of three quarters. The Quakers took the pole lane down the first stretch and were away out in front at the first quarter post. They were still stretching their legs at the half-way mark, but down through the third stretch, the tips of the Elks' antlers came showing through the dust of the race, looming larger and larger. The Quaker entry in desperation saw its rival pull up, nose to nose, and then slowly, but certainly head into the lead as they settled into the concluding lap. Approximately 600 people, a hundred or more from the Pottery City, saw the Antlers come down that long, last quarter and whisk across the finish line in a sensational winning spurt.

In other words, the rival claimants for first half honors, boasted a 9 to 2 lead when the two teams finished hostilities in the inaugural period. The Elks were unable to advance their passes sufficiently close to the hoop to make their shots effective, but outscored the Quakers in the second period. Once under way their attack was more potent than the Damascus offensive and the half finished with the count 16 to 14.

Damascus had scored seven counters in the second period with the Elks piling up 12.

The fate of the Elks in the first quarter was alloted to the Quakers in the third. They got just two points after Coach "Bill" had sicked "Chuck" McConville and Smith Anderson on Kyser and Nigal who, apparently, had been designated to do the scoring. The local defense veterans closed around the Quaker marksmen like clams in the entire last half and as a result, Damascus scoring was easy to count—two field goals and two fouls. The two field goals came in the third period and after that there were no more.

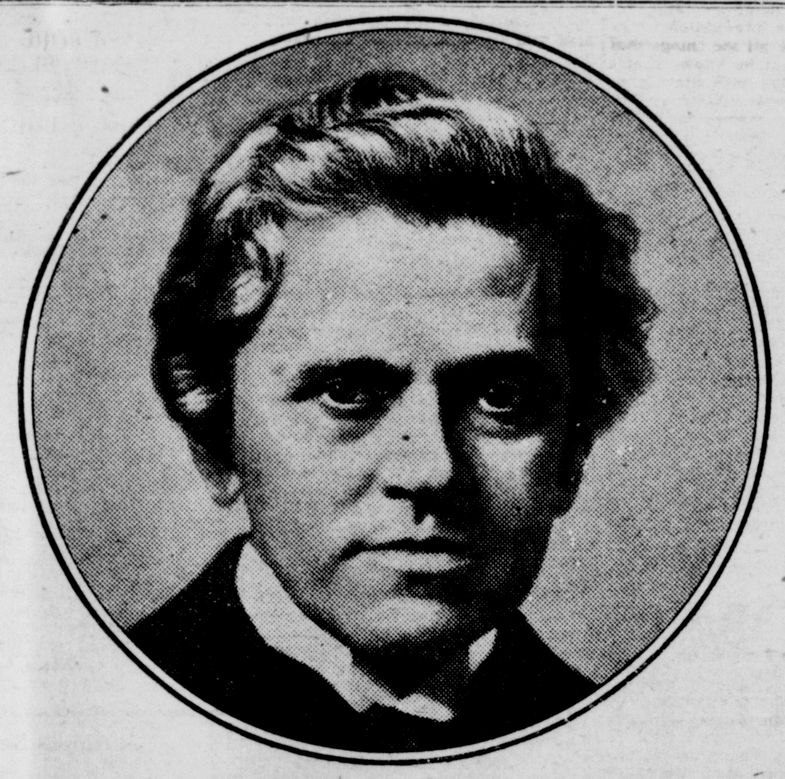

The floor work of Forward Wilson was spectacular and effective at once. He dropped in four field goals while playing hide and seek with Damascus guards. Center Wilde eluded Oesch to place three of the two point variety and the latter was so busy following the former Geneva star that he had time for only one field goal himself.

Smith Anderson also found time to join in the scoring party, coming up the court for three field goals and Joe Canne, who replaced Kenneth Clark at forward in the second half, got through the opposition for two buckets.

"Among other things, when young actors come to me for advice, I always say, 'Take care of your voice, cultivate it—and watch your smoking.' Usually they eye the cigarette in my hand with some suspicion. And then, I offer them a Lucky Strike—a cigarette I smoke freely, and have yet to feel the slightest effect on my throat. I've been told that toasting does that for this cigarette. When I smoke 'Luckies' my throat is beautifully clear and unirritated."

MAE MURRAY COINS WORD

Language Lacking in One Respect, Star Says.

Mae Murray, petite screen star, has added a new word to the English language.

The Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer star, who looks as if she should think of nothing more serious than what gown she is going to wear with what shoes, is really one of the cleverest women in the motion picture or any other business, and during the production of "Altars of Desire," now playing at the American theatre, discovered that the language was sadly lacking in one respect.

Someone on the set mentioned a certain scene that was being taken with regard to its "audience angle."

It suddenly occurred to Mae that "audience" is no word to use in connection with a group of people viewing a motion picture, for Webster defines "audience" as being "a group of listeners or hearers."

"'Audience' is taken from the Latin, audire, meaning to hear," says Miss Murray, "so why not follow the precedent and by using the Latin word videre, to see, the natural English derivation would be 'vidience.'"

If you are a real movie fan you will never mention a "motion picture audience" again, for you will not be in style and you will be essentially wrong. "Vidience," of course, is but a suggestion, and if anyone has a better one, Miss Murray is willing to hear it.

Conway Tearle has the featured male lead opposite Miss Murray in "Altars of Desire," which was directed by Christy Cabanne. The cast includes Maude George, Robert Edeson and Andre Beranger.

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

When in doubt—ask Haskin. He offers himself as a target for the questions of our readers. He agrees to furnish facts for all who ask. This is a large contract—one that has never been filled before. It would be possible only in Washington, and only to one who has spent al lifetime in locating sources of information. Haskin does not know all the things that people ask him, but he knows people who do know. Try him. State your question briefly, write plainly, and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. Address Frederic J. Haskin, Director, the East Liverpool Review-Tribune Information Bureau, Washington, D. C.

Q. Can you tell me how much waste there would be in a 15 pound turkey? F. B.

A. The weight of a fowl after the head, feet, bones and inedible entrails have been removed is from 15 to 20 per cent less.

Q. Will you please inform me where I can get full instructions how to salt peanuts in the shell. R. W. W.

A. Salting peanuts in the shell is done quite extensively in the tropics. The peanuts are boiled in the salt liquid and then allowed to dry, after which they are roasted. No special equipment is required in this process.

Q. What will color kerosene oil red? J. Y.

A. Oil Red O, which is used to color gasoline can also be used in kerosene.

Q. How do you account for the fact that Chancellor Bismarck has ofttimes been addressed as Prince Bismarck? L. W. P.

A. Bismarck was entitled to the title Prince. He was created Prince in 1871 after the consolidation of the German Empire.

Q. Are big game animals on the increase in the United States? F. C. H.

A. Big game on the reservations administered by the Biological Survey have notably increased during the last ten years, with the exception of antelopes. Better control has been initiated and these are again increasing. The total number of big game animals on these reservations at this time is about 1,530.

Q. Who rang the Liberty Bell at the signing of the Declaration of Independence? H. J. L.

A. Andrew McNair rang the Liberty Bell upon the occasion of the celebration of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

Q. What is the amount of business done by cooperatives in the United States? R. K.

A. It has recently been stated that a rough estimate of the total business handled by cooperatives in the ten leading states from 1915 to 1925 is $9,000,000,000. The business transacted by the California cooperatives amounted to $1,700,000,000, the Minnesota cooperatives slightly more than $1,400,000,00, and the Iowa associations a trifle less than that amount.

Q. Will you kindly advise the total number drowned on the "Otranto" in the North Sea. Was the loss greater than the Tuscania? H. B.

A. Four hundred and thirty-one lives were lost in the wreck of the Steamship Otranto. Three hundred and sixty-six of these were American soldiers. The loss of life on the Tuscania was 213.

Q. When was the R. F. D. system installed by the Post Office? B. D.

A. In 1863 Postmaster-General Blair introduced free delivery system, beginning the practice in cities of 50,000 population. The rural free delivery service was established under President McKinley in 1897. In 1896, the experiment in rural free delivery was started with three routes in West Virginia.

Q. In what years were the leg of mutton sleeves worn? B. G.

A. Leg of mutton sleeves were worn about 1895.

Q. Do more men or women come to this country as immigrants? L. D.

A. The number of men is much higher. Between 60 and 70 out of each hundred people coming to this country to make their homes are men. Even a higher percentage is found in the numbers of emigrants from this country to foreign lands.

Q. Who was the first negro to receive a presidential appointment? R. S. S.

A. The first negro to be appointed to a federal office, according to the Negro Year Book, was Ebenezer Don Carlos Bassett, who was appointed minister resident and consul general of the United States to Haiti by President Grant in 1869 and served until 1871.

UNITED STATES PLEASES CHINA AGAIN IN STATEMENT OF POLICY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Europe has studied the Chinese problem for centuries. The United States tackled it only the other day. Yet Europe admittedly is as far from having solved it as ever. The United States seems to read the answer like a book.

Latin American republics consider the United States dangerously big and powerful to be so near by.

It suits old world diplomacy's book that the United States should be the least liked, by the other republics of the now one, of all the powers on earth.

It's a fact and it helps old world trade.

The old world's representatives on the Potomac don't talk about it for publication, naturally, but they know it and are glad of it, too.

What stumps them, however, is to make out why Washington so persistently rubs Latin America's fur the wrong way. They'd set it down to pure Yankee tactlessness. Only, if the Yankee's congenitally so crass, how does it happen that he's so popular with the Chinese?

He is.

All accounts agree that the Chinese anti-foreign agitator makes an exception in favor of Americans.

That is, he does if he knows enough to tell Americans and other "foreign devils" apart. The average coolie doesn't but, as soon as he gets education enough to sort foreigners out he's "anti" to most of them, but pro-American.

Of late he's been inclined to include Russians and Germans in the classification he considers friendly. That's because they've been nice to him since the war. But he looked on Americans as his friends long long before that, and does yet.

It isn't that the individual American in China is any more considerate than the average Englishman or Frenchman or anybody else. He's just as apt to be over-bearing as the next man.

It's Washington's friendly general policy that the Chinese seem to recognize, which is funny, considering how intangible a governmental policy is.

All the same, it's there. It's as noticeable under Secretary of State Kellogg, who's as-rough as a nutmeg grater with Mexico, as it was under Secretary of State John Hay, China's traditional American stand-by.

If we land marines in Nicaragua, it's imperialistic. If we land 'em in China, it's well meant. That's the way the Nicaraguans interpret it— and the Chinese.

The diplomatic corps can't figure it out, to save their lives.

Don't Let a Cough or Cold "Go Down"

If you let a cough get down into your bronchial tubes or lungs, it stops being merely a nuisance and becomes a real danger.

A "head cold" is only a bother while it stays in your head. But once it gets down into the danger zone, serious trouble threatens.

Act promptly to check the cough; to keep the head cold from "going down." Sure and lasting relief is as near as the nearest drug store.

Quickly and unfailingly Ayer's Cherry Pectoral goes straight to the seat of danger. Real medicine, reaching deep with its soothing, healing power, penetrating through and through the irritated membranes of your throat and bronchial tubes.

If you are catching cold; if you have a "head cold"; if your chest is tight; if you have a cough — even if bronchitis has developed — Ayer's Cherry Pectoral at once! Keep your cold from going down into the danger zone.

Cherry Pectoral is pleasant, safe and dependable — for children and grown people. At all druggists—60c; twice as much, $1.00. 1b26
